Claim Large Areas Held by Yanks

LONDON, June 6 (AP)—Moscow newspapers published maps today indicating that Russia would occupy approximately half of Germany on a line running well west of Berlin and including large areas now in American and British hands, the soviet radio announced.

A British foreign office spokesman said the American, British, and French occupation zones were "under discussion" by the European advisory council, but there was no indication when their boundaries would be decided upon.

The zone of Russian occupation, as outlined by the Moscow maps, would take in the cities of Leipzig, Gotha, and Erfurt and all of Thuringia province in central Germany now held by American forces. At its farthest western bulge in Thuringia the Russian zone would reach within 60 miles northwest of Gen. Eisenhower's present headquarters at Frankfurt on the Main.

Anxiety in London

The Russian zone delineation, which was not authenticated by the Americans or British, came after the first meeting of the four power allied control council in Berlin yesterday, which issued a declaration reducing Germany to the status of a beaten, prisoner nation.

There was some anxiety in London over the report by a correspondent of the combined American press that the session "ended abruptly" when the American, British, and French representatives learned that the Russian delegate, Marshal Zhukov, was not empowered to do any more than sign the declaration of supreme allied authority.

Gen. Eisenhower and Field Marshal Montgomery, the British representative, flew back to their headquarters immediately after the meeting, and the London Star reported without confirmation that Montgomery was flying to London "for important consultations on the future of Germany."

Many Details Unsettled

At any rate, the first brief meeting in Berlin left unsettled many details concerning the organization of the allied control council and how it will govern the Germans.

It was announced in the house of commons that allied military missions had taken up posts in Russian held Vienna, and there were indications the Big Four was running into some snags on the question of administering Austria. A spokesman for the British foreign office admitted it would be "some time" before a control commission could be set up in Austria, which the allies stripped from Germany in yesterday's rigid declaration.

The Russian news agency Tass said Greater Berlin was to be divided into four occupation zones. Yesterday's allied declaration, on the other hand, spoke only of one "Greater Berlin area," which would be commanded in rotation by the four representatives on the control council.

In its description of the entire Russian zone of occupation, Tass

2 State Dept. Men Among 6 Held by FBI

(Pictures on page 6)

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 6—Five men and a woman, including two state department employes and a naval reserve officer, have been arrested on charges of conspiring to violate federal espionage laws thru the theft of "highly confidential" documents, the department of justice announced tonight. Agents of the federal bureau of investigation made three of the arrests in Washington and the others in New York.

Those in custody in Washington are Lt. Andrew Roth, 26, formerly assigned to the office of naval intelligence; Emmanuel S. Larsen, 47, specialist in the China division of the state department's office of far eastern affairs, and John S. Service, 35, foreign service officer of the state department, recently stationed in China.

Magazine Editors Held

The two men and the woman seized in New York are Philip J. Jaffe, 48, and Miss Kate Louise Mitchell, 37, co-editors of the magazine Amerasia, and Mark J. Gayn, listed also as Ginsbourg, 37, a nationally known free lance writer.

The FBI said that information from the stolen documents was printed in the magazine edited by Jaffe and Miss Mitchell, and that Gayn used some of the material in his articles.

An FBI spokesman said the three held here still were being questioned and were not available for comment to newspapermen tonight. What the FBI believes to have been their motive in their alleged actions was not disclosed, nor was any information given as to the subject matter involved, except that it was secret.

The FBI said that the documents recovered following the arrests earlier this evening include originals and copies of papers from the state, war, and navy departments, the office of strategic services, the office of war information and the federal communications commission.

Magazine Started in 1937

The arrests ended two and one-half months of intensive FBI investigation, the agency said. This investigation disclosed that data removed from confidential government files usually was turned over to Jaffe at meetings in Washington and New York, the FBI reported. The magazine, which has its offices in New York, was established in 1937 with the announced purpose of promoting the study of Pacific affairs.

Those in custody in New York were taken before a United States commissioner and held on $10,000 bail each for a hearing June 20. The statutes which they are accused of conspiring to violate cover unauthorized possession or transmittal of national defense data. The maximum penalty is two years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Departments Had Asked Probe

Director Hoover of the FBI said that the investigation was begun at the request of the state and navy departments.

Service, Gayn, Larsen, and Miss Mitchell have extensive backgrounds of work and travel in China and the orient. Lt. Roth, who is not on active duty at present, has studied the Chinese and Japanese languages and before entering the navy in 1941 was a research associate for Amerasia. Jaffe, a native of Russia and a naturalized American citizen, also is president of a printing firm and has been active in far eastern affairs organizations.

Stoll Kidnaper Escapes Chair

Thomas H. Robinson Jr.

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP)—President Truman today commuted the sentence of Thomas H. Robinson Jr., convicted kidnaper of a Louisville, Ky., society matron, from death in the electric chair to life imprisonment.

The justice department said the President acted on the recommendation of Atty. Gen. Biddle, who previously recommended no clemency.

Robinson, whose sentence was upheld March 5 by the United States Supreme court, was awaiting death early next Friday in the Kentucky state penitentiary. He was charged with abducting Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll for $50,000 ransom in 1934.

Mrs. Stoll was released after six days. Robinson pleaded guilty in 1936 and was given life.

Then he started a court fight, had his case reopened and a federal court in 1943 held his guilty plea invalid for lack of counsel. He was then tried and sentenced to death.

He will be returned to Alcatraz prison immediately, the justice department said.

CLEANING UP THE PESTS IN THE VICTORY GARDEN

Bare Widow's $200,000 Gifts in N. Y. Killing

New York, June 6 [Special]—The elderly, red haired widow of slain Albert E. Langford kept $100,000 in jewels in a dresser drawer, was accustomed to losing as much as $1,500 a week to chance acquaintances in bridge and gin rummy games, and kept an account book listing benefactions of about $200,000 to musical proteges.

Albert E. Langford

Police disclosed these facts today as they persisted in efforts to learn the identities of two men whom Mrs. Langford says called at their Park avenue suite Monday night and shot her husband when he refused their demand for admittance.

Jacob Grumet, assistant district attorney in charge of the prosecutor's homicide division, said the widow, 70, is being "very helpful," altho she says she did not catch a glimpse of the visitors, believes them to be strangers, and heard no shot. She was in a bedroom adjacent to the hallway in which Langford met death.

May Have Been Thieves

One phase of the investigation, it was learned, is based on the theory that the visitors may have been amateur extortionists or jewel thieves who became panicky and fired when Langford resisted their efforts to enter the apartment.

Reports that Mrs. Langford was an inveterate gambler and persistent loser were inquired into by police. She gambled heavily at a number of clubs, it was said, and when police raids closed most of these places organized small, friendly games in her own apartment.

Police reasoned that some gaming acquaintances, noting her carelessness with jewels and lavishness with money, may have planned to rob her. They were also giving attention to a theory that the slayers may have been disgruntled recipients of bounty she was accustomed to pass out in her widely known role as a patroness of musical arts.

Gifts to $15,000

An account book found in her apartment, it was learned, contained the names of more than 200 individuals and organizations with sums of money set opposite each name. These sums ran from $5 to as much as $15,000, it was said. Some names appeared several times.

Police said the largest total to one person was $16,500 to Reed Lawton, a tenor whose musical career had been backed by Mrs. Langford on various occasions. Lawton was found in Chicago today and said he had known Mrs. Langford for 15 years and had received sums from her as loans.

Lawton said he had repaid some but not all of the money he had borrowed from Mrs. Langford. He said he hoped to come to New York tomorrow to tell his story.

Mrs. Langford is a daughter of Joseph Bell Mayer, 96, retired public utility magnate, who has an apartment in the same Park av. hotel in which the Langfords lived.

BILL WOULD REQUIRE BALL CLUBS TO HIRE LIMBLESS VETERANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 6—A bill requiring major league baseball clubs to have 10 per cent of its roster of players composed of men who have lost at least one leg, arm, hand, or foot was introduced in the senate today by Sen. Langer [R., N. D.]. The measure would take effect next year.

In introducing it, Langer said it was of "vital interest" to disabled war veterans and would stimulate baseball because "thousands of disabled veterans who otherwise would not attend would go to see their comrades play."

Langer said several disabled veterans already are playing baseball. He said that unless congress took action these men would be relegated to the minor leagues after the war.

Congress has a right to regulate baseball, Langer said, because it is interstate commerce. His bill proposed a $1,000 fine, a year in jail, or both, for violation of its provisions.

75 New Buses, First of 110, Due June 15

Seventy-five new buses which are scheduled to be placed in operation in Chicago within a few weeks are expected to be delivered to the Chicago Motor Coach company on June 15. The vehicles were ordered three years ago, but federal agencies held up priorities for their manufacture until recently.

Officials of the coach company inspected the buses yesterday at Pontiac, Mich., where they were built by the General Motors truck and coach division.

New Rider Comfort Features

The buses are of the streamlined, 45 passenger, single deck type. They are powered by six cylinder diesel engines and represent the latest developments in fast, comfortable city transportation, said Benjamin Weintraub, company president.

Among their features are hydraulic transmission, improved lighting, mohair seats, forced ventilation, easier springing, and other betterments required by the Illinois commerce commission, all adding up to increased rider comfort, Weintraub said.

Painting to Be Done Here

The coach company has ordered 35 more buses, to be delivered late in 1945. When all arrive the company will have 573 in service. Some of its older buses that have continued in use during war time, however, will be retired or used as "standbys" for transportation emergencies.

The new buses are to be painted here. The company said this will hasten getting them into operation.

Train Rider's Rewarded; He Gets Another Trip

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 6 (AP)—Sgt. Robert W. Anderson of Walden, Colo., was awarded a prize for his record as a military policeman. He had chalked up a total of 310,000 miles—an average of 465 miles of train travel daily since Jan. 30, 1943. The prize—a train trip to Washington, D. C.

RESISTANCE STIFFENS ON OKINAWA; 2 NEW YANK LANDINGS IN PHILIPPINES

MacArthur Troops' Assault Seals Off Davao Gulf

MANILA, P. I., June 7 [Thursday]—(AP)—Eighth army troops, completely sealing off Davao gulf, one-time Japanese stronghold in the Philippines, landed with warship and air support on Tuesday at Cape San Augustin, southeasternmost tip of Mindanao, and on Balut Island.

Cape San Augustin is the tip of the Davao province peninsula. Balut Island is at the entrance to Sarangani bay, immediately west of Davao gulf. The landings were supported by destroyer guns and aircraft of the 13th and marine air forces.

Gen. MacArthur's bulletin said the Yanks who landed on Balut Island destroyed enemy radio stations and supply dumps. Associated Press Correspondent Richard Bergholz said the landing was made against negligible opposition.

Cut Off More Japs

The landings, closely following one at Luayon, 75 miles south of Davao city, last Friday, served further to sever the remaining Japanese in the southeastern corner of Mindanao, second largest island in the archipelago.

At the top of Davao gulf, 24th division infantrymen fighting north and west of captured Davao city straightened their lines and started a crusher attack against stubborn resistance north of Ula on the Talomo-Kibawe trail. The 24th reached Wangan village, north of captured Tagakpan. In no sector was resistance heavy.

The 37th infantry division, destroying a number of Japanese tanks, smashed two and one-half miles beyond captured Aritao on Tuesday in their drive toward northern Luzon's extensive Cagayan valley.

MacArthur's bulletin reported "decreasing resistance" on the mountainous No. 5 highway approach to the valley, last major enemy holding in the Philippines.

Air Raids Over Wide Range

Attack bombers supporting ground operations dropped 354 tons of explosives. American P-T boats shelled Japanese beach positions on the northern coast.

Heavy bombers dropped 137 tons of explosives on Formosa, concentrating on railway yards at Takao. Fighters strafed Formosan coastal targets.

Patrol bombers ranging the China sea sank a large cargo ship at night at the mouth of the Yangtze river, and bombed the Shanghai and Canton areas.

Bombers dropped 180 tons on airdromes and coastal towns of Borneo. Three oil tanks were blown up at Balikpapan.

A large Japanese escort vessel took a direct hit off western Java. Heavy bombers extended the radius of attacks to take in Batavia on western Java. The Batavia seaplane base was hit.

MacArthur reported that Australian troops had killed an additional 1,184 Japanese in operations on New Guinea, Bougainville, and New Britain.

Frustrate Japs on Timor

San Francisco, Cal., June 6 (AP)—A recent attempt of the Japanese to concentrate aircraft on Timor, within 400 miles of Australia, was "shattered," Melbourne radio said today, quoting an Australian department of air announcement. Timor is the southeasternmost of the Dutch East Indies. It has been in Japanese hands since early in 1942.

That Wasn't Jap Balloon —That Was Just Venus

Phoenix, Ariz., June 6 (AP)—The Luke field operations office sent up a plane with instructions to destroy a strange round white object which many observers reported was drifting in an easterly direction at a high altitude. The mission failed. Phoenix Junior college reported the object was Venus, in phase with the moon and clearly visible to the naked eye.

NAVY TO RUSH MORE DETAILS TO NEXT OF KIN

MAPS OF HOSPITALS

Turn to page 11 for a story and maps of the army, navy, and army air force hospitals in the United States.

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP)—The navy today announced a new system for reporting casualties, designed to provide quicker and more detailed reports to next of kin.

Revised instructions have been issued to all ships, stations, and other naval commands, including the marine corps and coast guard, outside the continental United States.

Each command outside the continental limits has been directed to designate an officer responsible for preparing all casualty reports concerning dead, missing, wounded, and injured personnel under that command as well as reports on personnel from other commands who may be rescued or picked up.

Will Radio Reports

Initial casualty reports of dead and missing will continue to be transmitted to Washington by radio when conditions permit. Where this is impossible because of the need for maintaining radio silence or because of heavy operational traffic, reports will be transmitted by air mail or courier.

The casualty report officers will be required to provide amplifying reports on dead and missing personnel within one week after their original reports, to be forwarded to Washington by air mail. Details which do not violate security regulations will be promptly relayed to next of kin.

In cases of wounded or injured personnel requiring more than a week of medical care, air mail letters detailing progress will be sent on the first and 15th of each month direct to the next of kin by commanding officers having medical custody of such personnel. These semi-monthly reports will detail whether the person concerned was wounded or injured; the date of his wound or injury; whether progress is poor, fair, good, or excellent; the nature of his wound or injury and present condition, and if appropriate whether it is expected he will be returned to duty in the near future.

May Precede Initial Report

As in the past, next of kin will be notified from Washington on the basis of information contained in initial reports. It is probable however, the navy explained, that there will be occasions when, because of unpredictable circumstances, next of kin will receive progress report letters direct from the field before they have received initial notification from Washington. In such circumstances, the progress report will be the initial notification, and will give greater detail sooner than can be provided on the basis of information contained in the initial report to Washington.

The announcement added that special instructions have been issued to cover reports of casualties in navy armed guard units serving aboard merchant ships. Reports of casualties in those units will be made to the war shipping administration representative in the first port of arrival.

Yanks Squeeze Foe in 25 Mile Area on Island

Bomb Osaka Arsenal

GUAM, June 7 [Thursday]—(AP)—Upward of 450 Super Fortresses attacked Osaka's concrete and steel arsenal with high explosives and spilled fire bombs on the eastern industrial areas of Japan's second largest city yesterday. The high explosives, which had not been carried on recent incendiary attacks, were aimed at a sector where the enemy's production of medium artillery and small arms is centered. It was the third B-29 assault on Osaka, a city of more than 3,000,000, where previous strikes had burned out 11.5 square miles of its industrial area.

The B-29s laid the heaviest concentrations of fire bombs in the factory belt south of the Yodo river. Two other incendiary attacks were concentrated in the area of Osaka castle, directed principally at war industries which include the important Kwoyo Precision Works company plant south of the castle area. There was a strong possibility Osaka castle was hit. The raid on the arsenal necessitated dropping explosives just across the moat from the castle.

GUAM, June 7 [Thursday]—(AP)—Advancing swiftly despite miserable weather, United States 10th army troops completed capture of Okinawa's excellent Naha air field and Chinen peninsula, an arm of the island's best fleet anchorage, yesterday. Then the forces pressed toward the last Japanese defense positions along an east-west escarpment.

The big air field is a potent base for bomber operations against Japan, 325 miles to the northeast. The east coast anchorage already is in use by American warships.

The Japanese, compressed into an area of about 25 square miles, on the south end of Okinawa, were offering stiffening resistance in the closing phase of the bitter 68 day campaign.

Adm. Nimitz' bulletin, which broke a 48 hour silence on ground operations, said today that advances were scored in all sectors on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Spread Out Over Peninsula

The 6th marine division reduced Japanese caves and strongpoints around the Naha air field on Tuesday and won all of the base yesterday. The Japs opposed the marines with spigot mortars and other guns from positions west of the air field. The marines, after taking the air field, spread out over Oroku peninsula, where their amphibious landing was made on Monday. The 6th marines also captured a small island off the coast west of Naha airstrip.

Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland, with the 6th division, wrote that the leathernecks captured a considerable section of the south shore line of Naha bay, "enabling the start of some harbor operations, even tho artillery still could, and did, reach the harbor area occasionally."

The 6th division started driving southeastward toward a juncture with the 1st marines moving down the center of the island. The 1st met considerable resistance in an advance to the outskirts of Yunagusuku town, in the exact center of the Yaeju-Dake escarpment. They by-passed Tomusu town which is three miles south of fallen Shuri. Tomusu town is being reduced. Other units drove a mile southwest of Tomusu to Shinkawaku.

Army Drives for Ridge

In the 24th army corps sector, the 7th and 96th infantry divisions turned their main weight southwestward. The 7th division's 32d regiment, which cleared the Chinen peninsula on the southeast coast, reached the eastern end of the Yaeju-Dake escarpment, which arcs considerable north in a crescent line across the island to the west.

This escarpment, which rises

HOOVER BLASTS DICTATOR TYPE OF EDUCATION

Praises Work of Boys' Clubs in Chicago

Character building of the nation's youth must never be surrendered to the state, Herbert Hoover warned last night in addressing the 45th anniversary dinner of the Chicago Boys clubs, Inc., in the Stevens hotel.

"That is not the place where morals, personality, and character can ever be built," the former President asserted. "The methods of a dictator are simple and easy. Ours is more difficult, but the only kind of society that self-respecting men can cherish."

Prove Better Men

Hoover pointed out that totalitarian countries had adopted America's benevolent ideas of handling boys by grouping them systematically to cure their physical defects and guide their recreational and occupational bents. But, he added, they "pounded in Communist and Fascist modes of thought" and subjected "their minds to mental and moral submission and into a brutal mold."

"That is exactly the opposite of what our boys' clubs do," Hoover said. "We build into our boys personalities, personal responsibility, dignity, character, and moral discipline, not regimented minds. These concepts have clashed on the field of battle. And ours proved the better men, man for man, and we won."

Praises Boys' Clubs

Hoover praised the work of the seven Chicago boys' clubs, but added there is need for double the number of such clubs here. The $400,000 campaign now under way here is designed to send 3,000 boys to summer camp, establish a new boys' club in the over crowded Woodlawn area, establish a health service to remedy at the source abnormalities and habits which usually prove detrimental in later life, establish a girls' camp for 400 girls, and build an annex to the Lincoln-Chicago Boys club.

While recognizing the existence of "black spots" in the nation's youth training, Hoover said there also were "white spots." He pointed out that less than 100 years ago not one-third of the nation's children had elementary schooling; that less than 50 years ago 85 per cent had no secondary or vocational schooling.

In a press conference earlier in the day Hoover said President Truman is "moving in the right direction" toward untangling the "terrible muddle in the national food situation." He characterized Rep. Anderson [D., N. M.], who has been named secretary of agriculture, as "a very able man" and praised Truman's consolidation of the war food administration with the department of agriculture as "a wise step."

Church Travel Ban Hit; Cite Racing

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 6—Sen. Butler [R., Neb.] charged today that government travel bans affecting religious organizations are unconstitutional, particularly in view of the lifting of restrictions on horse racing.

Butler said he had asked Col. J. Monroe Johnson, office of defense transportation director, to arrange to have the war committee on conventions repeal its order directing religious groups to obtain ODT travel permits for their meetings.

"Hundreds of summer camps, previously held by church groups, may not meet this summer if the restrictions now in effect are not lifted," Butler declared.

"I realize as well as any one that travel facilities are overtaxed . . . but I know that religious organizations do not usually call meetings for frivolous purposes and that they do not urge people to attend meetings just for the train ride."

Champaign, Ill., June 6 [Special]—The Illinois synod of the Presbyterian church at a meeting here today protested against operation of race tracks and government travel regulations which they said are closing two summer conferences for Presbyterian youth in Illinois.

The synod is sending to War Mobilizer Vinson a request "to change the ruling which, on the one hand, permits transportation to summer camps for amusement only and allows special train service to carry patrons to race tracks, and on the other hand threatens to close two of the summer conferences serving the Presbyterian youth of Illinois.

"In view of the fact that very few young people travel to these conferences on trains, and that travel to amusement camps and race tracks is freely permitted, we can only conclude that this ruling of the office of defense transportation results not so much in the restriction of travel as in the restriction of culture and religion.

EDUCATORS ASK DELAY ON PEACE DRAFT DECISION

BY LAURENCE BURD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 6—Postponement of any congressional decision on peace time military training until after the war was urged by the American Council of Education today in testimony before a house committee.

A. J. Brumbaugh

A. J. Brumbaugh, vice president of the council, told the committee on post-war military policy that to set up such a training program now is "to declare in advance that we have no faith in collective security and international action." Other speakers said it might cause mistrust among our allies.

Represents Many Schools

The education council's membership includes 110 educational associations and 719 universities and other schools. Brumbaugh said a survey by the council in February of 1,685 presidents of colleges and universities disclosed that three-fourths of those making replies opposed a decision on the conscription issue until peace comes, and that nearly half flatly opposed universal military training after the war.

Brumbaugh reported that answers were received from 1,196 presidents, or 71 per cent of the total. Of these, 77 per cent said the decision on peace time training should be deferred.

Study Commission Is Asked

Brumbaugh said four out of five of the officials polled favored creation by congress of a national commission to study all aspects of post-war defense and make recommendations to congress.

Brumbaugh said opposition by college officials to congressional action at this time "is due primarily to the fear of what universal military training will do in regimenting the minds of our youth. It is impossible to give only military training—the body cannot be regimented without comparable regimentation of the mind."

The committee also heard Dr. John L. Davis, executive secretary of the board of higher education, Disciples of Christ, Indianapolis, oppose peace time conscription on the ground it would enhance the chances of another war.

"Quitting Before We Start"

Davis told the committee that only military necessity "should compel us to embark on such a course."

"Where is that necessity in the immediate post-war years?" he asked. "Are we getting ready to throw the Russians out of China? Do we fear Britain's post-war plans?"

A similar view was taken by the Rev. Dr. William J. Miller, president of the University of Detroit, who contended the legislation would "create suspicion, mistrust, and fear among our allies" and would "stimulate a universal armaments race."

60,000 KEY WORKERS IN 26-29 AGE GROUP FACE DRAFT BY FALL

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP)—Government officials today predicted that the number of key industrial workers 26 thru 29 holding draft deferments will be cut 17 per cent by fall.

The officials, who asked that they be not named, said that 60,000 of the 350,000 men deferred in that age group will lose their deferments over the next few months.

This will result from cutbacks in war production and a general easing of the industrial man power situation, they reported.

In line with this and the demand of the military for men under 30, the government's deferment committee is tightening requirements for deferring younger men.

This committee was formed in February to assure deferments for men 26 thru 29 who were considered indispensable. To qualify for deferment workers had to be certified by one of 15 government agencies represented.

3,600 DEFERRED IN STATE FACE DRAFT IN FALL

Approximately 3,600 Illinois men between 26 and 29 now holding occupational deferments are likely to get draft calls in August and September, figures released yesterday by the interagency committee on draft deferments in Washington, D. C., indicate. In all, 60,000 men in this age group will be called for service so that current military quotas of 90,000 men a month may be maintained. Illinois' quota is about 6.9 per cent of the total.

Repairs on N. Ashland, Pratt Blvd. to Take a Day

Resurfacing of Ashland avenue from Pratt blvd. to Fargo av. will begin tomorrow and similar work on Pratt blvd. from the North Western railroad tracks to the lake will begin Saturday, the park board announced yesterday. Repairs on each will be completed in one day. Sheridan rd. from Foster av. south and east to Lake Shore dr. will be closed to traffic next week for resurfacing work.

SHIFT OF U. S. ARMIES WESTWARD TO CREATE CRISIS, ODT WARNING

The next 12 to 15 months will bring the most serious travel problem in transportation history, Col. J. Monroe Johnson, director of the office of defense transportation, told Mayor Kelly in a letter yesterday.

Movement of our European armies across the continent to the Pacific will have no parallel in history, Johnson said. On paper, he added, the job appears impossible, but it must be done.

"There is only one way this impossible task can be accomplished," the ODT director asserted, "and that is for the general public to continue the splendid coöperation it has already shown in curtailing and eliminating unnecessary travel." He urged the public to spend vacations at home.

U. S. O. TO CLOSE THREE CENTERS ON NORTH SHORE

Three united service organizations clubs in Lake county will be closed this month as part of a nation-wide drive to reduce the number of "agency operated" clubs and concentrate the U. S. O. activities in the Pacific theater of war, Ivan B. Rhodes, regional U. S. O. director, announced yesterday.

The Highwood and North Chicago clubs operated by the Salvation Army will close June 15 and June 30, respectively, and the club operated by the National Catholic Community service at 218 Madison st., Waukegan, will close June 30 as a U. S. O. unit, but will remain open as a service men's club and youth center.

Rhodes said that by the end of the year the U. S. O. must reduce its spending rate in this country by 40 per cent. This will be accomplished thru eliminating agency operated clubs, he said.

TRUMAN'S PLEA FAILS TO SPEED FEPC PROGRAM

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP)—A personal plea for action by President Truman failed to budge fair employment practices legislation from its pigeonhole in the house hules committee today.

After a flurry of maneuvers in which both sides of the equally-divided committee sought to gain a parliamentary upper hand, the 12 man group put off until tomorrow a decision on whether to clear for house consideration legislation to create a permanent fair employment practices committee.

The legislation before the rules committee would provide statutory backing for FEPC. Without such backing the appropriations committee has refused to recommend funds for continuance of the agency created by the late President Roosevelt to prevent discrimination in employment because of race, creed, or color.

Lt. Col. Arvey in U. S.; Expected in Chicago Soon

Lt. Col. Jacob M. Arvey, adjutant general of the 33d division, arrived in San Francisco, Cal., yesterday from the Philippines, friends in Chicago learned last night. He will continue on to Chicago as soon as transportation is arranged. Col. Arvey joined the original 33d division in January, 1941, resigning as alderman of the 24th ward to do so. Ward leaders said last night that no formal welcome will be tendered Arvey in deference to his wishes.

TRUMAN DEFEAT IS SEEN IN G.O.P. MONTANA VOTE

Congressional Election Called '46 Portent

Helena, Mont., June 6 [Special]—Election of a Republican congressman in yesterday's special election in the 2d district, comprising eastern Montana, was hailed here today as a defeat for the Truman administration and a forecast of next year's national political weather.

Wesley A. D'Ewart

The new congressman is Wesley A. D'Ewart, rancher and outspoken critic of concentration of power in the federal government. With 524 of the 754 precincts reporting, he had 23,648 votes to 19,846 for the Democratic nominee, Leo C. Graybill of Great Falls. Graybill has conceded defeat.

The district has been uninterruptedly Democratic since the Roosevelt landslide of 1932. Yesterday's election, the first for a seat in congress since the death of Mr. Roosevelt, was to fill a vacancy left by the death in Washington last Jan. 14 of Rep. O'Connor, Livingston Democrat.

G. O. P. Membership 190

When D'Ewart takes his seat the Republican membership in the house will be increased to 190.

D'Ewart issued a victory statement interpreting the vote as a mandate against centralized federal control and a repudiation of the projected Missouri valley authority.

"In the eastern congressional district the people are tired of being regimented by federal burocrats," D'Ewart said. "The vote is an expression of resentment against unnecessary controls. The Missouri valley authority was also an issue and the vote should settle for all time the fact that the voters of this district are opposed to any such delegation of power."

"Tired of New Deal"

A statement by Republican National Chairman Herbert Brownell Jr., called attention to the fact that Graybill had pleaded with the voters to "elect me to support Truman."

"The smashing victory is an additional indication that the voters are tired of New Deal mismanagement and are determined to restore control of the American government to the American people," Brownell said in Washington.

Sen. Robertson [R., Wyo.], who stumped the district in behalf of D'Ewart, called the result "the voice of free speaking, independent western people raised in protest to the administration's attempt to sidetrack congress, remove industrial protection, and lower the standards of living of the American people."

"The election is Montana's answer to federal snooping," Robertson said.

National organizations of both major parties sent speakers into the state, with Graybill receiving the support of National Democratic Chairman Hannegan. Sen. Murray [D., Mont.] and Rep. Mansfield [D., Mont.] both campaigned personally in Graybill's behalf. Sen. Wheeler [D., Mont.] did not take an active part in the campaign.

ADD 4 BATTLE ZONES FOR ARMY POINTS, HONORS

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP)—The war department today designated four additional campaigns for battle honors, entitling participants to a bronze star and five points toward discharge under the army's point system.

The additions raised to 34 the number of campaigns named for battle honors during the war. Others may be added later.

The additions were the Ryukyu Islands, North Appennines, Central Europe, and the Po valley.

The campaign previously listed as Germany was redesignated as the Rhineland to include portions of France, Belgium, Holland, Luxemburg and Germany.

D-DAY PLUS 365 BRINGS 46 VETS TO HOMES HERE

BY DOROTHY JOHNSON

The American 1st army hit the beaches of Normandy a year ago yesterday. Last night 46 Chicagoans who were in those D-day waves put behind them memories of battle and began furloughs in their own homes. Four or more battle stars on their khaki blouses bore testimony to 12 months of military campaigns in France, Belgium, and Germany.

Hoarded red ration points and arguments with butchers managed to put substantial meals on supper tables in honor of the veterans. They were among 108 1st army men who reached the rotational center at Fort Sheridan early in the day.

The first 1st army members to arrive in the Chicago area, some are eligible for discharge on points, while others, after 33 day furloughs, probably will head for the fighting in the Pacific.

He Credits "Other Guys"

Mr. and Mrs. James Dercole, two daughters, and a son rallied around the dinner table to welcome another son, Pvt. Andrew Dercole, 19, of 920 N. Homan av. The soldier, who commented, "Why talk about me? The other guys deserve the credit," was overseas almost 16 months and participated in five major engagements while detailed to 1st army headquarters.

Mrs. Mary Brucks, who hadn't seen her husband in two years, welcomed Pvt. George Brucks, 36, of 5642 S. Hermitage av. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Brucks of 7816 Euclid av., also shared in a quiet family get-together. In addition to five battle stars, Pvt. Brucks, who was on duty with the inspector general on the headquarters staff, has the Purple Heart, awarded for wounds received during the Belgian breakthru.

Others Greeted by Families

A larger family circle waited at 10157 Forest av. for Tech. Sgt. George F. Scruggs, arrival from Fort Sheridan. There were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Scruggs; his brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and C. W. Scruggs Jr.; his sister, Catherine, and three wide eyed nephews, the youngest the sergeant's namesake.

The happiness of reunion also was felt in the homes of Dr. and Mrs. Louis B. Bernsen, 1514 Addison st., whose son, Pvt. Joel Bernsen, 28, was overseas 18 months; Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kamlin, 4749 Monticello av., parents of Pvt. Harry Kamlin, a typist with the photo interpretation section of headquarters, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Byrnes, 1638 Jonquil terr., whose son, T/5 Danley E. Byrnes, served for 19 months as clerical assistant to the maintenance officer of the ordnance section.

HOW SUBMARINE HELPED RAIDERS ON MAKIN ISLAND

Guns Sink Ship Carrying Jap Re-enforcements

[American submarines have turned in some of the most brilliant performances of the war. Here is a new story about underwater heroes.]

PEARL HARBOR, June 6 (AP)—On the little Pacific island of Makin a marine in jungle green was praying and offshore the United States submarine Nautilus was firing on a range given by Maj. James Roosevelt, son of President Roosevelt.

The guns of the Nautilus, firing almost blindly, sank a Japanese transport and enabled Col. Evans F. Carlson and his marine raiders to complete their job and come home.

Much of the success of the now historic Makin Island raid, one of the most daring of this war, was because of the American submarine with a brilliant career, a part of which now can be told.

Packs Ship with Marines

Capt. [then commander] William H. Brockman of Groton, Conn. packed every available inch of space on the Nautilus with specially trained marines and set out for Makin. A second submarine carried additional marine fighting men.

The plan was to put the marines ashore for a single day in a paralyzing surprise attack designed to create as much havoc as possible, bring back information and possibly prisoners—there were no live Japanese left when the marines finally looked around for prisoners—and throw a scare into the Japanese army and navy.

"We had to herd them in pretty tight," recalled Brockman. "We got them up on deck in the mornings, afternoons and at night to exercise them and to let them practice on the dark deck of the submarine the maneuvers they would have to udergo when we reached our objective."

Leave Carlson on Sub

The morning of the attack was black and wet, but quietly and efficiently the marines lowered their rubber boats over the side and jumped in. They were anxious to go, so anxious they left Col. Carlson aboard the sub and "we had a hell of a time getting a boat to come back and pick him up."

The attack went off exactly according to plan—until a transport was sighted in the lagoon. Brockman is modest about the point, but the transport is believed to have held enough Japanese to have made the situation critical for the comparative handful of marines.

Maj. Roosevelt was ashore and in "walkie-talkie" communication with the submarine. He told of the hazard, and gave a range. Then the walkie-talkie faded out and never was heard again.

A marine noncom saw the transport, too, and later told how he worried because "if the ship landed reenforcements we would have no chance. Then I heard the sub's guns."

Gunners Sweep Lagoon

Given a preliminary range, even tho they could not see the transport, the submarine gunners swept the lagoon, being careful to keep from placing their shells among the marines.

And then on the shore, the marine said, "I gave a silent prayer of thanks for the destruction of this ship, because without its destruction I am sure we could not have escaped."

A patrol craft also was sunk at the same time, and the marines carried out their campaign of destruction. Offshore the Nautilus and the second submarine waited to take them off.

They waited while the marines struggled to get their little boats thru a pounding surf. Many of the boats capsized, and then the Japanese planes came and the sub was forced to submerge. Back it came, and the marines paddled away from shore, carrying their wounded. They could not bury their dead, but each dead marine was left with his face looking toward the sky, and the natives were given money to bury them.

DRAFT VIOLATOR GETS 3 YEARS

more than 300 feet, provides the last rough terrain for a defensive stand by the estimated 15,000 to 20,000 Japanese left of a garrison which once numbered 85,000.

The 7th battled hard yesterday in the area of Gushichan town. It had seized Aragusuku.

On the right of the 7th, the 96th division captured hills south of Iwa, which is more than a mile south of Tomusu and parallel with Shinkawaku, and then pushed a mile below Iwa to Tomui town. Tomui is a mile and a quarter from Okinawa's south coast.

The mud and rain were such a handicap that planes had to parachute supplies to the sloshing ground forces.

A few Japanese planes raided the Okinawa area Tuesday night and succeeded in damaging two American surface units at a cost of five planes.

FINDS BELGIUM A HOUSE DIVIDED BY RACE RIVALRY

BY DAVID DARRAH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, June 6—Rivalry between the Flemings and the Walloons of Belgium appears to have broken out with bitterness again during the last few days, posing a new problem of federalism and separatism for Belgium, which claims to be the fourth colonial power of the world.

Walloon agitation centers about Liege. Between the Flemings, who look toward Germanic ties to the north and east and the Walloons, who look south toward France, there has long been a divergence. This was widened when the Germans during their occupation of Belgium made a practice of releasing Flemish military prisoners and allowing them to return home while continuing to imprison Walloons.

Walloons such as Maurice Delbouille, mayor of Liege, a professor at the Liege university, and a member of the Brussels academy, and Francois Van Belle, vice president of the chamber of representatives, are openly discussing autonomy and schism.

Envisions Federation

Oscar Grosjean, an official of the ministry of education, wrote recently that "in post-war Europe we probably will see an eastern federation of states and a western federation. If this federation is realized in the west Wallonia will doubtless be happy to join it."

An engineer, writing in the Liege newspaper Meuse, said:

"Naturally we are for Belgium, if you mean a new Belgium in which politically, socially, and administratively we no longer are treated as second class citizens."

The people of Liege have extended a particularly warm welcome to returning French war prisoners, telling them, "Here you are at home."

All this is said to reflect a popular movement, not arising from foreign political intrigue. It seems to show that political cross currents in Belgium are racial and national as well as economic, that is between left and right and fascists and democrats.

Seek Rexist's Return

Belgian Socialists and Communists who are opposed to the return of King Leopold, and demand his abdication, have called on the government to list Leon Degrelle, leader of the Rexist party, and Belgium's Pierre Laval, as a war criminal.

Degrelle, like Laval, escaped to Spain. The Spanish government has refused to extradite him as a political refugee but has offered to send him back to Germany if he is listed as a war criminal.

M'ARTHUR VISITS WAR GRAVES ON MINDORO ISLAND

BY DON STARR

[Chicago Tribune correspondent representing the combined American press]

WITH GEN. MacARTHUR IN THE FIELD [Delayed]—The graves of American war dead received the special attention of Gen. MacArthur on an inspection tour of military installations on Mindoro.

MacArthur interrupted a hurried jeep trip at the burial ground and spent more time there than at any other spot.

He was met by T/5 Florian B. Nutowc, Chicago, the caretaker in charge of the plot. Behind the fence could be seen crude, unpainted crosses.

FLYER'S STORY OF JAP TRICKERY IN NAVAL BATTLE

Scout Plane Sights Foe's Fleet Sneaking Back

This is the second of four articles about the battle of Leyte gulf, the greatest naval engagement in history, in which Japan lost nearly half of its fleet. The first article told of Adm. Halsey's speedy task force racing to meet an enemy thrust north of Luzon, leaving an inferior escort carrier force protecting Gen. MacArthur's landings in Leyte gulf.

BY CHARLES BALLENGER

The radio shack on the escort carrier Sangamon, lying off Leyte in the Philippine Islands, was jammed with flyers. Excited discussions among the men broke off only when the radio operator signaled that another message was coming over the air. Each message provoked new arguments.

Lt. G. E. Johnsen

It was the night of Oct. 23, 1944. The pilots aboard this escort carrier and 15 others like it, stationed outside Leyte gulf to protect Gen. MacArthur's landing, had been given official word that a huge Japanese naval force was approaching the Philippine Islands group in what seemed to be three completely separate columns, one from the north, one from the south, and another thru Sibuyan sea.

One of the flyers in the radio shack was Lt. George E. Johnsen, 29, of Arlington Heights, pilot of a Hellcat fighter plane and veteran of 14 invasions from Tarawa to Leyte. He now wears a silver star for his gallantry in the action that was to follow.

Johnsen's Story of Battle

A tall, slim man with a determined chin, Johnsen told his story of the battle with the simple candor met in those who have met and survived great moments of stress and mental strain.

"After the first official word of the approaching Jap fleet," Lt. Johnsen said, "we all spent the night in nervous anticipation. Every one wondered whether we would have to continue the comparatively routine job of providing air support to MacArthur or would get a chance at the Japs.

"Our reports were so sketchy that endless discussions came up about the whereabouts of the enemy. We were unable to decide what the Nips might have in mind, altho we supposed that if they did strike it would be for the Philippine invasion force and for our ships protecting it.

Called Out Before Dawn

"The radio shack where we could get flashes from the other ships and scout planes was as popular as a night club with free drinks and Betty Grable. Finally we sacked in, still wondering.

"I learned later, tho, that the Jap force coming from the south was practically annihilated at the southern entrance to Leyte gulf during the night by a force of five old battleships and some PT boats and destroyers. Of the two battleships, four cruisers, and eight or 10 destroyers in the Jap fleet, there sailed away only one cruiser and five destroyers and all those were damaged.

"The next morning the squawker pulled us out of bed sometime before dawn. I still don't know exactly what time it was. Too sleepy, I guess.

"There was a cold wind blowing that felt like squalls. The sea was choppy and the Sangamon rolled a bit, but after 14 months at sea I hardly noticed it.

Patrol of Target Ordered.

"In the ready room the word was passed around: Pre-dawn patrol of the target. That meant that we weren't going to get to go after the Jap fleet. The six of us scheduled for the patrol muttered a few damns and started out on the pitch black flight deck to our planes.

"Stumbling over wires, blocks, and everybody's feet, I made my way toward my Hellcat where my plane captain helped me in. We were to be catapulted because of a 500 pound bomb load which every one was carrying."

The catapult on this type of carrier, Lt. Johnsen explained, is located alongside the "island" or bridge structure. It is an underdeck cable and is operated much like the cable street cars, exerting a pull of about 3,000 pounds. The pilot is given orders by the flight officer thru the bull horn, or loud speaker. Ahead of him are two lights which flash green and red with the signals of the flight officer.

Johnsen Makes Take-Off

"Lt. Frank Reiser, a regular navy pilot from Miami, Fla., our division leader, got off first," Johnsen said. "Lt. Hugh Peacock of Atlanta, Ga., a clever southern boy, was second. I was to follow him.

"As Peacock was being shot off, I went over my check list. Everything was O. K. Then the bull horn grated out: 'Johnsen, prepare to start engine. Stand clear of prop. Start engine.' A few seconds later the tremendous jolt of the catapult slapped me back in my seat and I was air borne.

"Behind me came Stinky [Richard] Kreider, an ensign then and my wingman; Lt. Jim Ritchie, one of my roommates who came from San Pedro, Cal., and Blackie Blackman, a smart pilot from the east."

"Whole Damn Jap Fleet

The plan for that morning, Lt. Johnsen said, was for his group to rendezvous with other groups at 10,000 feet over Point Queen on Leyte. That rendezvous never came about.

"We were skipping along trying to keep out of each other's way in the semi-darkness," Johnsen went on, "when suddenly a voice came in over the radio: 'The whole damn Jap fleet is down there!'

"The voice came from a scout plane, out on anti-submarine patrol, from the northern of the three groups of escort carriers. What this flyer had sighted was the Jap fleet, which had retired thru San Bernardino strait, coming back.

"At the time the scout plane pilot had only a couple of small depth charges under his wings, but he dove right at the biggest warship he could see."

[Tomorrow's article tells of the escort carrier planes' battle with the Jap fleet.]

4 STAR GENERAL WATCHES AS 33D DIVISION STRIKES

BY GUY RICHARDS

[Correspondent of the New York News and The Chicago Tribune]

WITH THE 33D DIVISION, Baguio Sector, Luzon, June 6—Refreshed after a three weeks' rest at the mountain paradise of Baguio, this division today unleashed a fiery new drive which is rolling along the mountain trail on the roof of the Benguet mountains toward the Jap-infested Cagayan valley.

By coincidence a four-star general, very famous in another theater, arrived to watch the start of this drive accompanied by his special bodyguards and marksmen. This particular four star is quite a boy, but I cannot tell who he is. I honestly believe he doesn't spend a minute thinking of his own safety.

Under the care of Maj. Gen. Innis Swift, commander of the 1st corps, and Maj. Gen. Percy W. Clarkson, divisional commander, the four star jeeped across to a place eight miles northeast of Baguio on a mountain trail. From there we watched the first phase of a 7,000 yard advance by I and K companies of the 3d battalion of the 130th infantry. The battalion is commanded by Lt. Col. Ellis D. Blake, Kewanee, Ill.

Sniper and Rifle Fire

Sniper and rifle fire continued from near-by slopes, but Gen. Clarkson decided to move forward and show his famous guest the assault on the day's final objective—Chocolate Drop hill, a dark, bare, ugly wart on the distant skyline.

This immediately broached and closed without further comment the delicate question of how expendable is a four star general—they apparently are as expendable as stale box rations.

Breezing speedily along the route of the day's advance, our multi-starred caravan came to rest on in front lines in view of the Japs a short distance away on forward slopes of Chocolate Drop. We were on a little ledge, and all the stars and brass looked like a parade reviewing stand.

GIs Duck from Bullets

Just then some snipers let go. GI's ducked from sight. But not the military brain power. For the next few minutes, the division artillery commander, Brig. Gen. Alexander G. Paxton of Greenville, Miss., directed the attention of the four star general to Chocolate Drop. Shyly he admitted the Japs had some artillery around, but he didn't believe they would use it while our Cub observation plane was circling overhead.

Just watch the troops ahead, Paxton told his distinguished guest. They were ready to assault Chocolate Drop as soon as a new artillery mission was fired. The four star watched closely. Suddenly, like the roar of 1,000 silk shirts being ripped at once, shells from the three batteries came whistling over the mountain.

In a flash Chocolate Drop became a tall chocolate milk shake whose bursting bubbles reached high up in the air. Tanks and infantrymen surged forward as the barrage lifted, smashing thru caves on Chocolate Drop's lower slopes. Dodging a few more snipers, the four star general beamed approvingly and climbed into his jeep and the gilt edge caravan rolled away. The general's car was not yet out of sight when — whoom! — the Jap artillery let go.

Gen. Patton, whom the Nazis feared more than any other American leader, will arrive by air tomorrow at the New Bedford airport and lead a procession to Boston where he will speak. Fifty officers and enlisted men will accompany the 3d army leader.

Mrs. Patton disclosed that their son, George S. Patton, 3d, a West Point cadet, has been granted leave to greet his father. Their two other children, Mrs. John K. Waters and Col. James Totten of Washington, also will be here.

BIG 5 PASSES UP VETO ISSUE IN 2-HOUR TALK

Reds Doubt Stalin Will Reply on Question

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., June 6—The Big Five powers—the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France, and China—were in session tonight for two hours without breaking the deadlock on the veto controversy in the world security conference.

Again it was stated following the meeting that there had been no discussion of the veto issue, inasmuch as no reply had been received from Moscow to the latest appeal to Russia for a settlement of the question that has stalled the progress of the conference for 2½ weeks.

Before the meeting it was stated at Russian headquarters there would be no reply from Moscow for the reason that the voting procedure was settled at the Yalta conference.

May Inform Hopkins

The possibility remained that Russian Premier Stalin will make his response to Harry Hopkins, who is still in Moscow, for transmission to President Truman.

The Russians contend that under the voting procedure agreed to at Yalta the consideration by the prospective peace league's security council of any international dispute likely to cause war could be vetoed by any one of the Big Five not a party to the dispute. America, Britain, France, and China hold there can be no such gag of unrestricted discussion of any such dispute and a hearing of the parties thereto. In their latest appeal last Sunday they asked Russia to join with them in this interpretation of the voting procedure. It was to this message Stalin has failed to reply up to date.

The conviction deepened in the Big Four delegations that the Russians are courting a showdown on the issue on which if it goes to a vote in the conference the soviets would be overwhelmingly defeated.

Statement Held Up

The American delegation had a statement of its position prepared for issuance if the pending negotiations with Moscow fail. The statement was withheld tonight, however, pending a possible report from Hopkins.

There is increased talk tonight of concluding the conference with the charter of the peace league incomplete on the voting procedure. In that event the gaps would be left to be filled in later by agreement of the Big Three—Mr. Truman, Mr. Churchill and Mr. Stalin—at their forthcoming meeting.

The prevailing sentiment in the American and British delegations, however, is for pushing the issue to a showdown in the conference without much further delay.

The Big Five meeting was called at the instance of the Russians, but for the minor purpose of conveying Moscow's approval of the amendment proposed by the French to the regional arrangements for peace enforcement. The Big Five approved the amendment which would exempt the operation of the Franco-Russian mutual aid alliance from interference by the security council's peace enforcement machinery.

All Wait on Veto

Bolivian Ambassador Andrade, chairman of the committee on functions and powers of the general assembly, announced at a press conference that the work of this committee is finished and that "All we and you and the rest of the world have to do is to sit and wait for the settlement of the famous veto power issue."

Earlier in the day the outstanding development was the disclosure that the American continents are solidly arrayed against Russia in the veto controversy.

The conviction is universal in the United States, Canadian, and Latin-American delegations that it is highly important not only to defeat the gag rule on peaceful settlement of international disputes for which Russia is contending but to check the headlong rush of the Soviets to a position which would permit the Reds to dominate future world politics.

The stand taken by President Truman and the American delegation for a showdown with Moscow and the notice served on Stalin that there will be no retreat from the American position brought forth unanimous pledges of support from the countries of the western hemisphere.

British Feel Likewise

The British government has taken an identical stand against the Russians with the support of the British dominions and the countries of western Europe. The Chinese have lined up with the United States and so has France, tho admitting that it "reluctantly" opposes Russia, with which the French have a mutual assistance alliance.

America, Britain, France, and China contend no member of the security council possesses the power to veto discussion of a dispute and the hearing of parties to it. The council could take the dispute under consideration by an affirmative vote of any seven of its 11 members. Only when the question should be a decision to invoke formal investigation, conciliation, or other pacific measures would the veto power of a big five nation not a party to the dispute become applicable.

There is no end of speculation among the delegates on the motives for the stand taken by Russia. Some think Stalin has outmaneuvered and flouted the British and Americans with impunity for so long a time that he naturally thought he could stage another demonstration of bending the western powers to his will. But whether because of the end of the war in Europe or of the death of Mr. Roosevelt, who invariably yielded to him, Stalin finds the situation entirely changed.

Got F. D. R. Green Light

It was at the Tehran conference in 1943 that Stalin started on the primrose path of imperialism in a big way. He was given the green light by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill to grab the eastern half of Poland and extend Russian hegemony over the remainder of eastern Europe. Mr. Roosevelt exacted no terms for the continued American lend-lease that was essential to Russian victory.

Apologists for Roosevelt and Churchill said they gave in to Stalin from fear that otherwise he would make a separate peace with Germany. Mr. Roosevelt said any injustices resulting from Russian imperialism would be corrected when he got Stalin into the new league of nations to enforce peace.

Earl Browder was so delighted with Mr. Roosevelt's concessions to Stalin at Tehran that he dissolved the American Communist party and declared for the fourth term. By the spring of 1944 when the communist imperialism blessed at Tehran got going strong Browder exulted to the extent of three or four columns in the Daily Worker about the soviet penetration of eastern Europe from the Arctic to the Mediterranean.

At the Yalta conference last February Stalin wrung more concessions from Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt. The war was so nearly over that the possibility of Stalin making a separate peace was no longer a threat. But there was a new threat. Stalin would not go in for the new league of nations on which Mr. Roosevelt had set his heart unless he got what he wanted. He got it.

Stalin got the partition of Poland consummated. He got a promise of three votes for Russia in the new peace league, a promise redeemed at San Francisco. He got the veto power in the league he had demanded at Dumbarton Oaks with only the slight modification pertaining to peaceful settlements, the interpretation of which he is now disputing.

Apologists for Mr. Roosevelt said he was too sick a man to stand up to Stalin. The concession of three votes to Russia was ascribed to the diplomacy of the politicians, Jimmie Byrnes and Edward J. [Paving Blocks] Flynn, who caused Mr. Roosevelt to stipulate an offset of three votes for the United States.

Roosevelt Backed Down

The American delegation was so outraged by this deal that Mr. Roosevelt hastily waived the three votes for America, hoping Stalin would not press for the three for Russia in the face of what looked like certain defeat at San Francisco. When the conference met, however, the administration, demanding Russia's implicit observance of the Yalta agreement on the reorganization of Stalin's Polish puppet government, found it expedient to deliver the Latin Americans for the three votes for Moscow.

The only concession Stalin made at Yalta was to agree to provisional governments and free elections supervised by the Big Three in liberated countries. He disregarded this agreement as well as the arrangement for reorganization of the Polish government.

DANE REVEALS SWEDISH ARMING OF UNDERGROUND

Risked Nazi Aggression by Aiding Allies

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., June 6 — A Danish underground leader disclosed today that the neutral Swedish government had secretly aided in the shipment of arms and ammunition into Denmark during the Nazi occupation.

Prof. Erik Husfeldt, 43, professor of surgery at the University of Copenhagen, who went underground after Germany seized his country in 1940, told a stirring story of his adventures as he joined the world security conference as one of three delegates representing Denmark, yesterday admitted as the 50th member nation.

In the summer of 1944, Husfeldt told reporters, he went to Stockholm in a fishing boat, disguised as a fisherman, and there negotiated for 14 days with Swedish officials. As a result of an agreement concluded, large supplies of machine guns, rifles, pistols, and ammunition were turned over to him.

Brought in as Bacon.

Danish fishing boats, putting out to sea under the noses of the Germans, Husfeldt said, swung in close Swedish shores. The cases containing the guns and bullets were labeled "butter" and "bacon."

The transfer was made at night and the German gestapo never gained a hint of what was going on, Husfeldt said. The stores were unloaded on Danish docks while Nazi guards and inspectors looked on idly.

"We had been informed by the allies that they planned to invade Denmark," he said. "We had 43,000 men in the underground, ready and armed to help the invasion. Allied planes also dropped guns and ammunition, enough for 30,000 men.

Nazis Easy to Fool

"It was easy to fool the Nazis because 99 per cent of the people were against them and with us. We committed acts of sabotage in factories, against railroads and shipping and helped shoot down pilots to escape."

Henrik Kauffmann, Danish minister to the United States, and Prof. Hartvig Frisch, chairman of the Social Democratic party, were also given credentials as delegates.

SYRIAN PREMIER BACKS FRENCH IN PARLEY PLAN

DAMASCUS, Syria, June 6 [Reuters]—Jamil Mardam Bey, Syrian foreign minister and acting prime minister, today welcomed the French cabinet proposal that all middle east problems be discussed in a conference by the five big powers and the countries concerned.

"If the responsible criminals are punished and reparations for loss of life and damage to property are paid, we are prepared to accept these as a first step in proof of French good will for further negotiations," he said.

"Our policy regarding such a conference is bound up with that of the other Arab countries. Unfortunately French policy since 1920 has been to keep Syria and the Lebanese apart from the other Arab countries. You cannot separate blood brothers."

Mardam Bey expressed approval of Prime Minister Churchill's speech in the house of commons and emphasized that Syria had long accepted his advice to do nothing that might provoke the French.

Jehovah's Witnesses Win Fight on Salute in Canada

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

TORONTO, Ont., June 6—Two brothers, members of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect, are entitled to attend public school in Hamilton, Ont., and refrain from saluting the flag and singing the national anthem, the Ontario Court of Appeals ruled today. The judgment was in favor of Robert Donald respecting his two sons, Robert and Graham. The boys had been excluded from school Sept. 18, 1940. The court allowed $378 damages for tuition, expenses, and costs since 1940.

MICHIGAN HIT BY JAP BALLOON, ARMY REVEALS

Japs May Face Trial

LONDON, June 6 (AP)—Responsible sources said today that the allied nations war crimes commission would weigh the question of whether Japanese responsible for sending balloon bombs over the United States should be classified as war criminals.

Detroit, Mich., June 6 (AP)—The army disclosed today that a Japanese balloon has fallen in Michigan within the last few months.

The information was made public by the sixth service command. Neither the date nor the place where the balloon fell was disclosed.

The announcement was the first official disclosure that a Japanese balloon had fallen so far east on the continent of North America.

Balloons in West Reported

Army officials previously had reported that balloons fell in the western portion of the continent.

Capt. Donald S. Leonard, state civilian defense director, announced that no bombs were attached to the balloon which fell in Michigan.

He said he was prevented by censorship from disclosing the exact location where the balloon fell or when it was found.

OCD Units Warned

He said the information was made public only because it had been announced earlier today in New York and the censor had approved publication of the information.

Leonard said personnel of office of civilian defense units had been informed to notify police if other balloons are found.

Three Fall Near Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Cal., June 6 (AP)—At least three Japanese balloon bombs have fallen harmlessly in southern California in recent months, according to disclosures today, publication of which was approved by Maj. Aubrey Rawlings of the 9th service command.

U.S. CASUALTIES TOTALED 1,527 A DAY IN EUROPE

89,477 Killed Since Landing in Normandy

FRANKFURT ON MAIN, Germany, June 6 (AP)—American ground forces lost men at the rate of 1,527 a day, killed, wounded, and missing, in the war against Germany on the European continent from the time they invaded Normandy a year ago today until the order to cease firing on all fronts was given at one minute past midnight on May 9, it was revealed today at supreme allied headquarters.

The total will be reduced, however, when unreported prisoners of war who have been listed as "missing" are accounted for. Possibly 15,000 to 20,000 prisoners are included on the list of missing because they were not reported by the Germans during the last chaotic months in the reich.

514,534 U. S. Casualties

The United States casualties for the 337 days of fighting totaled 514,534, of whom 89,477 were killed, 367,180 wounded, and 57,877 missing in action. Combined losses for the other allies in the west totaled 252,433.

[A dispatch from Paris indicated that, while American divisions numbered 60 to the other western allies' 31, the actual proportion of men involved was 100 to 31, since American divisions were at full strength of 16,000 men to each infantry division, while the European divisions were estimated at 10,000 each. American armored divisions had an even greater disparity of man power.]

One of the chief reasons for the comparatively low casualties was Gen. Eisenhower's strategy, executed by his field commanders, of creating pockets, sealing off enemy forces within the pockets and forcing surrender rather than attempt to steamroller the opposition.

The combined British and Canadian casualties during the same period totaled 184,512, including 39,599 killed, 126,145 wounded, and 18,368 missing.

The French casualties were 11,080 killed, 45,966 wounded, and 4,201 missing for a total of 61,247. The Poles had 1,189 killed, 4,029 wounded, and 375 missing for a total of 5,593.

U. S. Divisions Listed

It was disclosed at supreme headquarters that the 60 United States combat divisions engaged in western Europe when the war against Germany ended included 42 infantry divisions, 15 armored divisions, and three air borne divisions.

Some of the divisions had not been identified previously.

There were 14 British divisions, five Canadian divisions, 11 French divisions and one Polish division.

The total allied ground strength in the west by armies, corps, and divisions at the end of the war:

	United States	Britain	Canada	France	Poland
Armies	5	1	1	1	0
Corps	16	4	2	1	0
Infantry div.	42	8	3	8	0
Armored divs.	15	4	2	3	1
Air borne divs.	3	2	0	0	0

The 42 United States infantry divisions were the 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 8th, 9th, 26th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 35th, 36th, 42d, 44th, 45th, 63d, 65th, 66th, 69th, 70th, 71st, 75th, 76th, 78th, 79th, 80th, 83d, 84th, 86th, 87th, 89th, 90th, 94th, 95th, 97th, 99th, 100th, 102d, 103d, 104th, and 106th.

The 15 United States armored divisions were the 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 16th, and 20th.

The United States air borne divisions were the 17th, 82d and 101st.

Where Chinese Scored on Japs

(Story in adjoining column)

G I Joe in the Pacific

By ARTHUR VEYSEY

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

WITH THE U. S. 43D DIVISION, In the Luzon Hills, June 6—Infantrymen of the 43d division, since January, have killed 15 Japs for every American lost. Now, granted that one American life is not worth 15 Jap lives or even 15,000, killing 15 Japs while losing one American is quite an achievement.

Some armchair experts credit it to superior equipment. Our rifles fire eight bullets to the clip against five for the Japs' rifles. Our tanks have thicker armor. Our trucks have 10 tires where Jap trucks get along with four or six. Our bully beef doesn't have as much salt in it. Our hospitals have whole blood on ice.

Some armchair experts credit it to superior training.

Equipment? Training? Maybe that is why we kill 15 while losing one, but out here there is another answer. Listen:

Two injured men lay in a clump of bushes that formed an aid station. Jap shells began raining in. Every one took to foxholes. That is, every one but the two injured men and Henry Clark, a corporal from Clebit, Okla. Clark loaded the men into a jeep and with shells dropping all around, drove three miles in darkness across rice paddies and along a shell pitted road. He got the men, at last, to a hospital and they are living today.

Sgt. Ralph Dude's platoon was dug in on a hillside. A heavy Jap barrage came from a high ridge. Dude ordered his men over the hill to safety. When the men reassembled two were missing. Dude, who comes from San Carlos, Ariz., went back and found them seriously hurt. Supporting one on each arm he helped them back to safety.

Night halted the attack on a hill. As the infantrymen lay in their holes they heard a cry for help. It came from the woods which the troops had tried to cross during the day but had been driven back. The cry could be that of an injured American or it could be a Jap ruse. Corp. Howard Allen of Clarksdale, Ariz., rounded up four others and they crawled into the woods. They found a wounded buddy and dragged him back into the lines. Had the Japs found him first he wouldn't be alive today.

A platoon was ordered to attack a Jap artillery emplacement. Two men were seriously injured. The attack was halted while scouts hunted a better method. Pvt. Nicholas Unick went after the two men. Shrapnel injured him, but he reached the men and helped them back. They lived, but from his own wounds he died. His mother, Mrs. Mary Unick of Cleveland, O., can well be proud of him.

Why don't more Americans die? Equipment? Training? Men out here have a word for it. They call it "guts."

Greeks Offer to Form Unit to Fight Japan

ATHENS, Greece, June 6 (AP)—Representatives of the Pan-Hellenic union of reserve officers offered today to form an independent Greek fighting unit to participate in the war against Japan. The delegation, representing several thousand members, made the offer to United States ambassador, Lincoln MacVeagh. He thanked them and promised to transmit their proposal to Washington, D. C.

REPORT CHINESE RETAKE LIUCHOW, FORMER AIR BASE

CHUNGKING, June 6 (AP)—American and Chinese reports said tonight that Chinese troops today recaptured the big former American bomber base city of Liuchow in south China. There was no confirmation from the Chinese high command.

American quarters reported the fall of Liuchow after Gen. Yang-sen, governor of Kweiyang [Kweichow] told a Chinese engineers' conference that the town had been seized.

The reports, if true, meant that one of the most important Japanese bases in China had been reoccupied after seven months of Japanese occupancy.

Chinese forces on Tuesday were reported within 21 miles southwest of Liuchow, and P-51 Mustang fighter-bombers of the United States 14th air force blasted enemy defense installations in the town.

Forty miles south of Liuchow, a Chinese bulletin said that an enemy pocket at Laipan, by-passed in a swift Chinese surge toward Liuchow, had been cleared after a severe mopping-up.

Meanwhile, 150 miles southeast of Liuchow, Chinese reports said that the Japanese were preparing to abandon the important Si [West] river port of Wuchow [Tsangwu], 113 miles west of Canton.

A report said that a Chinese spearhead had thrust to Tungchu, nine miles southwest of the inland port, thru which the invaders funneled troops into Kwangsi province from Kwantung last year.

In the Canton area, the Chinese reported a Japanese attack southeastward from Kukong, on the Canton-Hankow railroad 120 miles north of Canton.

Maryknoll Priest Slain by South China Bandits

Ossining, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—The Maryknoll fathers said today that the Rev. Otto A. Rauschenbach, one of their missionaries, was slain by bandits last May 14 in the town of Kaai Lam, Kwantung province, China. "During the last six months banditry has sprung up in South China following the confusion caused by recent Japanese advances, but this is the first time they have killed a missioner," the announcement said.

DODGE WORKERS TO GET HEARING IF STRIKE ENDS

Officials of Local 495 of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers and Helpers [AFL], whose members have been conducting the 178th strike since May 2, 1944, at the Dodge Chicago plant of the Chrysler corporation, were promised an immediate rehearing of their case by the automobile panel of the 7th regional war labor board at Detroit, Mich., yesterday if the strikers would go back to work.

A. J. Eberhardy, international representative of the union, who accompanied four local union officials, Alex Stanulus, Oliver Fortaw, John Kelly, and Ben Markunas, to the hearing yesterday, said they would ask the strikers to return to work at a meeting to be held at 5 p. m. tomorrow at 3323 W. 63d st.

Both the regional board at Detroit and the automotive panel, which is headed by Van Kennedy, promised a hearing next week, at which requests for wage increases and other union demands would be discussed, if the men terminate the strike.

TAVERN OWNER ROBBED OF $139

John Dusek, owner of the tavern at 5200 S. Western av., told police yesterday that two men had menaced him with revolvers and taken $139.

Third of Europe's Radium Found in Himmler Loot

SALZBURG, Germany, June 6 (AP)—One and seven-tenths grams of radium, said to be one-third of Europe's total supply, have been removed from a hiding place in an old magnesium mine near Hallein. The radium was discovered as troops were removing looted art treasurers and rare coins, and some of Gestapo Chief Himmler's personal effects from the Alpine cave. Pvt. Alex Cimaroli, 11339 Calumet av., Chicago, Ill., aided in the removal.

BODY OF HITLER IDENTIFIED, SAYS RUSSIAN OFFICER

Died of Poisoning, Tests Show for Certain

BY JOSEPH W. GRIGG JR.
Representing the Combined American Press

BERLIN, June 6 (AP)—A high Russian military source said today a body found in Berlin had been identified with fair certainty as that of Adolf Hitler.

The body, smoke-blackened and charred, was one of four discovered in the ruins of the great underground fortress beneath the new reichschancellory after the fall of Berlin. These four bodies, any one of which answered pretty well to Hitler's description, were removed and carefully examined by Russian army physicians.

All were badly burned from the flame throwers with which the Red army soldiers finally cleared out the underground command post where Hitler and his leading Nazis made their last ditch stand.

After careful examination of teeth and other characteristics the Russians singled out one body which they believe almost certainly is that of the Nazi Fuehrer.

Died of Poisoning

Asked why no official announcement of the discovery has been made yet by Moscow, this Russian source said that as long as any element of uncertainty exists the Russians do not wish to state definitely that Hitler's body has been found. The source added, however, that there seemed little doubt that this actually is the corpse of Hitler.

Examination of the body showed that the man almost certainly died of poisoning.

Whether this was self-administered there is no sure means of knowing.

Goebbels' Body Found

The body of Propaganda Minister Goebbels was discovered by the Russians in the same underground shelter, together with those of his wife and children. All had died by poisoning.

The bodies of Goebbels and his family also were badly burned, but were identified by the Russians without too much difficulty.

The Russians have given no hint as to how the bodies of Hitler, Goebbels, and other Nazis found in Berlin have been disposed of. This probably will remain a secret for all time to guard against the possibility of Nazi fanatics trying to recover the bodies.

TRUCK UNION READY TO CALL SECOND STRIKE

Members of the Chicago Truck union [independent] met last night at 4715 Madison st. and decided to go out on strike again unless the war labor board approves the union's demand for vacation pay and a $5 increase for a 48 hour week.

The union terminated May 21 a six day strike that paralyzed the movement in Chicago of food and materials for war plants. Unless the WLB meets with union demands by June 15 they will go out on strike again, the members said.

Speakers included Steve Slahor, president of the union; Frank Perkins, vice president; Edward Ragen, secretary-treasurer, and Edward Fenner, executive director. Fenner, in virtual control of the union, said he had returned recently from Washington, D. C., where WLB officials convinced him that the union's demands would be met.

German Occupation Zone Reds Claim

said it was "obvious" that parts of it still were held by British and American troops.

A correspondent of the British Press association said that "steps are now being taken to move allied troops to their own areas." He said the British zone would include the Kiel naval base and that British headquarters would be in or near Hamburg.

A Russian broadcast, as recorded by the soviet monitor here, said Russian troops would occupy:

"German territory [including the province of East Prussia] situated east of a line running from a point on the shore of the Gulf of Luebeck where the borders of Schleswig-Holstein and Mecklenburg meet, along the western border of Mecklenburg to the border of Hannover, then along the eastern border of Hannover to the frontier of Brunswick, along the eastern frontier of the Prussian province of Saxony [northern section] to the western border of Anhalt, then along the western border of Anhalt, along the western front of the Prussian province of Saxony [southern section] and along the western border of Thuringia to its crossing with the Bavarian border. From there it runs east along the northern frontier of Bavaria as far as the Czechoslovak frontier of 1937."

Area Seized by Yanks

The line thus set down runs generally north and south down approximately the center of Germany, except at its southern extremity, where it bulges abruptly westward for a considerable distance to take in Thuringia province, which United States 1st and 3d army troops overran in the final weeks of the war.

[A Reuters dispatch said Russian occupation of these areas would mean an American withdrawal of more than 150 miles from parts of Saxony and Thuringia, including the towns of Leipzig, Chemnitz, Halle, Dessau, Weimar, Jena, and Eisenach. In central Germany, it said, the adjustment would entail a withdrawal of about 60 miles including Magdeburg. The British withdrawal, the dispatch said, would be comparatively small, mainly from the area of Wismar where the 2d army met the Russians.]

"So far," Tass said, "the European advisory commission in London has only defined in detail the zone which is to be occupied by soviet troops."

Chancellor of the Exchequer John Anderson told the house of commons there was "no chance" that the meeting of President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill, and Marshal Stalin would be held in London. He did not elaborate, but left the suggestion that the site might have been chosen outside this capital.

'TOOTHLESS PEOPLE' FOUND IN GERMANY BY EVANSTON DENTIST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, June 6—Capt. Douglas A. Meinig, 2550 Prairie av., Evanston, Ill., a dentist, said today that the Germans are a toothless people.

Returning from Heidelberg to take up a new military course of study here, Capt. Meinig added that the more he saw of the Germans the less he understood the war.

"The nazi government didn't bother to train a sufficient number of dentists to take care of the school children," he said.

"Another incongruity was the Nazis' alleged need of space, but there are hundreds of square miles of uncultivated land in Germany. The country around Heidelberg, in particular, is fertile and beautiful, yet there are no houses, farms, or villages. This didn't result from the war. The houses were never built."

STATE TRACTION OPINION IS FILED WITH U. S. COURT

An opinion of the Illinois commerce commission, generally approving plans to have the newly created metropolitan transit authority buy and operate the surface and elevated lines under municipal ownership, was filed yesterday in the Federal District court. Contents of the opinion were made public at Springfield on Monday.

The opinion had been requested by Judge Michael L. Igoe. The commission, headed by John D. Biggs, asserted that the so-called trustees plan which would unify the lines under private enterprise would be unable to rehabilitate the properties and furnish adequate transportation.

The metropolitan authority is to be governed by a seven man board, three appointed by Gov. Green and four by Mayor Kelly. Each must approve the other's appointees. Philip Harrington, city subway commissioner; Ald. Quinn [50th], and Philip W. Collins, state revenue director, have been mentioned as likely appointees.

SMELL OF DEATH UPON 2,000,000 IN BERLIN RUINS

BY DREW MIDDLETON
[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

PARIS, June 6—The city of Berlin, lying dead and unburied under the sunlight, is a sombre reminder of what another war will mean to cities and that the end of western urban civilization is no longer an empty phrase but a terrible fact already within the grasp of mankind.

The Russians have tried to bring some order out of the chaos of Berlin. They have succeeded in pushing most of the debris off the more important streets—it lies chest high on others—starting bus and trolley lines in some of the outlying sections, and repairing the water supply in some areas.

But what has been done is merely makeshift, as water pipes lying on the pavements testify. After traveling thru the city Tuesday, this correspondent believes it will take a generation or more to rebuild Berlin.

2,000,000 Live in Ruins

Approximately 2,000,000 people of the pre-war population of 4,500,000—the Russians are as yet not sure of the exact figure—are now living in and around scenes of destruction which surpass anything the world has ever seen.

In many sections it is not a question of craters or shattered houses; it is merely one of height of the hills of rubble. These enormous pyramids of red-yellow are all that is left of thousands of buildings. Evidently the Germans hoped to transport the rubble out of the city. They never had sufficient time to complete the job.

Over the Tiergarten you can look in any direction and see nothing except emptiness and desolation. At a time when the lights are going on in cities which are alive, shadows creeping across the face of Berlin are unrelieved by any light.

Those areas which appear only partially damaged from the street are revealed as heavily damaged from the air, for there is nothing except space behind the walls.

There is a peculiar feeling that one is seeing the world in its twilight when you drive thru the worst damaged parts of Berlin, altho the sun was bright and the day fair, the penetrating odor of all heavily bombed cities composed of a peculiar musty smell of debris and the sweetly nauseating smell of death prevailed everywhere.

Only the Rubble Differs

The sameness of the streets is terrifying. Your car moves for block after block and the only difference is in the piles of rubble or the number of small, jagged-edged bits of wall still standing. In other areas less badly damaged, a few families manage to live in cellars and in battered lower stories of burned out buildings.

Their eyes are dull, their movements slow and deliberate like those of people moving in a dream, their clothes worn and unkempt. Old men—there are no young men—are unshaven. These people are living on meagre rations and they have no fuel.

Berliners are eager to talk to Americans. A colonel who stopped his car Tuesday to inquire the way to the airport was surrounded by a swarm of people who came shuffling out of cellars and hovels of debris.

It was amazing, he said, but there were no signs in their faces of any emotion except curiosity.

Relax Fraternization Ban for Y'anks in Germany

PARIS, June 6 (AP)—American troops now are permitted to buy certain nonrationed articles in German stores, send out laundry and "mingle with displaced persons and other allied nationals inside Germany" at their own risk, Stars and Stripes said today. The army newspaper said these were results of new interpretations of Gen. Eisenhower's nonfraternization policy.

63 HOSPITALS OF ARMY GIVE SPECIALIZED AID

Returning Patients Get Treatment Needed

The army's 63 general hospitals in this country are filling to capacity as the number of returning overseas sick and wounded increases.

Hospital ships, planes, and transports are arriving every day at American ports of debarkation in the army's program of evacuating all transportable wounded from Europe within the next 90 days.

In addition, Okinawa wounded already have begun arriving at hospitals within the United States.

Flood Balks Army Plan

To the thousands of homesick Yanks who are disappointed at not being sent to hospitals near home, Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, surgeon general of the army, has issued this statement:

"It is the policy of the army medical department whenever possible to send the wounded soldier to a hospital near his home. However, in view of the increased evacuation of patients to this country, it is now impossible to send all patients to hospitals near their homes."

Primary considerations, he said, are to send the wounded to hospitals where they will receive the best treatment for their particular wounds, and where beds still are available.

Many of the army general hospitals have reached capacity patient loads.

Southern Hospital Crowded

Kennedy General at Memphis, Tenn., one of the largest of the army hospitals, with a bed capacity of 4,546, has approximately 5,200 patients and is expected to have 6,000 by the end of the month, said Col. Albert E. McEvers, hospital commanding officer.

The general hospitals have been designated by the surgeon general as specialized treatment centers, giving definitive care in their various specialties.

Those listed as amputation centers are Percy Jones General hospital, Battle Creek, Mich., Walter Reed at Washington, D. C.; Bushnell General, Brigham City, Utah; England General, Atlantic City, N. J., Lawson General, Atlanta, Ga.; McCloskey General, Temple, Tex., and McGuire General, Richmond, Va.

Amputation cases in the army had reached a total of 6,027 last January.

Specialized Hospitals Listed

Hospitals specializing in neural [nerve] and vascular [blood vessel] surgery and neurology are Ashford at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; Baker, Martinsburg, W. Va.; Brooke, Fort Sam Houston, Tex.; Cushing, Framingham, Mass.; DeWitt, Auburn, Cal.; Hammond, Modesto, Cal.; Mayo, Galesburg, Ill.; McCaw, Walla Walla, Wash.; Nichols, Louisville, Ky.; Northington, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; O'Reilly, Springfield, Mo., and Wakeman, Camp Atterbury, Ind.

The five thoracic [chest] surgery centers are Kennedy General; Baxter, Spokane, Wash.; Brooke, Fitzsimmons, Denver, Colo., and Walter Reed.

Plastic surgery centers are Valley Forge at Phoenixville, Penn.; Baker, Beaumont, El Paso, Tex.; Cushing, Northington, and O'Reilly.

Convalescent Home in East

Both Valley Forge and Dibble General, at Menlo Park, Cal., specialize in eye surgery. After medical and surgical treatment is completed blinded veterans are sent to Old Farms Convalescent Home in Avon, Conn., for readjustment.

Bruns General hospital at Santa Fe, N. M., and Fitzsimmons are the only two specializing in tuberculosis; Moore at Swannanoa, N. C., and Harmon at Longview, Tex., in tropical diseases; Borden at Chickasha, Okla., Deshon at Butler, Pa., and Hoff at Santa Barbara, Cal., in hearing ailments.

Darnall General hospital at Danville, Ky., and Mason at Brentwood, N. Y., are the only two hospitals treating nothing but nervous and mental illnesses, the Crile at Cleveland, O., LaGarde at New Orleans, and Vaughan, near Maywood—as well as many others—also have NP [neuropsychotic] sections.

Those specializing in syphilis are Birmingham General at Van Nuys, Cal.; Finney at Thomasville, Ga.; Lovell, at Fort Devens, Mass.; Schick at Clinton, Ia.; Thayer at Nashville, Tenn., and Woodrow Wilson at Staunton, Va.

For Arthritis and Rheumatism

Arthritis centers are at the Army and Navy General Hospital, Hot Springs, Ark., and Ashburn at McKinney, Tex.; rheumatic fever centers are at Foster hospital, Jackson, Miss., and Torney, Palm Springs, Cal.

Barnes at Vancouver, Wash., and Billings at Indianapolis, Ind., specialize in histopathology [tissue pathology]. Those for general medicine are Battey at Rome, Ga.; Fletcher at Cambridge, O.; Oliver at Augusta, Ga.; Rhoads at Utica, N. Y.; Tilton at Fort Dix, N. J., and Winter at Topeka, Kas.

Many of the army's general hospitals specialize in more than one field and most of them are equipped to handle general orthopedic cases.

Army debarkation hospitals are Halloran at Staten Island, N. Y.; Stark at Charleston, S. C., and Letterman at San Francisco, Cal.

Of the 108 hospitals maintained by the army, the navy, and the army air forces, 27 are in the western coastal states and Idaho, and 64 are east of the Mississippi river. Not shown on the accompanying map are navy hospitals at Corpus Christi, Tex., and Norman, Okla. Army air forces convalescent hospitals are at Denver, Colo., and San Antonio, Tex.

The navy maintains a total of 41 hospitals and 12 convalescent centers, with 100,000 bed capacity, and the army air forces a total of 11 hospitals, with a 15,000 bed capacity.

NAZIS BELITTLED IT; PARIS SANG; IT WAS D-DAY

BY ROBERT SAGE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, June 6—Before me as I write this is a crumpled copy of a Paris morning paper, dated June 6, 1944. A two column headline in small type announces that "in order to avert destruction of the Eternal city Rome has been evacuated." The remainder of the front page is devoted to routine German propaganda stories and distorted war news. Nowhere is there the slightest hint that a few hours before the paper appeared the allies had landed on the beaches of Normandy.

The first printed news that this was the allies' long-awaited D-day was carried in the evening papers, all of which ran the same three cautious paragraphs under a Berlin dateline, admitting allied troops had landed. It was only the next morning that Propaganda Minister Goebbels' propaganda services began blustering about a German "defensive victory," the repulse of the allies "everywhere except one place," 25,000 allied casualties, and impending German counter-measures.

Great Story Strangely Told

I was in Paris that June 6 and I shall never forget it. It was a thrill that comes once in a lifetime when I turned on the radio at breakfast and heard a well mannered English voice saying calmly, "Supreme headquarters, allied expeditionary forces, announces that the war has entered a new phase...." It was a strange way to introduce the biggest news story in history and it took a few seconds for the fact to sink in that what I had been waiting for so long had really happened.

The London broadcast in English came out an hour and a half before the French broadcast from London, but Parisians already had an inkling of what was going on from vague and embarrassed items put out by the German controled Paris radio.

When I went outdoors I found the whole atmosphere of the city had changed over night. There was no outright demonstration of elation but one somehow had the impression that pedestrians were bouncing along the streets instead of merely walking. Every face was radiant and whenever persons passed one another each seemed to wink happily. The few Germans visible tried hard to act as tho nothing had happened, but only appeared very preoccupied.

Their Greatest Days

After the first few days of blissful calm in public and excited gossip behind locked doors, Parisians began worrying. The weather turned stormy and for weeks the skies continued to be overcast. The radio talked less and less of massive allied air attacks and news of the battle's progress grew scarcer. Then came Cherbourg and Avranches, and after that the issue was never in doubt.

The period between June 6 and Aug. 25 last year is probably the most thrilling in the memory of living Parisians.

Today the people of Paris relived in memory their emotions of one year ago. It was a holiday and newspapers ran photographs of the allied landings in Normandy and long memoirs of the event. The consultative assembly threw a big party in Luxembourg gardens and men of the Maquis held a mass meeting.

D-DAY VETERANS HONOR GIs WHO DIED AT BEACHES

PARIS, June 6 (AP)—The first anniversary of the allied landings on the Normandy beaches found the victorious allies enjoying a holiday today in simple observance of the memorable date.

At famous Omaha beach, where the 1st and 29th American infantry divisions stormed ashore, a simple ceremony, including reenactment of the H-hour landings, was held jointly by the 5th and 6th engineering special brigades, two of the first units to land. Many veterans of the landing took part in honor of those who had died on the beaches.

The American flag was raised at noon over what is believed to be the first pillbox captured by the allies.

At Utah beach, which was stormed by the fourth division as the 82d and 101st air borne divisions battled for a linkup after dropping inland, there were other ceremonies.

All military establishments thruout the European theater were on Sunday schedules. There were no bands, parades, or long speeches.

CLAIM 'SHADOW GOVERNMENT' ACTS IN POLAND

LONDON, June 6 (AP)—The Polish telegraph agency said today that an underground "shadow goverment," loyal to the Polish government in London, was "continuing its activity in Poland as the spearhead of the Polish independence and democratic movement."

Despite the arrest by the Russians of the 16 Polish leaders who headed the resistance movement during the nazi occupation, new leaders have been found and are "performing their duties," the agency declared.

The Moscow radio said that five representatives of Poles in western Europe told Boleslaw Bierut, president of the provisional Polish government in Warsaw, that the return of millions of Poles was being hindered by the exiled administration in London.

A Good Name

It is wealth . . . that cannot be stolen.

It is fortune . . . that cannot be bought.

It is honor and character, impossible to imitate, impossible to cheapen.

It is integrity.

And it is pride.

A man feels it when he labors with his own hands, and offers his product for sale. His name is on that product. His good name is born and sustained with that product.

A company is no different from a man.

If it has a good name . . . it has wealth untold, honor and character unsullied, integrity unbroken.

It has pride . . . in itself, in its products, in its good name.

Let no one tell you that there is ever an excuse for the loss of a good name.

Not cost, not hardship, not the lure of temporary profit.

CAMPAIGN GUNS TURNED UPON QUEBEC, ONTARIO

Draft Remains Issue in Canadian Drive

BY ARTHUR EVANS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MONTREAL, Que., June 6—The struggle between the Liberals, headed by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, and the Progressive-Conservatives, led by John Bracken, former Manitoba premier for 20 years, is centered in Quebec and Ontario as Monday's national election draws near.

Together the two provinces contain almost two-thirds of the dominion's population, and normally they head in opposite directions politically. It is somewhat like the difference between the middle west and the east in American politics.

In Ontario, 72 per cent of the people are of English, Irish, and Scottish origin. Of all the provinces it has been the most consistently Conservative, or Tory, until the landslide for the Liberals in the national balloting 1935 and 1940.

Quebec Liberal Stronghold

Quebec's population contains more than 80 per cent of French-Canadians, and the province has been the traditional Liberal stronghold. Quebec has 65 seats in the Canadian house of commons, which selects the prime minister, and Ontario has 82 seats.

Both major parties are acclaiming results of Ontario's provincial election last Monday, in which Premier George Drew, Conservative, won, as betokening success for them in the federal voting next Monday.

Both sides say the nosedive of the Coöperative Commonwealth Federation rang the bell for state socialism and showed the voters are for sound, stable government with a workable majority. Liberals hold this trend will aid Prime Minister King. Conservatives shout it means Bracken will win.

The Conservatives are putting a great burst of activity into an attempt to capitalize on the Ontario election. Ontario Premier Drew has gone west and in speeches is saying it shows the people will reject the Liberals.

Bracken is telling the voters his party will get more votes than the Liberals in every province.

Draft Still Is Issue

Prime Minister King is emphasizing post-war problems as outstanding issues and pointing to measures already put into law by his administration. The conscription issue, however, is still a warm one in the campaign, especially in Quebec.

The Liberals in 1940 were against conscription and in 1942 took a plebiscite. Conscription carried, except in Quebec, which voted overwhelmingly against it. The Conservatives were for it.

Both parties are now acclaiming in speeches the French-Canadian regiments that volunteered for overseas service and their high records in battle.

The many small parties that have mushroomed are being deplored by the politicians as cluttering up the election and interfering with sound government. Le Jour, a French language paper, is urging the two-party system, as in the United States, as embodying "the greatest stability, security and common sense."

HOUSING FUND OF 10 MILLIONS IS APPROVED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., June 6—The house appropriations committee today recommended passage of a senate bill to appropriate 10 million dollars for public housing, to be matched by local governments. Approximately half the sum would go to Chicago.

An amendment was adopted which provides that local governments could create new agencies and land clearance commissions to enter slum clearance work. Like housing authorities, the commissions could purchase, clear, and replat property. The commissions, however, could not construct and operate housing projects but would be required to sell the land to private builders or housing authorities for development.

Temple McFayden, chairman of the state housing board, said that the land clearance commissions were designed for downstate communities, many of which haven't been interested in public housing, but that one could be appointed in Chicago if Mayor Kelly wishes.

DAY by DAY on the FARM of BEN MARKLAND

June 6, 1945.

JUNE traditionally brings the first evidences of summer time, and this year is no exception. Despite the cool weather and light frosts which endangered Chicagoland gardens early in the week, many of the standard symbols of June are evident in the farm woodlots and on rural roadsides, promising that warm weather is on the way.

Nature's Floral Display

The wildflowers that have come into bloom this week mean midsummer to the outdoor fan, even if the thermometer drops to the 30s. The first clumps of ox-eye daisies are showing their white petals along open roadsides and in sunny fields.

Joining the daisies in some of the displays are the coarse wild yellow parsnips and the large basal leaves of the compass plants are dotting farm fence corners. Along open roadsides are the white and light pink flowers of the delicate daisy fleabanes which the pioneers gathered and hung over their doorways to repel flies and other insects. The wild yarrow and bladder campion are other white summer flowers also on disyplay for the first time this season.

Two other wild growths that were of value to western Indians and pioneer settlers now are in flower. One is the wild hyacinth, which produces an edible bulbous root that commonly was cooked as a substitute potato by the Indians of Idaho and Utah.

Useful Wild Plants

This same root, sometimes called quamash, also was cooked by members of the Lewis and Clark expedition when their food supplies were depleted. The flower is similar to that of the cultivated hyacinth, its pale blue, six petaled flowers being borne on tall spikes.

The second useful woodlot growth in evidence this week is the wild blackberry. The long, willowy canes of these plants now are bearing clusters of attractive white flowers, and when their fruits mature in late summer they will be used on farm tables and in the preparation of delicious jelly.

Of all this week's new wildflowers, the ox-eye daisy undoubtedly is the most common and the most unwelcome. To city folks it's the pretty white daisy with the yellow center, but to farmers it is a pernicious weed in hay and grain fields. It also may become established in lawns, forming a tough, thick mat that survives constant mowing as well as spraying with weed killing chemicals.

★The GARDEN★

TOMATO mosaic is one of the most common diseases in tomato plantings, but usually is not identified by the amateur gardener. This virus disease causes the leaves to become mottled in color and distorted or crumpled in shape, causing most gardeners to conclude that there is a deficiency of moisture or that insects are attacking the plant. Dosages of water or applications of spray materials have no effect on the progress of the disease.

Fruits of plants affected with tomato mosaic are normal in color and shape. They usually are smaller, however, and the yield per plant is reduced in infested patches.

The most common cause of tomato mosaic is the handling of tomato plants after handling tobacco in any form. The disease is highly infectious, and affects both tobacco and tomatoes. Gardeners should wash their hands thoroly after smoking if they are going to work in the tomato patch.

RIGGS CARRIES BALL IN 2 ZONES OF EUROPE'S WAR

PARIS, June 6 (AP)—Lt. Col. Tommy Riggs of Huntington, W. Va., captain of the 1940 University of Illinois football team, was disclosed by 15th army group headquarters today to have fought the Germans on the eastern front as well as the western.

Headquarters said he was captured by the Germans in the Ardennes on Dec. 22 escaped and joined the Russians in battle for a short time before returning to his outfit by way of Africa.

After a 110 mile march he was taken to a camp near Berlin and transferred to an officers' camp in Poland. The Germans abandoned the Polish camp in the face of the Russian advance and started to march the prisoners back to Germany.

On the first night of the march Riggs escaped and slipped 15 miles thru the German lines until he met some friendly Poles. He made contact with the Red army two days later. Joining up with a Russian tank unit, he fought against the Germans for 10 days. Then he was sent to the rear.

Boarding a British ship at Odessa, Riggs went to Port Said, Naples, Marseilles, and than to Paris and finally rejoined the 106th division in Germany.

He has been awarded the silver star for gallantry at St. Vith and the purple heart for wounds in the same action.

Riggs' wife lives at 802 Daniel st., Champaign, Ill. She is the daughter of State Superintendent of Instruction V. L. Nickell.

STUDENT SEIZED AS BLACKMAILER IN MURDER CASE

Herbert Gold, 17, of 1549 S. Spaulding av., a pupil in Washburne Continuation school, was arrested yesterday because, police said, he tried to make some easy money out of the Morton Stein murder case.

Herbert Gold

Stein, 16, was beaten and stabbed to death in his room in the Stevens hotel May 11. Since then police have been searching for his roommate, Donald Jay Cook, 15, of 1031 Bryn Mawr av.

Four days ago Cook's mother, Mrs. Isabel Edwards, received a telephone call in which the caller demanded $1,000 not to divulge the whereabouts of her son. She pretended to be interested, offered $500, and set yesterday for the collection. Then Mrs. Edwards notified police. At the appointed time Gold appeared. He was seized by waiting police. Detectives said later that Gold knew nothing of the murder or of Cook's whereabouts.

ADVANCE BILL THAT MIGHT HIKE CITY'S TAX RATE

2 Committees OK Higher Pegged Levy

BY GEORGE TAGGE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., June 6—Angry spokesmen for taxpayers' groups today protested in vain against a higher pegged tax levy bill, which they said is part of a program that will give Chicago the highest comparative tax rate of any city in the United States.

Appearing before the municipalities committees of the senate and the house, the witnesses failed to block advancement of the measure. Republicans have majorities on the committees but most of them stayed away or did not vote against the Democrats.

Rep. Rategan [D., Chicago], Mayor Kelly's spokesman, remarked with a grin that the bill proposes "a small change in just one figure" in the present law—from 37 to 41 million dollars a year. There was no parallel humor in testimony of taxpayers' spokesmen.

"Out of Clear Sky"

"Our understanding was that there would be no increase," said Douglas Sutherland, executive secretary of the Civic Federation of Chicago.

"This bill came out of a clear sky.

"The latest estimate, including the 50 million dollars in bond issues voted in Monday's referendum, indicated that the 1945 tax rate would be $4.25 compared with $3.90 for 1944. With this bill added the rate will be $4.28—the highest comparative tax rate in the country.

"Chicago faces a serious situation. Along with the rapid heavy increase in tax, we have a rapid decrease in taxable value. Since 1933 taxes have gone up nearly 51 million dollars a year, or 31 per cent, while the assessed valuation of property has decreased 19 per cent."

Gorman Defense Challenged

Sutherland challenged the defense of Al Gorman, Chicago assistant corporation counsel, that the pegged levy increase is justified in the light of increases for state government.

"Those state increases would not have been voted if the money had not been on hand and in sight," he said.

In addition to the 50 million dollar city and park district bond issues, opponents mentioned the public ownership traction plan that will shift 4 million dollars in taxes from street car and elevated lines to other property owners and a program for tax exempt city owned public housing which could take hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of real estate from the tax rolls.

"Ghost Town" Feared

Frank J. Bilek, president of the Cook County Civic Council, was among spokesmen for three other taxpayers' groups.

"Where is the money coming from?" Bilek demanded. "Can't you remember that rents are frozen? The highest tax rate in the country will be mighty poor advertising for Chicago. At the rate people are moving to the suburbs, it will become a ghost town."

Also recommended for passage by the house committee was a bill to provide pensions for elected city officials, including Mayor Kelly and the aldermen.

"This reminds me of the European feudal system," Bilek said. "Over there, once a man has been knighted or given some high place in government, the poor people are compelled to support him and his descendants indefinitely."

Rategan said that since judges are pensioned, it will be only consistent to give pensions to city officials.

NAB BEAR HATER FOR KILLING TWO GAME WARDENS

Skulls of 40 'Varmits' Found on Fence

Waycross, Ga., June 6 [Special]—A one man campaign to exterminate the bears of the Okefenokee swamp was at an end today with the bear hater in the Ware county jail here charged with murdering two United States rangers assigned to protecting the wild animals.

The prisoner is Oliver Thrift, 64, a wizened and barefoot farmer, whose farm adjoins the government's 700,000 acre wild life refuge in the swamp.

Officers who went to the farm late yesterday to arrest him found forty gleaming white skulls atop fence posts marking the boundary between the farm and the game refuge.

Killed His Cattle

"Those, suh, are bear skulls," Thrift said with a trace of pride. "Those varmints have been killing my cattle and I've been taking a shot at every one I could find."

Thrift admitted without hesitation that last Saturday he shot and killed two rangers who surprised him while he was on a bear hunt in the swamp. He said the rangers tried to arrest him and chased him when he ran.

"I ran as far as I could, and when I couldn't run any farther, I stopped and shot them both," he was quoted by D. K. Brown, special agent in charge of the Savannah field division of the federal bureau of investigation.

Feuded with Ranger's Family

Thrift was arraigned today before United States Commissioner Alma F. Hardy and held without bond for a hearing Monday. His victims were Andrew Crews, 36, and Joe Daniel Martin, 40, the latter a member of a family with whom Thrift admitted "feuding" for years.

Thrift, who has a wife and three children, was in his home when officers came for him, and put up no resistance.

MICHIGAN FRUIT CROP PRESENTS SLIM PROSPECT

A survey of fruit prospects in Michigan presents a dreary outlook for Chicago housewives who depend on that state for much of their canning material, L. A. Boyd, director of the Michigan Fruit sponsors, said yesterday. The survey indicated the sour cherry crop near Traverse City will be only 30 per cent of normal; apples 30 per cent, and sweet cherries 50 per cent of normal. In southwestern Michigan the outlook is for a sour cherry crop 25 per cent of normal; sweet cherries, 30 per cent; peaches, 75 per cent; apples, 10 per cent; plums, 15 per cent; pears, 10 per cent; strawberries, 40 per cent; raspberries, normal; tomatoes, 75 per cent, and almost no crop of grapes, Boyd said.

HEART BALM ACT VALIDITY IS HIT IN $300,000 SUIT

Constitutionality of the 1935 Illinoise anti-heart balm act was attacked yesterday in federal District court here.

The brief was filed by Atty. Urban A. Lavery, who represents Mrs. Olive Means Daily, 45, of Oil City, Pa., in her suit seeking $300,000 damages from Mrs. Marian Lammers Parker, 42, of 77 Cedar st. Mrs. Daily charged Mrs. Parker, the wife of a navy officer, with alienation of affections, enticement, and criminal conversation [illicit relationship] with her husband, Wilfred J. Daily of 71 Cedar st.

In reviewing the history of the anti-heart balm act, Lavery stated that the Illinois Supreme court already has ruled one phase of it unconstitutional and that Judge Frank M. Padden in Superior court has held the entire act unconstitutional.

FLEMING ASSAILS BILL TO EXTEND LIBRARY LEASE

Says Memorial Hall to Be Kept Forever

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., June 6.—Memorial hall in the Chicago public library will be maintained in perpetuity in honor of Civil war soldiers, Chairman Joseph Fleming of the library board, testified today before the house committee of the whole.

Fleming vigorously opposed a bill requiring the library to extend for 100 years a lease with the Grand Army of the Republic association for the Memorial hall and connected offices and assembly hall.

Legally, the bill would violate the state and federal constitutions, Fleming said, because it would take public property and turn it over to a private organization without compensation to the taxpayers.

Rent Is $10 Yearly

For $10 rental a year the library has been giving use of the premises to the G. A. R. The 50 year lease will expire Jan. 1, 1948. During that time the library will have spent $400,000 for construction and decoration of the G. A. R. space, and more than $300,000 for heat, electricity, and service.

In recent years the library has been compelled to rent space in the vicinity at $2,500 a year, Fleming said. He said the library needs an additional 9,000 square feet of space.

Unsuitable for Large Body

Referring to informal discussions that the G. A. R. premises should become available to veterans of World War II, Fleming said the setup is entirely unsuitable for a group expected to number about 400,000 in Chicago.

Oscar Carlstrom of Aledo, a veteran of World War I, said that a century-long renewal of the lease would "command the respect of veterans thruout the nation." As to library requirements for space, he contended that the central library has been overbuilt and should transfer more of its business to branch libraries.

Are you really trying?"

• Frankly, dear lady, we've a problem—you and I. I want to give you the very best service, but I can't do it without your help. They're all little things, really, but they add up into an awfully big thing when you . . . and everyone . . . does them. So, just as a reminder . . . here are a few of the things you can do to help me, your ice cream dealer, and yourself as well!

Plan ahead. Make a list of your needs before you shop. Be ready with alternates in case something you want is not available. There's plenty available—but it takes planning.

Shop early when stores are less crowded, if you can. Avoid the Friday and Saturday peaks when your dealer may be too busy to give you the prompt service he'd like to.

Be patient. Your dealer is doing his level best to serve you efficiently, but shortages of help and merchandise sometimes make it difficult.

Carry your own parcels. Bring your own shopping bag. The paper shortage is still acute and you'll be doing a real service if you cooperate cheerfully.

And then, you deserve a treat! Delicious Swift's Ice Cream in a sundae or a soda is just what you need! It's so good, it's worth waiting for—even if you can't get it every time! Remember, it's refreshingly yours!

THE BERLIN FIASCO

Only two American newspaper men were permitted to attend the meeting of the four allied commanders in Berlin on Tuesday. At the time this decision was announced it seemed pretty clear that the purpose was concealment. The events of Tuesday can leave no doubt about it.

The two correspondents did their very considerable best to cover the story, but inevitably they left many little and some big questions unanswered. Why did the Russians who had previously agreed to the text of the declaration suddenly discover faults in it? And why did the Russians refuse to go to work at once on the problems of governing Germany during the occupation tho it had been universally understood that a start would be made immediately after the formal preliminaries of signing the document had been completed?

Two newspaper men whose chief responsibility it was to record a series of events and official utterances had no time left in which to inquire into motives and purposes. If the whole corps of correspondents had been permitted to attend, some of them could have left the description of the outward show to their colleagues and devoted their own time to finding out what was really happening. They might not have succeeded, but the Russians who were in charge of the show were taking no chances.

Of course it isn't hard to guess what upset the arrangements. The Russians insist that before discussions begin the other allies must withdraw their forces from across the Elbe. The intimation is plain that Stalin intends to take action that will be displeasing to his allies; he wants to be sure that they will be in no position to interfere with his plans.

He has already set up a puppet government in Berlin and another in Vienna. He had agreed with his allies on a joint regime of occupation in both places, but his acts evidence a purpose to confront us with an accomplished fact of a different nature. His army is already on hand. His governments will be organized and in control when the allied generals arrive. There will be nothing for them to do but accept his satellite Germans and Austrians who will take their instructions not from a joint military board, representing all the allies, but from the Russians only. The refusal of the Russians to play ball with their allies in Berlin on Tuesday would fit neatly into a plan to incorporate eastern Germany and Austria permanently within the soviet sphere, regardless of the popular will and the will of the allies.

That this is Stalin's purpose we do not doubt, any more than we doubt his purpose to keep control in one form or another of the Baltic states, Poland, Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania, and most of Yugoslavia. This will not make for peace or prosperity in Europe. It will assure the presence in the heart of Europe of 100 million or more discontented, thwarted, and oppressed people.

Another war appears to be in the making. We hope that if it comes Americans will have the good sense to realize that our participation in it is not likely to solve any problems. The experience of the last two wars to end war ought to have taught us something.

POSTOFFICE CENSORS

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington has decided that Postmaster General Walker had no right to withhold the second class mail privileges of the magazine Esquire. Speaking for the court, Judge Thurman Arnold said that congress didn't confer powers of censorship upon Mr. Walker, and if it had, the grant would have been unconstitutional. Judge Arnold's opinion is welcome. We hope the postoffice department will take it to heart.

The Esquire case is a curious one. The magazine was originally called upon to defend itself before a departmental board against the charge of publishing obscenities. The board decided in favor of the magazine but Mr. Walker refused to accept the recommendation of his subordinates. Instead, he ordered the second class privilege withdrawn, not, however on the ground that the contents of the magazine were lewd, but because he didn't find them educational and uplifting. The appeal to the courts followed.

The business of the postoffice is to carry the mails. The proper remedy, and the only proper remedy, for obscenity, is a trial before a jury with a view not to suppressing a publication but to punishing the men responsible for the offense. Judge Arnold and his colleagues performed a most useful service in the cause of liberty when they reminded the postmaster general that he has no right to meddle in questions of taste.

The case is interesting from another viewpoint. Esquire has been distinguished not only for its adolescent preoccupation with sex but also for its hospitality to left-wing writing. The editors of the magazine may profitably reflect that if the fellow travelers had had their way there would have been no appeal to the courts from the burocrat and certainly no appeal on constitutional grounds.

BR'ER FOX GETS THE VEAL

Oregon dairy farmers, it is reported from Portland, are giving away their day old bull calves to fox breeders instead of feeding the calves for veal. This should make some very fine furs.

Most of the veal in this country comes from dairy herds. Dairy herds have a surplus of bull calves, because of the simple biological fact that while there are as many bull calves born as heifer calves, cows are not monogamous.

Milk is bringing its highest price in history. The price of veal is kept down by an OPA ceiling. Calves, for the first few weeks of life at least, live principally on milk. [They have to be at least six weeks old in most states before it is permissible to slaughter them for veal.] If a dairyman can get more for his milk in a can than he can by turning it into veal, he's going to give his bull calves to a fox farmer, and there will be that much less veal in the butcher shops.

You don't have to be a fathead to be an OPA official, but it helps. Actually, of course, the diversion of meat animals from the market at a time when the country is suffering a meat famine is a demonstration of the futility of price fixing, no matter how intelligently administrated. In a free market, if there were a meat shortage, the farmers would fatten the calves and people would have to pay a higher price for the veal. They would get the veal, however. Under the present planned society, the price for veal is low, but there isn't any veal.

This is the sort of utopia that the little minds in the bureaus of Washington hope to inflict permanently on the American people.

ANOTHER UNNECESSARY DRAFT

The Red Cross has announced that it has been informed by the army and navy that they now have all the nurses they need, and that it may, therefore, halt enlistments. Not so long ago the war and navy departments were demanding legislation to permit them to draft nurses, just as they were joining the administration in clamoring for authority to conscript labor. The man power draft has become a dead issue, and the draft of nurses will now pass into limbo without notice or regret.

The defeat of Germany, of course, has altered a great many things, but it was in the cards when these measures were being advocated with such fervor. There was never any doubt of the ability of this country to fill all war production requirements thru the voluntary, patriotic response of the people. There was little better reason to doubt that once the need for expert nursing of our wounded was made manifest there would be a sufficient response.

Events have proved that it was never necessary to have embarked on either of these coercive courses. Not until May 27, however, did Undersecretary of War Patterson concede that congress might cease consideration of the nurse draft bill. Mr. Patterson and his chief, Secretary Stimson, had also been bitter-enders in the unsuccessful attempt to put over the slave labor bill. Their natural way of doing business is to induce support of the war by waving a club.

The history of these two misconceived drafts provides a useful insight into the mentality of army and navy management. The civilian officials of the departments, as well as the generals and admirals, have proceeded all thru this war on the theory that no reasonable limit should be put upon any procurement program, whether governing material and supplies or man power. They have always reached for a shovel when a teaspoon would do.

After shouting to the skies that there was an acute shortage of material to fight the war with Germany they wound up in Europe with 750,000 tons of unexpended ammunition. A few months ago they were saying that there wasn't enough labor to go around. Now the administration is urging record unemployment payments. When a two front war engaged us, combined forces of about 12,300,000 men were thought sufficient to handle half a dozen enemy countries. Now that a single enemy country is left in the fight it is asserted that we cannot carry the job thru to a finish without keeping 11 million men under arms.

The war production program is being carried along almost at full blast, with few significant authorizations for industrial reconversion to civilian needs. Meanwhile, past policies of production for production's sake, with unintelligent planning of volume and type of military requirements, have left the surplus property board with a mammoth task of disposing of leftover material at sacrifice prices.

Years after the war is over, congressional investigating committees will still be busy trying to calculate the waste in the management of the war. In short range terms, the policy of grabbing and hoarding machines, labor, material, and great numbers of men in uniform will have predictable consequences. The more the Washington managers seize, and the longer they hold it, the more disastrous will be the dislocation when Japan's defeat faces us with the transition to peace time conditions.

It would be the part of wisdom for those who are running the war to begin scaling down their demands to actual needs, to begin releasing whatever they don't need, and to begin preparing to cushion the coming shock by freeing and reviving the civilian economy. If war needs are brought into reasonable balance with civilian needs, the nation will be able to ease itself back into peace time conditions with far less of a jolt than is in store for it as long as present policies apply.

COMIC OPERA JAPAN

It happens that the most popular comic opera in the history of the Anglo-American stage is Japanese of atmosphere and story, altho completely English in its sense of humor. We refer, of course, to the immortal "Mikado," which covered the world like a Hollywood film when its vogue was at flood tide. Its first London showing was in 1885; its first run there scored 672 performances.

* * *

The lore of "The Mikado" has been reprinted so often that we will not dwell upon it. The fact that it contains a Lord High Executioner and quizzical remarks about beheading may be regarded as testimony to Japanese bloodthirstiness, but on the other hand Mr. Gilbert, the librettist, was a sadistic jester. See his "Yeomen of the Guard," which deals with merry England, for another illustration of his bent toward chopping blocks, axes, and instruments of torture.

* * *

In the year after "The Mikado's" birth Willard Spenser, an American composer, caught the public's fancy with "The Little Tycoon." This title, however, is misleading, for the scenes are entirely American. A character invades a garden party disguised as the Great Tycoon, with attendant chorus girls in Japanese costumes. Let's skip this one; it is not to the point, altho it may serve to warn a school of smart-aleck writers that tycoons are no novelty.

* * *

In 1896 Sidney Jones, an English composer, contributed "The Geisha" to the innocent merriment of the Anglo-Saxon breed. Characters: O Mimosa San, a teahouse hostess; geisha girls, English tourists, naval officers, and a Japanese marquis. A few of the song titles: "Happy Japan," "The Amorous Goldfish," "I'm the Smartest Little Geisha in Japan." This was a neat and pretty frolic, often revived. . . . Composer Jones' later and greater hit, "San Toy," was of Chinese atmosphere. Marie Tempest, whose career was long and brilliant, sang the leading role in both of these works.

* * *

In 1904 Gustav Luders, of Chicago and Milwaukee, composed "The Shogun" to George Ade's libretto. The scene was the imaginary island of Ka-Choo, near Korea. The shogun's name was Flal-Hal; other characters were Hanki-Pank, Omee-Omi, Hunni-Bun, and Hi-Faloot. The plot dealt with an invasion of Japan by an American chewing gum salesman.

ART FOR WHOSE SAKE?

Diana is a work of art
Unknown alike to picture mart
And art museum. Her technique:
A splash of scarlet 'cross each cheek,
Mascara'd lashes, blue-smudged eyes,
Brows deftly arched to feign surprise,
Enameled nails, lips cupid-bowed,
Hair tinted in the modern mode,
Slim legs o'erlaid with mock sun tan
From tube, jar, bottle, box, and can.

Might frighten Michelangelo;
But even that old boy'd admit
She has a gorgeous frame for it. Hig

D-DAY ANNIVERSARY

For many weeks and months each side well knew
The battle would be joined on some dread coast,
And that of stalwart bodies not a few
Would then and there yield up the valiant ghost.
And so, indeed, it proved in Normandy
When that old battleground teemed once again
With strife as crucial as might ever be
In age-long history of fighting men.

But beachheads were secured, and in a year
Great armies scoured historic hill and plain,
Reclaiming treasures, freeing folk from fear;
At last the foe could not endure his pain.
The year is ready now for history's page—
But who can now its purport rightly gauge?

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

T. Y. writes: "I have lost my honorable discharge certificate. Is there any way I can obtain a copy? I never had it recorded."

If your service was in the army, write to the adjutant general, United States Army, Washington, D. C., and ask for a form 0214. If you were in the navy, marine corps, or coast guard, write to the bureau of navy personnel, navy department, Washington, and ask for form N. Nav. 121.

Mrs. G. B. writes: "My application for emergency maternity and infant care has been approved, and I now find my husband will be discharged from service within a few weeks. Will his discharge cancel the free care, and will we have to pay the bills?"

You still are entitled to maternity care benefits because application was made and accepted when your husband was in service. In addition, when your child is born you will be entitled to infant care benefits. As the law now is interpreted, maternity care benefits cannot be extended to wives after service men have been discharged unless application was made prior to the discharge. Maternity and infant care is available only to wives of aviation cadets and enlisted men in the last four pay grades—private to sergeant—in the army and marine corps, and third class petty officers and below in the navy and coast guard.

WHAT IS RHEUMATIC FEVER?

RHEUMATIC fever is a worldwide affliction and telltale evidence of its previous occurrence can be found in millions of people. We have no idea how many have suffered but it has been estimated that from 350 to 700 cases exist for every 100,000 of the population in the United States alone. The victim is likely to be between the ages of 5 and 9. Adults do not escape but, with age, the risk becomes less. Those with a family history of similar episodes are more susceptible. One attack confers no immunity. In fact, it actually invites recurrences.

Medicine is at a loss as to the cause. Streptococci have been blamed and the virus may play a role. Some authorities believe that the strep germ is the spark which sets the disease off; from there on we become sensitive to the organism and the entire affair is a long-winded allergic reaction. It is even possible, altho never proved, that the malady is contagious and is passed from one predisposed person to another.

One of the strange features of the disorder is that it is more common in certain climates. It favors damp and cold regions, especially those with frequent fluctuations in temperature. Most cases can be found in urban communities in the temperate zone. Perhaps the causative agent flourishes in these localities.

The story of Johnny is typical. One spring he developed sore throat and fever. After a few days in bed, he felt better. By the end of the week his school work was resumed but it was obvious to the teacher that he had not recovered entirely. He looked pale and irritable. During recess, he preferred to stay on the sidelines and, at 3 o'clock, went directly home and took a nap. This was certainly not the old Johnny. Within a week, one knee became painful, red, and swollen. There was a rise in temperature and soon other joints were involved.

"Rheumatic fever," said the doctor. "Let me listen to the heart." The pumping organ was found to be affected. Johnny stayed in bed for two months. Several electrocardiograms and sedimentation rates were taken during this period. When these finally returned to normal and all signs of activity had disappeared he was allowed up. The mother was instructed to curb his exercise. By the end of the summer he was entirely well. He was lucky—the murmur had departed.

Other children are not so fortunate. Jill had a similar experience but her joints did not bother her much. Now and then they ached a little but it was passed off as "growing pains." She was listless, had a poor appetite, failed to gain weight, and suffered an occasional nosebleed. One day she collapsed. Examination disclosed a leakage of the heart and subsequent tests revealed the presence of the ailment.

Time is all important in treating this disease. The patient should stay in bed until all symptoms have vanished. Salicylates are essential and often relieve joint symptoms. A nourishing diet, high in proteins and vitamins, is recommended. The sulfonamides and penicillin are of no value, once the disease has started. Every attempt must be made to prevent future infections, particularly of the nose and throat.

REPLY

REPLY

A disorder of the pituitary gland is believed to be responsible for this form of diabetes.

REPLY

New babes can be pretty vigorous, especially when demanding the 2 a. m. feeding. A physical checkup is in order.

REPLY

Yes—if necessary. The function of this organ can be taken over by others.

Whose Victory Is This?

The news columns are full of accounts of the punctilious manner in which we are returning the defeated Nazi soldiers to their homes. Their conveyances bowl briskly along the highways, officers driving their own cars, many carrying with them their various luxuries and sidearms. It all is in bitter contrast with the hundreds of thousands of displaced persons trudging wearily down the same highways in a sad effort to get to the homes from which they were removed three, four, and five years ago. It is in bitter contrast, too, to the story an American boy writes of what has happened to him since V-E day.

On that day he disembarked on the coast of France. Like all the men on his ship, he was just out of a hospital in England. He had been there two months, having been evacuated from the Ludendorff bridgehead. Prior to that, from D-day on, he had been in almost steady combat.

"V-E day wasn't celebrated by us," he wrote. "We were taken off the ship and were marched eight miles with full field packs in a broiling sun. It was a hard trip, as we all had just been released from hospitals. As we marched along, we saw scores of idle GI trucks and hundreds of army vehicles speeding up and down the roads, empty. I was one of the few who had the honor and privilege of landing in France on D-day and on V-E day; perhaps that is why I weathered it better than most. Many collapsed on the road.

"Right now I have just finished my second ride in a 40 & 8. The first, from Le Havre to Munster, required 40 hours. The second, from Munster to Nuernberg, required four days and three nights. The boxcars in Europe are considerably smaller than those at home, and we were packed in like cattle. You can imagine the sleeping facilities. We couldn't even lie down."

Nocturnal Chicago

Under the darkness of midnight the little group, two women, one carrying an unwieldy bundle, and three men, slipped across N. Clark st. and into Lincoln park. Their steps were hurried. There was something strangely furtive about their manner.

A passerby whose curiosity overwhelmed his good taste followed the solemn group at a discreet distance. One of the men took a small shovel from under his coat and started to dig. The woman with the bundle put it gently on the ground and sat down beside it. The thud of the spade as it struck the ground and the woman's sobs alone broke the silence.

The passerby edged in. "Burying some one?" he asked nosily.

The woman with the bundle raised her tear-stained face. She was middle aged and stocky and her gray hair hung in vagrant wisps. The group was silent.

Then the woman threw back the blanket. "It's Gus," she said. "He died yesterday. No one would come after him and bury him. They all said just put him in the alley and the garbage wagon would carry him off. So we're burying him here where he was the happiest."

Gus was her Scotty.

Dept. of Silly Advice

A young Chicago soldier was due home from overseas, where he had been rescued from a German prison camp. A few days before he was expected, a lady do-gooder came to call on his mother. "Now," she cautioned the mother, "your son is coming home. He won't be the same boy who left. He will be changed. You must treat him differently. You must be very casual with him. Do not pay much attention to him or show him much affection." The little mother, a naturally affectionate person, was puzzled by this, but the fine lady from the do-good organization surely knew best, for she knew all about such matters. So the boy came home. "H'lo," his mother greeted him curtly. "Come on in." For several days this matter-of-fact routine was observed. On the fourth day the boy's sister found him bundled up in a chair crying. "What's the matter?" she asked him. "Aw," he said, "Mom doesn't love me any more. She hasn't shown me a bit of affection since I've been home." Everything is all right now.

SHORT, SHORT PLAY

Gary, Ind., June 2—Scene, local ration board, 1944 [actual scene]:

Clerk—How much canning sugar do you want?

Me—O, we want to can a couple bushels each of peaches and apples, a few berries, and some jam.

Clerk—How about pears?

Me—I doubt that we will want to can pears.

Clerk—Well, I'll put you down for some any way. You may change your mind. How about cherries, grapes, and berries? I better allow you some for that, too. O. K., that will be 20 pounds apiece. We'll mail you the coupons.

Me—Thanks a lot! [Whew!]

Probable scene, local ration board, 1945:

Clerk—How much canning sugar did you apply for last year?

Me—Twenty pounds apiece.

Clerk—Did you can 320 quarts of fruit?

Me—Well, you see it was like this——

Clerk — Listen, you racketeer, we could fine you $10,000 for falsifying your ration application.

Me—But my wife was ill and we only canned about 150 quarts, plus some jam and jelly. Besides, the rest of the sugar was used in cooking and baking.

Clerk—What right have you got to use extra sugar for cooking and baking? If you steal sugar like that you are a criminal. What will the bakery owners do when you quit buying their 50 cent cakes for $1.25? Who do you think you are that you can have home baked food? Don't you know there is a war on? Let your wife leave the kids at home and come up here or go work in a war plant and eat restaurant and bakery food like the rest of us. Besides, Mr. Bowles says many of you people are making bootleg liquor.

Me—But, I'm a deacon in the church.

Clerk—I don't care if you are the archbishop! You are a chiseler. I hope the investigators don't go into this or you will get 10 years in the pen. Now, how much do you actually swear that you will use in 1945 for legitimate purposes?

Me—As a racketeer, criminal, and chiseler, my word probably would not be true. Please forget that I ever asked for anything. Good-by!

THE CAT POUND BILL

Chicago, June 1—Since I am the originator of house bill 338, "to save the song-insectivorous birds by prohibiting the running at large of cats," I hope you will give me the opportunity to clear up several mistaken ideas.

The president of the Beresford Cat club, in a lengthy telephone conversation in which she seemed to be satisfied with the bill after I explained it to her, told me that the cats of her members cost $35 and up, and are never permitted out of the house. The bill has nothing to do with such cats, or any cats that are kept on their owners' premises, whether pet cats, or cats in warehouses and granaries. There isn't even a license fee. The essence of the bill is that a cat repeatedly at large away from the premises of its owner and on other people's premises where it isn't wanted, stalking or killing birds, is a public nuisance and may be picked up and detained for five days in a humane animal shelter, where it can be redeemed by the owner upon payment of $5 in the nesting and migratory season and $1 the rest of the year: What's unfair about that? Most cats at large are tramp cats; yet without a law the most vicious tramp cat, spreading disease, misery, and national loss, can't legally be picked up, because "it might belong to somebody." The bill is far more lenient than the dog laws on the books of every community. The cat is the only animal allowed at large and without law. In ancient Egypt cats were worshiped in temples as holy. Something of that still hangs on.

YOUNG CITIZENS TELL AMBITIONS, TOLD OF DUTIES

W-G-N Honor Students Guests of A. of C.

Fifty-five honor roll students of the W-G-N radio program, Citizens of Tomorrow, who came from as many high schools in five Chicagoland states to be guests of THE TRIBUNE yesterday, had the dual opportunities of telling what they hope to do and of hearing what is expected of them.

They heard about their responsibilities at THE TRIBUNE'S dinner for them last night in Hotel Sherman. Marine Sgt. Ward Walker, who is on military leave from The Tribune editorial staff, pointed up the tasks facing the young men of the group by telling them that they are citizens of today rather than of tomorrow.

Must Guard Democracy

He said: "The young men of your age or a little older make the finest fighting men in the world. In those battles out there in the Pacific, you are not citizens of tomorrow . . . you are citizens of today." Sgt. Walker told of his experiences as a combat correspondent in the Pacific.

Their responsibilities to prepare themselves to guard democracy in the future were emphasized by Maj. Frank Beals, an assistant superintendent of Chicago public schools, who also spoke at the dinner session.

He said the eyes of the young of the world are on the United States because here the ultimate destinies of democracy will be decided.

The honor roll high school seniors had two opportunities to tell what they want to do. The first was in a show, "Parade of Ambition," when they were presented by Philip Maxwell of THE TRIBUNE'S editorial staff to luncheon guests of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Their second chance came in the W-G-N studios where they made a transcription of this season's final Citizens of Tomorrow show which will be aired from 10 to 10:30 a. m. Saturday.

Many Careers Represented

The students—who came from high schools in Chicago, thruout Illinois, and in Iowa, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan—want to be nurses, doctors, research chemists, mathematicians, journalists, dramatic teachers, and journalists. There's one whose ambition is to be a master detective and one who just wants to be a "good, substantial citizen."

Among the girls, teaching, journalism, and the stage or radio appeared to be the chief interests. The boys lean to chemistry, engineering, and medicine, but one wants to be a business man. Several want to go into some kind of Christian work and one young man who wants to be a mechanical engineer, added he would work "with God's will as my blueprint."

The visit closed the sixth season of Citizens of Tomorrow, a program dedicated to high school students in which more than 150,000 of them have participated.

As the group wound up the day in Hotel Sherman's College Inn as guests of Frank Bering, manager, there were indications that the day had been just about perfect—except for one thing. Said the girls, "Gee, it's just like home. Not enough boys to go around any more."

FORMER OPA AID HIKES RENT, WINS EVICTION SUIT

Mrs. Helen M. Weatherly, defendant in an eviction suit filed by the Liberty National bank of Chicago as trustee for George M. Brown, former investigator for the office of price administration, was ordered yesterday to vacate the premises at 5434 Winthrop av. by Judge Frank E. Donoghue in Municipal court.

Brown denied he had purchased the house while an OPA investigator thru "inside" information he had obtained in his job. The bank, as trustee, sought to raise Mrs. Weatherly's rent from $185 a month to $250.

John Weatherly said he and his wife had invested $8,000 in refrigerators, furniture, and stoves for small apartments and rooms in the building, in which 20 families live. Richard G. Finn, attorney for the subtenants, asserted they would be forced to move because Brown could not furnish equipment for the rooms.

JUDGE UPBRAIDS GI, WIFE; SETS ASIDE DIVORCE

Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Superior court yesterday upbraided a soldier and their wife for their "complete disregard for law and moral decency" and set aside a divorce which had been granted to the soldier April 26.

Pvt. Robert Miller

The soldier, Pvt. Robert Miller, 25, of 1709 W. 82d st., was accused by his wife, Wilma, 25, of Toledo, O., of obtaining the divorce fraudulently. She said he represented himself as childless when he was the father of a son; that he falsely charged her with deserting him altho the couple had lived together after the alleged date of desertion, and that he "tricked" her into signing a stipulation to the divorce by getting her drunk.

Mrs. Miller airily admitted intimacies with two men while her husband was in service and asserted she had confessed to him and had been forgiven on her promise to be faithful henceforth.

Judge Sbarbaro, after criticizing the couple, told them that the court's sole interest was in the child, now 7 months old, and that he was setting aside the decree "for his sake."

2. OTHER MINERALS—to help build bone and teeth. Weight for weight, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN gives 4 times as much phosphorus, almost 3 times as much calcium, as whole wheat.

3. VITAMINS—to help guard against deficiencies. ALL-BRAN gives twice as much B_2, 4 times as much niacin, and just as much B_1, as whole wheat!

4. PROTEIN—to help build body tissue. Protein of high quality is provided by KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN.

5. GENTLE REGULATION. ALL-BRAN is famous as a regulating cereal. Millions of people eat it daily. It does not interfere with normal digestion. Satisfactory laxation usually results from eating one ounce of ALL-BRAN daily and drinking plenty of water. You get so many nutritive features because—

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is made from the VITAL OUTER LAYERS of finest wheat

Nature makes a habit of concentrating important protective food elements found in many fruits, vegetables, and grains in their jackets or skins. This is true of wheat. The vital outer layers of wheat (from which KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is made) just naturally contain a concentration of some of the most important protective nutrients found in the whole, ripe grain.

While many foods are short, make sure your family gets ALL-BRAN'S 5 great features. Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

CIVILIAN MEAT QUOTA SET AT SAME FIGURE

Military Allotments to Be Reduced

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP)—The government is redividing the nation's decreased meat supply in an effort to hold the civilians' share near its present levels for the July-September quarter.

To this end, it was announced today, lend-lease and foreign relief shipments will be dropped entirely and military meat allocations will be reduced.

Hopes were held out for a larger civilian supply and a resumption of foreign shipments in the last three months of the year. These hopes are based upon prospects for a hig increase in marketings of meat animals during the fall and early winter.

Civilians Not Sure of Quota

If actually met, the civilian allocation for the next quarter will be equivalent to an annual per capita rate of about 115 pounds. This is the same allocation as in the current quarter, when the goal was not reached.

The WFA said that on the basis of present prospects of increased live stock marketings in the fall, it may be possible to allot lend-lease and foreign relief claimants about 700,000,000 pounds in the last quarter of the year.

Second quarter foreign allocations included about 300,000,000 pounds for Russia and about 25,000,000 pounds for Great Britain.

The WFA said that foreign shipments during the first half of 1945 have amounted to about 800,000,000 pounds. It reported that these shipments are offset by 770,000,000 pounds being supplied American fighting forces by Australia, New Zealand, and Argentina.

How Allotments Shape Up

The WFA estimated the third quarter supply at 5,088,000,000 pounds, carcass weight, compared with 5,545,000,000 this quarter.

Civilians were allotted 3,740,000,000 pounds, compared with the current quarter allocation of 3,786,000,000 pounds. The military and war services were allotted 1,212,600,000 pounds, compared with 1,381,000,000 pounds for the current quarter. The remaining 35,400,000 pounds will go to United States territories and for other small commercial exports to western hemisphere countries.

Meanwhile controls over farm prices were the subject of a statement issued by the Republican food study committee in the house. It asked President Truman to give the secretary of agriculture farm price authority now exercised by the office of price administration and the office of economic stabilization. The committee declared centralized control was necessary in order to solve present shortages.

Hits OES' Bottleneck

Committee Chairman Jenkins [R., O.] declared in a statement that "one of the principal bottlenecks in the food administration is the office of economic stabilization." Disputes which arose many months ago between WFA and OPA are still pending in the OES, he said.

The special house committee investigating the food situation today heard President Cliff D. Carpenter of the Institute of American Poultry Industries urge that OPA be instructed to enforce poultry price ceilings or "remove them entirely and permit legitimate industry to remain in business."

"I don't know a thing about rationing. Just keep on bringing groceries while my wife's away and I won't bother you with points!"

OPA ORDERS CUT IN FOOD QUOTAS OF RESTAURANTS

A sharp reduction in rationed foodstuffs allowed to most restaurants and hotels in July and August was ordered yesterday by the office of price administration in Washington, D. C. Price Administrator Bowles said the move was made to put public eating places on the same basis as homes.

The slash applies to meats, fats, sugar, and canned fruit and vegetables, the OPA said. Hotels and restaurants affected will get about 20 per cent less meats and fats, 12 to 15 per cent less canned fruits and vegetables, and 20 to 25 per cent less sugar than during May and June.

1942 Quotas to Be Halved

The OPA chief said that in general the full effect of the reduction will be felt by larger hotels and restaurants which have been receiving the allowable maximum of food. The new allotment is only 50 per cent of the food these establishments used in December, 1942.

Chicago caterers, weighing the effect of the restrictions, said meat and cheese virtually will disappear from menus and fowl will be available only occasionally. Persons who eat out once or twice a week to stretch their ration points will find restaurant cuisines as scanty as those at home, one manager said.

Stevens hotel officials reported that their restricted menus would be forced to undergo further revision to eliminate more meat items. The sugar shortage, they said, means sugar bowls will be absent from the tables more often than on them.

William O'Connor, manager of Ricketts restaurant, 2727 N. Clark st., said his establishment has been averaging four meat dishes a meal, instead of the 11 or 12 of pre-rationing days. Even this small number, O'Connor said, will be lessened.

More Fish and Egg Dishes

Meat and cheese in Hotel Sherman's restaurants probably will near the vanishing point, Frank Bering, hotel managing director, prophesied sorrowfully. Customers there can look forward to more fish, vegetable, and egg dinners, he said.

Restaurants already on a meatless schedule one or two days a week probably will not increase the number of such days, their managers said. Others reported their cafes would have to start meatless days, and a few said they wuold be forced to halt serving butter and cheese to save points for meat.

Restaurants affiliated with the Elgin Restaurant association will begin observing meatless Thursday today to ease rationing problems.

Infant Is Smothered in Aunt's Featherbed

Donald Hagen, 8 months old, of 1516 W. 70th st., was found dead yesterday between the wall and a featherbed in the home of his grandaunt, Mrs. Caroline Greenwood, at 11036 Edbrooke av. He apparently had suffocated. His mother, Mary, 26, had left him with her aunt while she helped her husband, John, 28, in his restaurant.

BRITISH TANKS BUILT BRIDGES FROM INSIDE

LONDON, June 6 (AP)—Tanks that built their own bridges—some 30 feet long—without any crew member having to expose himself to enemy fire were used successfully by the British in the invasion of Normandy a year ago today, the war office has disclosed.

Specially constructed bridges carried atop the tanks were laid speedily in the height of action. When an armored column was held up at a stream, one of the bridge layers would pop out of line and provide a crossing in a matter of seconds. The bridges unfolded and shot out automatically. The mechanism was operated from inside the tank.

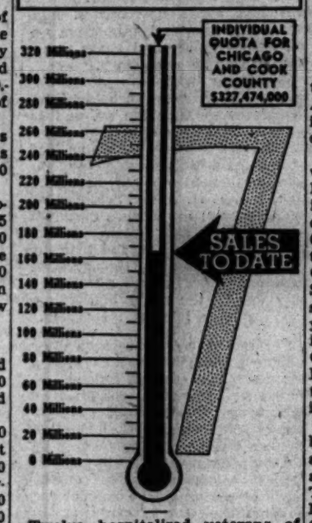
KELLY SEEKS TRUMAN'S HELP ON AIR LINE PLAN

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP)—Mayor Kelly of Chicago sought President Truman's support today for a Pan American Airways application to establish a commercial air line from Chicago to London and Paris via Montreal and Detroit.

He went to the White House with Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.]. Kelly told reporters the President said he will "be in a receptive mood" when the matter reaches him. The application is before the civil aeronautics board.

Kelly said Pan American plans to use planes which would carry 120 persons and fly to Europe in 10 hours. The fare would be $100, one way.

War Bond Total



Twelve hospitalized veterans of the invasion of Normandy urged individual purchases of war bonds in the mighty 7th drive yesterday. They appeared at Treasury center, State and Madison sts., on a program marking the first anniversary of D day.

The soldiers, from Vaughan and Gardiner General hospitals, reminded listeners that the purchase of bonds must not be allowed to fall off.

"A terrific amount of equipment was destroyed on D day," one of the soldiers said. "Everybody has to get in and pitch now to replace it so that the men in the Pacific can finish the job."

Sales of bonds to individuals reached $165,579,000, or 50.6 of the quota assigned to Chicago and Cook county. In Illinois sales reached $253,300,000, or 51.7 per cent of the quota.

MILITARY, CIVIL AIR CHIEFS JOIN WRITERS' FORUM

Leaders in military and civil aviation will join in a forum when the Aviation Writers association opens its annual three day conference today in the Drake hotel.

Among the army and navy officers who will address the conference are Lt. Gen. Harold George, commanding general of the air transport command; Brig. Gen. William D. Old, commanding general of the troop carrier command; Rear Adm. O. B. Hardison and Capt. Harry Sears of the Glenview Naval Air station; Air Marshal Douglas Colyer, highest ranking R. A. F. officer in the United States, and Group Capt. Geoffrey Cheshire of the R. A. F., holder of more decorations than any other member of the British armies.

Technical papers will be presented by representatives of several of the air lines, airplane manufacturers, and industries related to aviation. These speakers include C. Bedell Munro, president of Pennsylvania Central Airlines; Harold L. Crary, vice president of United Air Lines; William Enyart, president of the National Aeronautic association; Col. Roscoe Turner, president of the National Aviation Trades association; Ben Regan, chairman of the Illinois aeronautics commission; Gene Wilson of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, and Brig. Gen Thomas B. Wilson, chairman of the board of Transcontinental and Western Air.

KEEP U. S. NAVY WORLD'S BIGGEST, FORRESTAL PLEA

Annapolis, Md., June 6 (AP)—Navy Secretary Forrestal declared today that "Availability of armed force to prevent aggression is fundamental in any plan for peace" and urged naval academy graduates to help—by informing the public — in keeping our navy the greatest in the world.

Speaking to a graduating class of 1,040 midshipmen at the academy, Forrestal said "We must constantly remind ourselves that there is no hope of peace unless the nations desiring a world built upon law, not upon force, are willing to fight for that choice."

Forrestal's address preceded presentation of diplomas to the midshipmen.

CONNORS READS WHISKY LABEL— AND WINS POINT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., June 6—Sen. Connors [D., Chicago] today read to the senate these words from the label on a bottle of whisky: "Colored and flavored with wood chips—80 proof—this whisky stored less than one month in reused cooperage."

Sen. Connors

The bottle, Connors said, came from a distillery in the home district of Sen. Lohmann [D., Pekin], who has been fighting Connors' bill which provides that anything containing less than 50 per cent straight whisky aged at least four years in charred oak containers could not be labeled whisky.

The senate rejected nullifying amendments by Lohmann and advanced Connors' bill to the passage stage.

They gotta have me, Son . . . I'm goin' back!

I thought I'd already put in all my licks as a merchant seaman, but I find they need me now, more than ever . . . this Tokyo business is tough!

And I've found out something else! There are a lot of jobs in this war that a lot of people can handle. But there are only a few of us who can handle this one. Yep, Little Skipper, just 225,000 guys like your daddy, now working on land, who have the sea savvy!

And it takes a lot of sea savvy to run a merchant ship. Can't operate with green hands . . . and your Uncle Sam hasn't got the time to train 'em. He's got to have experienced seamen . . . 43,000 more of us are needed this year to get supplies out where the fightin's goin' on.

When you meet some other old salts, those guys who have been mates, engineers, or "ABs", tell 'em to join your daddy. Say to 'em, "Come on! Let's finish the job!" Tell 'em to report to their nearest War Shipping Administration office, maritime union, or U. S. Employment Service office, or to wire collect to Merchant Marine, Washington, D. C.

As Usual, Love Finds a Way in This War Movie

"CHINA SKY"

By Mae Tinée

Dat old debbil—sex—doesn't take time out, even when the war is on, and if you think a few bombs are any deterrent, you're crazy. Jealousy does damage equal to any number of bombs in "China Sky."

The occidental love affair is between two doctors—Thompson [Randolph Scott] and Durand [Ruth Warrick]—the latter a very pretty woman, who goes thru bombings, surgical operations, and life in a small besieged town in China wearing beautifully tailored white uniforms, with never a hair out of place. She is in love with her fellow saw-bones, only she doesn't realize it until he goes to the United States in search of supplies and returns with an extra bit of baggage—a wife.

The oriental triangle is made up of a Chinese nurse, a doctor who is accepted as a Korean but really has a bit of Japanese in him, and a poetic but tough leader of a band of Chinese guerrillas.

As you can see, in both situations the door is wide open for the old green eyed monster, and was he ever backward? However, with the aid of a small Chinese character called Little Goat, and a couple of nicely placed bullets which hit just the right people—things are finally ironed out.

None of the acting is anything special, and the whole film is extremely verbose, with most of the verbosity in English spoken backward—maybe the Chinese do talk like that, but do the Americans have to imitate them?

The whole business is obvious and not very convincing.

Variation on Old Plot

"SWING OUT SISTER"

Produced by Universal, directed by Edward Lilley, and featuring Rod Cameron, Frances Rafferty, Arthur Treacher, and Billie Burke. Also at the Palace.

The sight of Arthur Treacher as a jitterbug is the one rather unusual factor in "Swing Out Sister." Otherwise it is just variation No. 2,000 of that old plot about the genteel girl from the east, this time from Connecticut, who leaves that center of culture and, upon contact with the rough outer world, learns about night clubs, burlesque houses, and what have you. Usually she loves 'em but must keep it a deep, dark secret from her refined family.

In this case there are two such refugees from gentility—a girl supposedly studying for a debut as a concert singer, but really warbling in a night spot, and the boy who conducts symphonies, but really loves his boogie-woogie.

This picture is extremely light and, with the help of Billie Burke and the aforementioned Mr. Treacher, funny in an anemic way every once in a while.

Boy's Apron String Trouble Troubles Girl

BY SHEILA DALY

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

on the SOLID side

Altho it usually is a high school gal who has difficulty convincing her parents that she is officially old enough to date, an occasional fellow runs into the same trouble. This last case may not be a social dead-end, for a fellow can always "go out with the boys" but it may interfere with the plans of the gals who would also like to "go out with the boys." Here's a note from a honeychile whose Joe's date life is rationed:

"We are having a girls' athletic association dance soon, a date dress and high heels affair, to which we are supposed to invite boys. There is a fellow in my class at school, just turned 17, whom I'd love to ask, but his parents think he's too young to go out with girls.

"I asked him to a sleigh ride party which our club sponsored this winter and he went, tho I found out later that he had to do some very fancy persuading to get his family's permission. Of course, he seemed to think it was worth it. I would like to ask him to this dance, but I'm not sure whether I should or not. . . ."

Many fathers and mothers keep remembering their son as he was in the rompers-and-rattle stage and cannot realize that he is now interested in more than building blocks and his old teddy bear. If this Joe's family let him go out with you once, they probably will let him go again, even tho he has to use more of that high pressure salesmanship. Let him know clearly that the invitation is for a dance, plan to double or triple date, and his parents may not be so unwilling to see junior strike out on his own if they know the evening is to be a group affair. But do ask the boy to go with you and if he can't—well, there will be another dance next year, and, who knows, perhaps his parents will have grown up by that time!

Booklet Sells Chicago as a Vacation Spot

Whether you want to play golf, make the night spots, see the sights, or just rest, you can do it better in Chicago, a booklet released yesterday by the Chicago Recreation commission suggests.

Entitled "Vacationing in Chicago," the booklet begins by noting that the heavy war demands on the railroads will continue and that both patriotism and good sense suggest a close-to-home vacation in 1945.

Two hundred golf courses, 600 tennis courts, 22 miles of beaches, and extensive facilities for boating and fishing make the Chicago area a paradise for the sportsman, the booklet declares. The 33,000 acres of forest preserve offer limitless opportunities for walking, picnicking, and nature study. Two big league baseball teams and numberless semi-professional, industrial, and sand lot nines call Chicago home.

Several legitimate theaters, hundreds of movie houses, and 5,000 restaurants of all types and nationalities give the Chicago resident or visitor who starts out at dusk for his entertainment an almost infinite variety from which to choose, the commission says.

For the seriously inclined there are architecturally and historically interesting churches, world famous museums, great universities, high grade concerts, and numerous opportunities to see and study industry and commerce at work.

For those who love great city sights there are such majestic thorofares as Michigan av. and La Salle st. and such quaint blends of the old and the new worlds as Maxwell st., Chinatown, and the Russian settlement on the northwest side. State st. and Michigan av. boast some of the world's most glittering stores and hotels. Tribune Tower, which is described in the booklet as "one of the architectural showpieces of the country," is only one of the many buildings of extraordinary interest mentioned.

For rest, the Chicago area offers a huge park system which even in the downtown district, immediately across the street from Michigan av's. busy stores, provides restful beauty spots which beckon the tired shopper and sightseer.

"Vacationing in Chicago" includes seven suggested one-day tours of the city. The booklet may be purchased for 10 cents at the Municipal Reference library on the 10th floor of the city hall. Persons ordering it by mail must remit postage charges.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. M. J. Murray, Buffalo, N. Y.]

THE QUESTION

What are some of the well remembered but seldom used expressions you would be glad to hear again?

WHERE ASKED

City hall.

THE ANSWERS

Kay Kelly, secretary, 209 W. 24th pl.—These seem like a dream: "Pick up a carton of cigarets for me. Will you?" "I'll take the whole box of nylons." Vacation time—"I'd like reservations on a train leaving for California tonight!" Or "The whole gang will be there. We'd like to have you join us."

David Barbour, secretary, 2700 E. 75th pl.—How about these? "Come up to dinner and bring the family. My wife said she bought too much steak this afternoon." "We're driving out to the dunes today. Would you like to go with us or would you prefer to drive your own car and meet us there?"

Grace Casey, clerk, 3250 Washington blvd.—"O, look at all the uniforms! The national guard must be having a parade!" That's the one I'd like to hear most. Remember when it was unusual to see a uniform? Another one I would like to hear is "I'll have the tenderloin steak, medium rare." Or "Bring me another pat of butter."

John M. Dunn, committee room clerk, 5931 Midway park—Don't these statements sound fantastic? "My tires are bad. I think I'll have to get a couple of new ones before I go up to the lake this week-end." "Will you drop by on the way home and pick up a couple of T-bone steaks for dinner tonight?"

Marian Govier, typist, 515 W. 107th st.—The changes have come so gradually that it's difficult for me to remember but I'd particularly like to be able to say: "Give me three rolls of 8 mm. kodachrome. I'm going on a vacation." And I'd like an invitation like this, "Let's take a drive into the country."

School Commencements Hold Interest of Chicago Families

BY JUDITH CASS

COMMENCEMENT exercises are occupying many Chicago families with school age children this week. One of the most gala of commencement festivities will be on the campus of Northwestern university Saturday, when President Emeritus Walter Dill Scott and Mrs. Scott will attend Alumni day to celebrate the 50th anniversary of their graduation.

Both are members of the class of 1895, and Dr. and Mrs. Scott, along with other members of the class, will be guests of the Alumni association during the day. In the evening they will enjoy a 50th anniversary dinner in the Evanston home of Miss Lucy S. Stewart.

Among other classes enjoying reunions Saturday will be that of 1900, which will meet for dinner in the home of Mrs. A. W. Moseley; that of 1905, which will dine in the residence of the Frank Spencers, and that of 1915, which will meet for tea in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Owen L. Coons. The commencement exercises will be held at 11:30 a. m. next Wednesday in Deering meadow if it does not rain, with Methodist Bishop Edwin F. Lee of Malaysia and the Philippines as the speaker.

Dress-Bolero Team Is Now High Fashion

BY REA SEEGER

Play clothing is not the only summer wear to flaunt daringly cut sunback dresses and bathing boleros. You'll see them as day time costumes, too—ensembles in precious silk prints [only a few] and in smart rayon prints.

Many of the rayon prints are equal in unusual color combinations and designs to pre-war silks and shantungs. Dark background prints make the most effective and by far the smartest of these cool summer costumes. Accordingly, these black, navy blue, and copper brown background prints are going strong.

These ensembles are composed of slim sheath dresses and bolero jackets. The dresses are made with very low costume slip tops, straight across in front, and gouged out way down to the belt in back. Narrow shoulder straps or a halter strap effect finish the tops, along with a soft fold-over band or a band stitched on like an appliqué scroll.

The boleros are cut short, with elbow length or even shorter sleeves. Many are collarless; some have a narrow fold-over collar extending down the front like an abbreviated tuxedo collar. Skirts are straight, with some models buttoned down the side; others have plaits, and a few have a slight flare in front achieved with a diagonal cut.

These two-piece outfits, whether of cotton in pastel tints, linen in sophisticated shades, or definitely urban affairs of dark prints, unquestionably are the coolest and most comfortable fashion yet devised to combat sultry temperatures.

The simple backless dress may be worn in days of extreme heat with brief gloves, a sunshade hat, and sandals for a day in the country or the suburbs. Slide into the bolero, and you can go to town in serenity, high fashion, and comfort, either with the same costume accessories or with more sophisticated extras, such as a horsehair braid hat, a floral toque, and doeskin gloves of contrasting color.

Chicago Girl Among More Than Score of Brides at Annapolis

Annapolis, Md., June 6 (AP)—This small city became the marriage center of the United States day, following naval academy graduation ceremonies, and it will retain much of cupid's attention for several days.

Availing themselves of the war time privilege to marry immediately after receiving their commissions, more than a score of the 1,040 midshipmen graduated from the academy today flocked to the altars in the academy's chapel and town churches.

Those married included Miss Marian F. Biser, Chicago, to Ensign Samuel Fisk, Severna Park, Md., and Miss Betty Jane Hovey, Alton, Ill., to Ensign Howard E. Cochran, also of Alton.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Life Expectancy

White Collar Girl, if you have passed
The golden age of twenty-nine,
Search for wealth beyond youth's power;
Make skill the key of your design.
Learn how to win the race with work,
And how to hand the boss a line.
Yes . . . how to hand the boss a line!
Your future course depends on two;
The Boss is one; the other's You.

In the Time of Roses

Mention of girls who receive an orchid on an anniversary reminded me that long ago I intended to tell your white collar girls of the plan that has prevailed here for about a year.

On the morning of any annual anniversary with our company, the employe finds on her desk a rose representing each year of employment. [This applies also to the men.] The other day one employe received 16 roses. It is interesting to watch how every one looks for the desk with roses and never fails to comment when finding them. They have become a deeply appreciated symbol. G. E. HOLMQUIST

Which Is Which?

I'd be interested in having Bud Wyser's definition of "stenographer" and "secretary." According to Webster:

A secretary is a confidential clerk, one who attends to correspondence, records, etc., of private or confidential character. In an organization, one having oversight of or responsibility for the correspondence, records, etc., of the organization.

A stenographer is one employed to do stenography [the art of writing in shorthand, esp. from dictation, and transcription of notes in typewriting.]

My understanding is that a stenographer's entire duties are the taking of shorthand notes and transcription in typewriting, but—a secretary has the responsibility of handling correspondence and records, receiving of callers and telephone calls for the boss in his absence, keeping of his calendar, and many other duties. What about it?

A STENO, OR A SECRETARY?

Contest Ended

In all this "opposite" contest did no one think to include "opposites attract"?

Procrastination

"If we only could discipline ourselves to do things when they should be done we would save much time. . . . No more time in actual hours and minutes is required to perform a given task at one time than another. . . . And yet we continually postpone action for no good reason. . . . Indecision may be responsible for some of this. But here again our decision is apt to be as good at one time as another. . . . I think it was Teddy Roosevelt who said that a good executive is one who makes prompt decisions which occasionally include a good one."—W. L. HUDSON in "The Value of Minutes."

Women Place Washer at Top of Buying List

BY THOMAS FURLONG

Age adds value to certain household possessions in the eyes of women, but the desire for antiques dissolves quickly when labor saving appliances are concerned, the results of studies by The Chicago Tribune business survey department show.

As part of a comprehensive survey of durable goods demand the department sought information on the priority that families attach to individual articles to be purchased after the war. The answer was clear. The two articles which Chicago area families will buy first when normal civilian production is resumed are washing machines and vacuum cleaners.

Altho the aggregate that will be spent for these two appliances is dwarfed by intended expenditures for housing, remodeling, and automobiles, the mood of the housewife is unmistakable. She wants to lighten the load of her daily chores that have grown more onerous with the shortage of domestic help and the increasing age of household appliances.

The survey results are based on answers received to 2½ million questions in 10,029 interviews with families living in Chicagoland population centers of 2,500 and more.

Nearly 18 per cent of the families interviewed mentioned washing machines as the first or second durable article they would buy after the war. About 16 per cent picked the vacuum cleaner as the first or second choice. Next in the order listed were automobiles, mechanical refrigerators, gas stoves, radios, living room furniture, new homes, sewing machines, and radio-phonograph sets.

The 2,232,363 urban families in the area surveyed will spend in the first year after the war more than 75 million dollars for new washing machines and cleaners, projections of the data gathered indicated.

The age of appliances now in use was a primary factor in the priority given the two articles which the largest number of families will purchase first, it was shown.

Nearly 90 per cent of the washing machines now in use are more than four years old; about two-thirds of them are more than 7 years old. A third of the families that own machines have been using the present units 11 years or more.

Of the 444,240 new washing machines expected to be purchased in the first year after the war in the area survey, a little more than half will be to replace old machines, the remainder by families that do not own machines now.

The age statistics on vacuum cleaners in use are similar to those on washing machines. Two-thirds of the cleaners in use are more than 7 years old and a third more than 11 years. A slightly higher percentage expected to be purchased after the war will be bought as replacements than is the case in washing machines.

Other interesting information developed by the survey related to brand preferences. The percentage of families having definite brand preferences and the percentage owning appliances corresponded closely in the case of both washing machines and cleaners.

[Other results of the survey will be presented in a later article.]

Some Rarely Heard Songs Invade Kimball Hall; Williams Wins Playwrights' Award

Some rarely heard and very lovely songs invaded Kimball hall last night, and perhaps it is a graceless thing to say that they promised more than they delivered. For while Marjorie Morgan was presenting the last of four recitals devoted to the history of song, in recital a song's present is all that counts, and that lies almost solely in the voice of the singer. Mrs. Morgan has the taste, the industry, and the courage to revive songs that never should grow dusty on the shelf, but she lacks the voice to give them the only life that can matter in music.

Yet because of her it was possible to hear songs written for string accompaniment, played last night by Rudolph Reiners and Victor Charbulak, violins; Charles Foldart, viola, and Alois Trnka, cello, with William Whitaker at the piano. All but Mr. Whitaker are members of the Chicago Symphony and it was a pleasure to hear their playing despite the necessary discretion that held them in balance with the soloist. I should like to hear less inhibited performance of the three Coleridge-Taylor songs from Christina Rossetti's cycle of Six Sorrow Songs, and of Chausson's Chanson Perpetuelle, which needed only a radiant soprano to rival the similarly instrumented Concerto for solo violin.

Mrs. Morgan also sang songs of Handel and Quilter with violin and cello, and, with piano alone, songs of Griffes, Faure, Strauss, Prokofieff, and others. The ones I heard were drawing room presentations for friends, too frail for the demands of professional performance.

Another Prize

Considering its fragility, "The Glass Menagerie" has certainly set up reverberations. Tennessee Williams, its author, just won the $1,500 Sidney Howard memorial award of the Playwrights company, which is designed "not so much to bestow a prize upon the best play of the season as to give support to new writing talent in the theater." Meanwhile, from the office of that same "Menagerie," comes a note from Eddie Dowling: "I have a new play I like by William Ford Manley, 'Along This River.' I will definitely do it in Chicago." When? Well, the "Menagerie" is selling New York mail order tickets thru November.

Cincinnati Opera

Cincinnati opens its 24th season of summer opera at the Zoo Sunday evening, June 24, and will stage 18 productions in six weeks. Novelties for the summer include "Otello," "Don Pasquale," "Romeo and Juliet," "Tannhäuser," and "Mignon"—in opera, anything is a novelty you didn't do the season before. Fausto Cleva is the managing director, and he will be assisted in conducting by George Schick and Anthony Stivanello.

Warning

Telegram from Sam Zolotow, demon theatrical reporter of the New York Times, who would rather cook up a feud than scoop the town. He warns: "In today's Variety Theater guild accuses you of picking on it. My, O, My!" Reply to Mr. Zolotow: "In today's Tribune story Theater guild accused of picking on Chicago. Suggest guild remember 'Oklahoma!' It was first rate, nobody picked on it, and it made $1,000,000."

The actual bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 heart	1 spade
2 hearts	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of spades.

The possession of a fifth trump seems to have a strange psychological influence on the bidding tactics of so many bridge players. That fifth trump frequently gives them a distorted view of their actual holdings, and induces them to make bids which, had they one trump less, would never even remotely occur to them. Unles sthere are some very short suits in the dummy, the fifth trump is, in many cases, just surplusage.

In today's hand North dealt and passed and South opened with one heart in third position. West's overcall of one spade was normal and North felt that he must do something drastic to compensate for his previous pass. He therefore jumped to three hearts [a totally unjustified bid]. A free bid of two hearts would have adequately described his hand. Had that fifth heart been a diamond he would not have dreamed of jumping the bid, and yet his hand would have been almost as good. North, lacking even a singleton, has a hand that is not rich in playing strength. By actual count his holding comes to four playing tricks, worth one good substantial raise.

South's decision to bid three no trump with a passing partner is open to some question but is not subject to any severe criticism. It is at this point that North made his second error on the hand. He should have been delighted that partner was trying for a nine trick game rather than 10; particularly since he held an additional spade stopper and since he himself held a balanced hand. It must be recalled that the 5-3-3-2 is one of the three types of no trump hands, the other being 4-3-3-3 and 4-4-3-2.

It will be observed that even with the guess of the trump situation declarer was obliged to lose two clubs, two diamonds, and a spade.

There are two good reasons for investing in an eye cream. The first is that it's good stuff, extra rich, and just what the thin skin around that area needs if you want to keep it from wrinkling and crinkling. The second is that if you buy an eye cream you'll use it as such; you'll be eye conscious, as it were, and you'll remember not only to pat in your special cream each night but to massage the area lightly—which you never think to do when you use your usual face cream in your usual way. There's something about the sight of that label, "eye cream," on your dressing table that will remind you of a nightly ritual the woman over 30 should never forget!

During the summer [or squinting] season you'll like an eye cream we've been playing with lately. It's a fluffy kind of cream, which means that to apply it the skin needn't be subjected to the slightest bit of pulling. It's a delicate pink, too, with a nice fragrance, but what's really important is the fact that it's loaded with rich lubricating oils.

This, used at night as a skin softener in an area where the skin is unusually thin, is to be patted gently not only on the upper lid, but on the under one and at the outer corners. Leave it on all night so that the skin can soak it up; its oils help, more than anything else, to counteract the dryness that is the forerunner of tense little lines that will develop into honest to goodness wrinkles if you don't watch out.

You can use this during the day, too, in minute quantities. Put it on in the thinnest possible film over the upper lid as the last touch to your make-up before you go outdoors. It will give sheen, which is always flattering, and it will also help to keep the skin lightly lubricated while you're in the wind and sun.

REALIZATION

Winnie got to the point. "I simply want to know if you heard or saw Dirk come home the night Mrs. Paradine was killed. He said he got in at 2 o'clock and some one from this house saw him out of the window."

"O, did he?" the girl said. "I can't see that it's any of your business, Miss Whatever-your-name-is."

"But if you did see him, and will speak up, you can clear him and he'll be out of it for good."

The girl burst out, "How dare Dirk send you to argue with me! He might have known it wouldn't do any good. He knows exactly how I feel. I've told him over and over. I suppose next you're going to remind me of the five thousand he gave me to let him off. That won't do him any good either. I've got it all in the safe deposit box. What would the police say if they knew of it? Would they think he'd bribed me to say I saw him that night?"

"Then just keep out of it. I can see now you're only a kid. Dirk's 37. He's been my property off and on since I was 15. We can't get married while his mother's alive. But I'm not giving him up for any one, if it comes to a wedding. Five thousand or no five thousand. I took the money. But it didn't change my feelings."

Winnie said gently, "I'm sorry. I mean I really am."

The girl smiled wryly. "Maybe you are. You sound like a decent kid. But just tell him . . ."

"But he doesn't know I came here. I don't want him to know. It was all my own idea. I thought . . . if he could only be cleared . . . I . . ." Winnie couldn't explain everything to this hard stranger. "Did you see him . . . that night?"

The girl shrugged. "That's my business. But if he is ever accused I'll take the stand and swear to anything to clear him. Sure, I can see him coming home at any time he wants me to. But I won't do it except as a last resort. See. I've got him where I want him. And boy, am I going to make it pay!"

Suddenly Winnie felt she had had a great deal more than enough. She saw now what Miss Warburton had meant.

Winnie stood up. "I'm glad I came," she said. "I understand a lot of things now that I didn't. As far as I'm concerned, Dirk is yours."

Winnie took her leave. Kim looked into her face as she slid into the car. Just a little social call, hmm? Something new has been added, he told himself, and I like it.

Not one word was spoken on the way home. But there was a feeling of companionship between them so strong it was better than speech.

"Don't mention it," Kim said. He drove into his stall in the long row of garages. In a minute he came out whistling shrilly. Winnie turned. There was an envelope in his hand. Sealed. Marked Winnie Urgent! in Miss Warburton's handwriting.

Winnie tore it open. She gasped: "Kim, quick. Back out your car."

They were two miles along the wide highway when Kim opened his mouth.

"Where are we going, Win?"

He didn't ask why. She seemed to be in trouble. He went on for a few more miles and turned into a handsome little roadside park. He parked, took off his glasses and rubbed his eyes. But he put them on again when Winnie handed him the note she'd received. It was short.

"F. W. L. is here. Boiling."

"F. W. L.?" he repeated.

"That's Father. He said he was coming to take me home. I don't want to go home. It's important."

"Well. Don't then. You're of age, as I've heard you mention a few thousand times."

"Look. You don't know my father, do you."

"No. But I know my uncle. A reasonable facsimile, I'll bet. You'll have to stand up to him, Win. Good practice. Wait till you have to tell him about Dirk."

She looked him in the eye and he saw things had happened to the Winnie he used to know.

"I won't have to. I'm all thru with Dirk. Forever and ever. And you see, darling Olivia has fired me. I can't impose on her. I won't have any excuse to face Father with. And I can't go back to being flattened out again."

"Umm, hmm," said Kim pensively. "The solid gold steamroller. I know what you mean."

"Yes," she sighed. She took off her hat. She looked very young, very lovely and much too close. "You always understand!"

Here is where we go home, Kim told himself. He reached for the ignition key but Winnie got there first. She put it in her bag.

"Come on," he said curtly. "Act your age. I'm not going to wrassle you for it. We're going back."

"No."

"You can so. You're a coward."

"Okay. Quit stalling." He held out his hand. She put hers into it. "All right. If you will have it. I'm not going to oblige you, angel face. I'm not interested in women, particularly when they change their minds too often."

"But I didn't. The minute I saw you I knew I'd made a horrible mistake in saying yes to Dirk."

"Yes . . . and who will you meet next? Another guy. Another error. And I'll have to shove over."

"Look, Kim, just tell me one little thing. Maybe I was wrong. I . . . I sort of thought . . . you . . . uh . . . liked me, too . . . a little?" little?"

He looked down at the smooth outline of her cheek, the curve of her enchanting lips, the general sweet-pea daintiness and the shining gray honesty of her eyes.

"Yes. You were wrong."

"O." She let go of his lapels.

Good Mother Does the Best Job Possible

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

(Copyright, 1945, By News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

"How did you find your daughter and her family?" asked a friend of a woman who had just returned from a visit.

"Well, they were all well, and the children had grown so much I hardly recognized them," replied the woman.

"The one thing that troubled me," she continued, "was my daughter's tendency to worry. She strives too much for perfection as a mother. She is always afraid that she has fallen down. When things go wrong or the children aren't right up to the mark, she thinks it's her fault. Too much self-analysis is foolish, I think, since the children are healthy, happy, and well behaved."

Among young mothers we have three kinds: those who don't seem to have any trouble at all in rearing their children, but who have a natural knack which stands them in good stead; those who read or hear of this or that theory or method and, because they are either indifferent or extremely set in their ways, don't make an attempt to try any of them; and the mothers who are eager and conscientious to a fault.

A mother of the latter type takes everything to herself. When she reads of the mother who sacrifices the spiritual to the physical she suspects herself of that fault and worries about it. When she reads of the mother who is too indulgent, she thinks, "Perhaps I'm that," and she tightens up on the discipline in the family. When she hears of the evils of suppressing children she sees herself as an overbearing despot, and so on.

In the intensity of her desire to do her best by the children, and partly because she feels inexperienced, she is in a state of constant turmoil, thinking herself guilty of every fault a mother can have. Now, this is natural enough. Here's a big job, motherhood, with the world thinking about it, experimenting with it, and writing about it, as it never has before. The sensitive, imaginative woman is doing a good deal of self-searching these days in the face of her growing responsibilities; it is right that she should. It is natural that she should doubt herself at times, and have misgivings. We all do. It tends to make us grow.

But this conscientious mother has got to get on some kind of a working basis. She must have some knowledge of herself, neither too rosy a view nor too sour a one.

As you read, study, and hear discussions, be quite honest with yourself. Think things thru and make as fair a decision as possible concerning the management of your children, and if you are always as kind, just, loving, and understanding as possible you won't go far wrong.

Breakfast bowls will be clean as a whistle after the family's had a go at Shreddies! They look cute... just spoon-size! They taste super... natural whole wheat (couldn't be better!). And boy! do they stay crisp in milk... delicious to the last crunch! A nourishing Shreddies breakfast is a grand way to start the day!

Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

Easy Party Dish from Cold Cuts

There's no reason for not inviting guests in for dinner just because you can't serve them a thick juicy steak. This meat roll shown below is as delicious as it is attractive. And, since it is made of cold cuts, it is easy on the red points.

Party Meat Roll... it's easy to make

1. Dice finely { ¾ lb. Wilson's Certified Cold Cuts (2½ cups) 3 tbsp. onion.
2. Brown in ¼ cup Wilson's Bake-Rite or Certified Bacon drippings.
3. Sprinkle ½ cup flour over meat.
4. Add 2½ cups milk and bring to a boil, stirring constantly.
5. Add 3 tsp. Wilson's B-V dissolved in a small amount of the hot mixture. Cool.
6. Make baking powder biscuit dough (using 2 cups flour).
7. Roll dough into a thin rectangle (9 in. wide x ¼ in. thick).
8. Spread cooled meat mixture evenly over dough.
9. Roll like a jelly roll.
10. Place on baking sheet and, with kitchen shears held on a slant, cut inch-wide slices to within ½ inch of the bottom of the roll.
11. Turn each slice outward so cut side is down, alternating slices first to the right and then to the left.
12. Bake in a hot oven, 425° F., for 25 min. Serve hot with B-V gravy. Serves 6.

Clip Recipe Here

Take Your Choice

Among the many high quality Certified Cold Cuts which give good results in the recipe above are Certified Luncheon Roll, New England Brand Sausage, Bologna, and Certified Baked Loaf.

Company Dinner

Start the meal with a zesty tomato juice cocktail and a B-V cottage cheese appetizer. To make, mix 1 tsp. Wilson's B-V and 2 tsp. grated onion or chopped chives with 1 pint creamed cottage cheese. Spread liberally on crackers. It's luscious.

Select quality Certified Margarine for the peas and hot rolls. Serving margarine on hot foods is a true test of quality. Try it. You'll find Certified Margarine a real treat.

Sincerely, George Rector

[The scheduled game last night between the Cubs and Cards in St. Louis was postponed because of cold weather. Story on next page.]

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

The White Sox weren't exactly vicious yesterday, but at least they produced enough bite to keep themselves from being pushed around for the second straight time by the title holding Browns. James Dykes' boys conducted themselves in such gentlemanly fashion as batters that they picked up only six hits, but the safe taps either were bunched or mixed with other helpful items, thus making it easy for Orval Grove to prescribe a 4 to 0 shutout for the league champions in Comiskey park.

Sig Jakucki, who was present during the Sox scoring maneuvers, probably consoled himself with the thought that his luck or lack of it was more damaging than the six hits he yielded. One hit was sufficient to produce a run because it followed a pass and steal featuring Wally Moses in the third. And in the sixth when Jakucki tried to get out of a jam by the intentional pass route so much happened to him so swiftly that a batch of three runs accumulated, two errors and a pair of doubles figuring prominently.

Sox Threw Up Strong Defense

Grove wasn't exactly a master worker while weaving his fifth success of the season, but improved as he went along. The Browns had him pinned with six hits by the end of the fifth inning, the attack netting nothing because the Sox fielded in a high class manner. After the fifth, Grove gave up only two hits, one a single by the one-armed Pete Gray, who was introduced as a pinch batter in the eighth. He was quickly forced by Don Gutteridge.

Moses' only appearance of the afternoon on the bases came with one out in the third, when he walked. He loitered around first base long enough to see Kerby Farrell pop up and then decided to get to second on his own power. He made it by sliding in under a throw from Catcher Frank Mancuso. Then Johnny Dickshot, who was to figure even more prominently a bit later, singled to score Moses. Gutteridge knocked down Dickshot's hit and, when he threw wild, Dickshot took second, but Guy Curtright couldn't drive him across.

Schalk's Double Scores Two

One was out in the sixth when Dickshot put Jakucki on the spot. Waukegan Johnny doubled to right and Curtright was intentionally passed. This strategy worked properly in the case of Tony Cuccinello, who grounded out, but Roy Schalk doubled to right, Mike Kreevich attempting but failing in a shoestring catch. Dickshot and Curtright scored on the hit. Kreevich, after locating the ball, heaved it wildly, so Schalk drifted over to third and scored from there on a single by Cass Michaels. Then Mike Tresh survived on an error, but Jakucki subdued Grove.

The only man to reach third against Grove was Vern Stephens, who was responsible for two of the champions' hits. He made his long tour in the fourth when he singled with two out, and George McQuinn did the same. This episode closed when Schalk threw out Gene Moore.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD

THE recently announced Arlington Park-Washington Park stake program is a farsighted document. . . . Executive Director Benjamin Lindheimer believes that the soundest way to build the sport of horse racing is to offer the best possible show to the public and the best possible purses to the horsemen. . . . The schedule for the combined meeting at Washington Park, June 25 thru Sept. 6, is second to none. . . . From the close of the Santa Anita meeting on July 7 California offers nothing to compare with it. . . . The Arlington-Washington program of $655,000 in stakes during 64 days averages up better than Santa Anita's $405,000 in 40 days. . . . Fortunately these two fine meetings will conflict only from June 25 to July 7, and some of the high ranking western stables are expected to ship here. . . . Let's see how the Arlington-Washington program compares with the New York circuit. . . . Aqueduct, Empire City, and Saratoga, which will run successively thru the summer, haven't announced their 1945 schedules. . . . But we can get some idea of the quality of this year's Arlington-Washington program by comparing it with New York's of last season. . . . From late June thru early July of 1944, for instance, Aqueduct presented the $50,000 Dwyer stakes, the $50,000 Brooklyn handicap, and a $10,000 event, after which Empire City followed with the $50,000 Empire City stakes. . . . During the corresponding time this summer Arlington Park will offer the $50,000 Classic stakes, the $50,000 Stars and Stripes handicap, the $30,000 Arlington Futurity, the $25,000 Equipoise mile, the $20,000 Lassie stakes, seven other stakes at $15,000, and two at $10,000.

Benjamin Lindheimer

Between July 30 and Sept. 2 last year Saratoga presented the $50,000 Saratoga handicap, the $25,000 Saratoga Cup, the $20,000 Hopeful, five others at $15,000, five at $10,000, and seven at $7,500. . . . Aqueduct followed with $10,000 stakes on Labor day and Wednesday, Sept. 6. . . . In that period this season Arlington Park and Washington Park will offer the $50,000 Arlington handicap, the $50,000 American Derby, the $50,000 Washington Park handicap, the $30,000 Washington Park Futurity, the $30,000 Beverly handicap, the $25,000 Dick Welles handicap, four other stakes at $20,000, two at $15,000, and one at $10,000. . . . We cite these figures to show you that Arlington Park and Washington Park are giving Chicago the best racing program in the country. . . . It will be increasingly important in the post-war era for other Chicago tracks to boost their inducements to owners if this area is to continue as a class A racing center. . . . The rise of summer racing in California and the greater competition from New York, Maryland, and New England tracks will take the better stables unless proprietors are offered a full summer of attractive purses. . . . This department has no fear that Chicago tracks will go broke because of a decline in gambling interest, but that isn't our main consideration. . . . We want to see racing conducted as a sport, an activity that rates more space that the entries and results printed in agate on an inside page. . . . Chicago once was a class A boxing center. . . . It lost its position of prominence because promoters allowed the better stables to drift elsewhere, notably New York. . . . Horse racing magnates can profit from that example.

The War Comes to Towser

My dog doesn't know there's a war on,
But is most acutely aware,
Thru the shrinkage of once relished portions,
That the larder of dogdom is bare.
And when I explain a dog's duty
He whimpers—it just is no use!
Tho the smartest of pups, still he chooses
In this to be blankly obtuse.
He lacks all the stuff of a hero
Who freely gives all to the cause,
And with his most soulful entreaty
He pokes at my knee with his paws.
He pretends not to know there's a war on,
But with the most painstaking care
Lets me know he's a much misused martyr

CLOSE FRIENDS ATTEND SERVICE FOR JIM MULLEN

Services for James C. [Jim] Mullen, veteran Chicago boxing promoter, were held yesterday morning in St. Angela church, 5758 W. Potomac av. Burial was in Mount Carmel cemetery. Only a few of Mullen's intimate friends attended because no public announcement was made of the funeral plans at the request of Jim's son Ross.

Mullen died in West Suburban hospital on Tuesday morning. He had been in the hospital for two months following a heart attack last December.

PAVOT IS 2D TO POLYNESIAN IN WITHERS MILE

First Setback for Jeffords Colt

New York, June 6 (AP)—Pavot, Walter M. Jeffords' undefeated juvenile champion of last year, opened his 3 year old campaign today and was shunted to second place in the photo finish of the 70th running of the Withers mile at Belmont Park.

Coming from well back, Pavot seemed headed for victory thru the stretch, but the brown son of Case Ace faltered in the final strides and lost to Mrs. P. A. B. Widener's Polynesian, a $29.80 for $2 selection with the 31,834 spectators.

Winner Earns $19,200

Pavot was a 1 to 5 choice. J. B. Theall's King Dorsett was third, two lengths behind the leaders.

Polynesian, running on a track that had dried but still was somewhat dead, went the mile in 1:39 4-5 to earn $19,200. Pavot, unbeaten in eight starts last year, added $5,000 to the bank roll of $178,040 he built up in 1944.

Preakness Is Next

Georgie Woolf, who came here from Kentucky to ride Pavot and will return to Louisville at once to pilot C. S. Howard's Sea Swallow in the Derby Saturday, had the colt away seventh in the field of eight. The juvenile champion worked his way to third at the head of the stretch as he and Polynesian took out after the pace setting King Dorsett.

Jefford said that Pavot, not entered in the Derby, would be shipped to Baltimore on Monday for the Preakness, scheduled for June 16.

Colt Breaks Sprint Mark at Hawthorne

Chicago race goers rooted home a 2 year old at Hawthorne yesterday which well may become a star of first magnitude in months to come. He was Spy Song, a brown son of Balladier and Mata Hari, which carried the colors of Charles T. Fisher's Dixiana stable in his first competitive event.

A romping victor in the third race by a margin of a dozen lengths and with Jockey Harry Hart looking back at the field, Spy Song turned the four and one-half furlongs in :53 3-5 over a fast track. The old track record, first set by St. Pat in 1893 and later equalled by Kurtsmann in 1904, was :55.

Bettors Know He's Good

It should be pointed out, however, that comparatively few races have been run at this distance at Hawthorne in recent years. Spy Song's mark is well over the American record of :52, set by Hoyle at Aqueduct April 16, 1908.

Altho yesterday's stellar effort was Spy Song's first over a race track, he was well supported by the crowd of 13,468 and paid only $5.

The day's featured event, a six furlong affair styled the Plaza and run as the sixth race, went to the favorite, Conference from the stable of Mrs. Monte Weil. Billy Nichols, the track's top rider, was up and he delivered his first of two winners for the day after causing the colt's backers a few uneasy moments.

Betting Handle Is $831,811

Away none too well, Conference was running sixth during the early stages of the race. Once the field was around the stretch turn, however, he unleashed a burst of speed and at the finish had a length and a half margin over E. Waltz's Whyso and J. R. Apostle's Day. In the mutuels, Conference paid $5.60.

The daily double was made up of Fergie's Ariel, Mrs. Clyde Troutt's 5 year old mare, and Chapel Bells, which was carrying the Dixiana stable colors and was ridden by Hart. The double paid $53.80. Total wagering for the day was $831,811.

Shift Robinson-M'Daniels Fight to Yankee Stadium

HE'S READY TO ROLL IN TURF CLASSIC

Hoop Jr. running wide open down Churchill Downs back stretch yesterday in sensational workout which made him solid favorite for Saturday's 71st Kentucky Derby. Colt, owned by W. F. Hooper, ran mile and an eighth, one furlong short of Derby distance, in 1:51⅗. Jockey Charley Stevenson put him thru workout, but Eddie Arcaro will be up Saturday. [TRIBUNE Photos]

JOE DI MAGGIO DIVORCED, LOSES CUSTODY OF SON

Los Angeles, Cal., June 6 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Arnold Di Maggio today obtained her final decree of divorce from Joe Di Maggio, former New York Yankee outfielder and army air force sergeant.

She was granted an interlocutory decree over a year ago, claiming that Di Maggio had been "cruelly indifferent" to her and had associated with his men friends in preference to her.

She was granted custody of their 3 year old son and $14,400 plus $150 monthly for his support. They were married in San Francisco in 1939.

Fox Head Girls Rally to Defeat Pittsburgh, 5 to 3

A four run rally paced by Dorothy Schultz's two run homer in the eighth inning last night gave the Fox Head 400 Girls softball team a 5 to 3 victory over the Pittsburgh Cecil Township team in Shewbridge field. The teams meet again tonight.

Missouri Puts Faith in 4-Man Track Team

BY WILFRID SMITH

The four athletes the University of Missouri has entered in the 24th National Collegiate track meet Saturday night in Milwaukee scarcely can win the championship, but the Tigers may finish surprisingly high in the scoring. Missouri's strength centers around Bill Bangert and Ed Quirk, weight men; Bob Heinsohn, high jumper, and Bob Crowson, sprinter.

Bangert, who was second last year in the N. C. A. A. shot put, has improved so much over his mark of 46 feet 10 inches that he seldom falls below 50 feet. He is the National A. A. U. indoor champion and he won the Drake relays shot put title with a toss of 51 feet 5⅝ inches. He has a mark in excess of 53 feet and his only competition Saturday will come from Quirk, who won the shot put at the Pennsylvania relays on the same afternoon Bangert won his championship at Des Moines, Ia.

Favorite in Discus, Too

Bangert and Quirk should score 18 points for Missouri in the shot put. The N. C. A. A. scoring gives 10 points for a championship, eight points for second, and the remaining four places are scored six, four, two, and one points.

Bangert also is the favorite to win the discus throw Saturday. He is defending N. C. A. A. champion with a mark of 149 feet 5 inches and in a meet with Kansas he ex-

What Heinsohn does in the high jump is problematical, but he does have a chance to score in the lower brackets. Ken Wiesner of Marquette, Dick Kilpatrick of Purdue, and Fred Sheffield of Utah are the outstanding competitors.

Crowson, fourth of the Tiger entrants, apparently has an excellent chance to score heavily in the sprints.

Van Velzer Undefeated

Four sprinters in the field of more than 25 eligible for the National Collegiates have marks of 9 3-10 seconds for 100 yards. Quite likely the best season record belongs to John Van Velzer of the United States Naval academy, who has not been defeated. He holds the L. C. 4-A 100 and 220 yard sprint titles and his time for the latter was :21.3.

Because of the interest in high school competition in the state of Wisconsin, three special prep events will be held Saturday night. They are the 220 yard dash, half mile run, and half mile relay. N. C. A. A. championships in the discus throw and javelin throw will be held Saturday afternoon.

FERRISS WINS 8TH IN ROW; RED SOX BEAT A'S TWICE

Boston, Mass., June 6 (AP)—After Dave [Boo] Ferriss wobbled along to his eighth successive pitching victory, by a 5 to 2 margin, the Boston Red Sox swept a double header from the Philadelphia Athletics with a 3 to 2 second game victory.

The double triumph, the 12th scored in their last 17 Fenway park starts, put the Red Sox only a point behind the fourth place Chicago White Sox.

Ferriss gave up a total of 14 hits, three passes, and hit a batter but the Athletics obliged by leaving 14 runners on base.

Boston blasted Luther Knerr for three runs in the first inning and a fourth tally in the second. The Red Sox made only seven hits against Knerr and Steve Gerkin, who took over in the seventh inning, but that pair issued seven bases on balls and each struck batsmen.

Notre Dame's baseball team shut out Great Lakes, 1 to 0, at the Naval Training Center yesterday afternoon, as Jack Barrett limited the Sailors to five hits.

It was the third loss of the season for Great Lakes.

Barrett showed excellent control in shutting out the Sailors, and only once did a Bluejacket reach third base.

Notre Dame scored the only run of the game on an error, a sacrifice, and a hit, in the fifth inning, when Kelley reached first on Tommy Upton's error, went to second on Martin's bunt, and scored when McGurk lined down the left field line.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Louisville, Ky., June 6—All doubt as to which of the 16 probable starters would go postward the favorite in the 71st running of the Kentucky Derby Saturday was dispelled today by Fred W. Hooper's Wood Memorial co-winner, Hoop Jr.

The well bred bay son of Sir Gallahad III—One Hour worked out on the Churchill Downs racing strip this morning under approximate Derby weight, and handily stepped a mile and an eighth in 1:51 3-5, a sensational performance in view of the fact the track record of 1:49 4-5 for the distance has held up for nearly 24 years.

Arcaro to Ride Him

From New York came word that John Gaver, trainer for the Greentree stable, had given Eddie Arcaro, the stable's contract jockey, permission to come to Louisville Saturday to ride Hoop Jr. in the Derby.

The unsatisfactory running of the Blue Grass stakes, the big prep race for Derby nominees last Saturday, had left nine of the 10 western thorobreds, including the triumphant Darby Dieppe, almost where they had been held in the public's estimation before the mile and a quarter event. It was the general opinion of owners, trainers, spectators, and even the sagacious master of Churchill Downs, Matt J. Winn, that the race proved nothing.

It was a scrambled affair with interference and bad racing luck affecting nearly all of the runners. Darby Dieppe got the breaks and won. As Winn declared today, "I truly believe that any one of nine horses could win if the race were run over."

Jeep Also Has Following

Until Hoop Jr. made his sensational showing this morning, Winn was of the opinion that Col. C. V. Whitney's Jeep, winner of the other division of the Wood, more than likely would find favor with most of the 90,000 visitors he expects to entertain with his $75,000 added seventh race Saturday. Now he's not so sure.

Other experts feel kindly toward Christiana stable's Alexis on the basis of a brilliant mile and a quarter workout in 2:05 3-5 at Jamaica before being shipped here and his showing against Hoop Jr. in the Wood. Hoop Jr. beat him by two and one-half lengths, but the Hellopolis-Misleading colt was closing fast. Alexis went to the post the favorite that afternoon after having scored victories in his only two starts of the season, one at three-quarters of a mile and the other at a mile and a sixteenth.

Other Workouts Are Slower

Six other Derby candidates took the track this morning for workouts, but none made anywhere near the showing of Hoop Jr. The Lookout farm's Foreign Agent went a mile in 1:42 2-5 breezing. Col. E. R. Bradley's Burning Dream moved a mile and an eighth in 1:56 and the Kenilworth farm's Bert G. and Kenilworth Lad, two Canadian nominees, went the same distance in 1:59 4-5. Lt. Comdr. T. D. Buhl's Air Sailor, which finished third in the Blue Grass, tried the Derby distance of a mile and a quarter and turned in a 2:07 2-5 effort. J. K. Houssels' Bymeabond breezed the same distance in 2:11.

Alexis arrived in Louisville last night while Jeep and Andrew Wright's Jacobe, an unexpected addition to the Derby field, got in late today. Jacobe ran sixth in Jeep's division of the Wood. His only victory in 11 starts last year and this was in a mile event on a sloppy Belmont track last fall.

Cool St. Louis Clime Halts Cubs, Cards

BY EDWARD BURNS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

St. Louis, Mo., June 6—Let 1945 go down in history as the year in which the Cubs were frozen out of two [maybe three], June games in tropical St. Louis. Tonight's scheduled match between the Cubs and the world champion Cardinals, like last night's scheduled meeting, was called off at 3:30 o'clock after club officials had watched the mercury bob around in the 50s up to that time.

Yesterday the management gave up an hour or so sooner but there was no great optimism at any time today, the actual postponement was not announced until the clock struck half past 3.

Both yesterday's and today's postponements were legitimate call-offs from the viewpoint of the comfort of those who might have shown up at the ball park, tho the Cards, cold or hot, always are highly turnstile conscious. While quite willing to jockey for twilight-night double headers, even while they claim a jump from 88,533 to 110,000 paying fans in the first 15 playing days this season as compared to their first 15 working days last season, the Cards' nabobs certainly can't be blamed for putting back games under the weather conditions prevailing here yesterday and today.

When the games are played off there may be considerably more pennant interest than there would have been this trip.

In the game scheduled for tomorrow night Paul Erickson will pitch for the Cubs and it probably will be Jack Creel for the Cards.

TUG WILSON TO SPEAK TONIGHT TO U. OF C. MEN

Senators and Leonard Beat Yankees, 4 to 0

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP)—Pitcher Dutch Leonard was in rare form tonight both at bat and on the mound, shutting out the New York Yankees while he and his Washington mates got to Bill Zuber for 4 to 0 triumph. Leonard yielded four hits, all singles, and issued two walks. He did not permit a Yankee to reach second base.

Zuber held the Senators scoreless for five innings. Then in the sixth Leonard singled for his second hit. Joe Kuhel's short double scored him. Washington drove Zuber from the box in the seventh.

CEMETERY BILL CONDEMNED AS U.S. ARMY PLOT

Critic Cites Survey as War Dept. Miracle

Alex Park, executive secretary of the Monument Builders of America, Inc., 840 N. Michigan av., yesterday assailed as "a scheme hatched by army brass hats seeking to regiment veterans even unto death" a senate bill proposing the creation of 92 additional national cemeteries at an estimated cost of $109,437,639.

Park, whose organization represents most of the retail monument builders of the country, said the pending legislation introduced by Sen. Hill [D., Ala.] would destroy free enterprise and intrude upon the religious beliefs of numerous veterans whose faiths prescribe that they be buried in sanctified ground set apart by their churches.

Army Sponsors Denounced

Park said the Hill bill, which has been reported favorably by the senate committee on military affairs, represents an ambitious device "concocted by an inner circle of high ranking army officers" eager to perpetuate themselves after the war in lucrative posts as supervisors of the nation-wide cemetery network.

Park added that the war department in disclaiming sponsorship of the legislation, "gave itself away," by having ready the day after the bill was reported by the senate committee a complete and detailed survey disclosing even the cost of grading the thousands of acres of proposed property acquisitions.

"If this did not indicate that some one high within the army first had suggested such a bill, then the war department accomplishment represents a miracle," Park declared.

Three Proposed for Illinois

The Chicago site would cover 640 acres that the war department estimated might be acquired for $320,000, or $500 an acre. To this amount it added $736,000 for grading, landscaping and drainage; $500,000 for a water system, housing and utilities; $688,000 for roads and walks, $375,000 for an amphitheater and chapel and an architect's fee of $160,450, or 5 per cent of the cost. Total expenditures for Illinois would be $6,250,000.

Union composing room employes of the R. R. Donnelley & Son company, 350 E. Cermak rd., yesterday joined the strike of union pressmen in the plant. Nonunion composing room employes continued to work, however.

The company said the composing room continues to operate, and that some pressmen who stayed away from the work Monday had returned to work. It said that one section of the press room is operating almost normally, and that all other departments are operating normally.

The union pressmen struck Sunday night after reaching an impasse on the issue of an open shop.

DELAY INQUEST IN NORTH SIDE KNIFE SLAYING

An inquest into the knife slaying of Mrs. Josephine Alice Ross, 43, in her apartment at 4108 Kenmore av., was continued to June 27 yesterday as police pushed their search for a tall, dark haired man wearing a light colored sweater, who was seen leaving the building shortly before the body was discovered.

It was disclosed at the inquest that in one of Mrs. Ross' hands police found clutched several short black hairs, which may aid in identifying the slayer.

Mrs. Eileen Huffman, 34, of 650 Waveland av., told police that a man answering the description of the one seen leaving the Kenmore av. building had threatened her with a gun earlier in the day while she was in the basement. The intruder tied her hands with clothes line and attempted to rape her, but fled when she screamed, Mrs. Huffman said. Her home is five blocks from the scene of the slaying.

Two acquaintances of the slain woman, Chester Rice of Hammond, Ind., and Oscar Nordmark, 3905 Fremont st., who had been detained for questioning, were released last night.

SPURNS LIQUOR 'PARTNER'; GETS A COMPETITOR

Say Wholesale Firm Tried to Chisel In

BY JAMES DOHERTY

How at least one wholesale liquor house applied pincerlike pressure against a retailer who refused to take in the wholesale house's agent as a partner was disclosed yesterday by Charles J. Fleck, chairman of the Illinois liquor control commission.

The commission is investigating the secret control by wholesale liquor dealers of numerous retail outlets and also studying tie-in sales methods. Most of the information being gathered will be turned over to Francis J. McGreal, assistant United States attorney, who is conducting an independent inquiry into black market liquor operations.

Involves Loop Liquor Store

The pressure case involved a loop retail liquor store which has been in business 12 years. The owner recently received an offer from an agent of a wholesale house who promised him all the liquor he could sell if he would accept the agent as an equal partner.

The owner refused and a few days later a competing store was opened within 100 feet of his place. The new store handled whisky distributed by the wholesale house represented by the agent in question. The new store promptly received 50 cases of Scotch whisky which the established store owner could not obtain at any price. It also did such a thriving business that two new stores were opened in the area, giving the original owner three competitors.

Stores Increase Rapidly

The increase in retail liquor stores has been rapid, Fleck and McGreal reported. In the last two years 450 new package houses have been opened in Chicago. In 1942 only 13 operated in the loop. Today there are 65. It is charged that most of the new ones have "back door connections" with wholesale houses.

Fleck said that the commission's future course depends upon interpretations of state statutes, but he is said to be convinced that the laws prohibit the operation of dummy retail outlets by big liquor dealers. "Something will be done," Fleck promised.

Report Corner on Liquor

Investigators said that some wholesaler groups apparently have cornered liquor in the area. Some of these groups have imposed the tie-in sales, which force a tavern owner to buy a stated quantity of liquor which he doesn't want in order to get the liquor he desires. In many cases the forced sale is of wines.

During yesterday's investigation it was revealed that a federal indictment was voted last week against four men on charges of black market operations involving 1,600 cases of bonded whisky.

RAIL SUPPLIERS GET START ON CIVILIAN TASKS

Magnesium Lights, Pullman Job Clear

BY PHILIP HAMPSON

Two noteworthy developments in the Chicago area civilian goods production yesterday involved equipment for the railroads.

In one Jeremiah D. Kennelly, president, disclosed that the Mars Signal Light company had been authorized to manufacture its railroad flashing signal lights of magnesium. In the other John Nuveen Jr., regional director of the war production board, announced that WPB headquarters in Washington had released the first Chicago district reconversion preparation approval to the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company.

Use of magnesium to make the Mars "figure 8" flashing safety lights was said to be the first time in reconversion operations that the metal had been employed in Chicago for a relatively heavy industrial purpose.

Success Thru Coöperation

S. E. Bowen, plant manager of the Howard Foundry company's magnesium plant, described the Mars use of magnesium as a significant change made successful thru the cooperative effort of the magnesium producer, the manufacturer of the lights, and his customers.

"The use of magnesium in the future will be determined by this type of coöperation," Bowen said.

Kennelly said Mars was induced to try magnesium at the suggestion of L. L. White, operating vice president of the North Western railway. The road last January adopted a new type of light for installation at the rear of a train which flashes a figure 8 when the train is stopped. The first lights made weighed 74 pounds, which White considered too heavy for easy handling by train crews who had to move them from one car to another.

Weight Cut Two-Thirds

By using magnesium the weight was cut from 74 to 25 pounds. It then was decided also to make of aluminum the large combination lights at the front of the locomotive which flash white figure 8s in normal operation and red figure 8s in an emergency. Their weight then was reduced from about 190 to 80 pounds.

Introduced and adopted by the North Western only last July, the new types of emergency lights have been hailed as an outstanding contribution to safe railroad operation. The Mars company has on order 750 large combination front lights and 160 rear lights. Burlington and Alton railroad orders were among the most recent for the rear lights.

Authorizes Plant Alterations

The Pullman-Standard approval authorizes the expenditure of $187,793 on alterations and facilities at its south side plant for relocation of its old steel cabinet department preparatory to the resumption of production for railroads. The money is to be spent for spray booths and conveyors, and to replace a condemned building now housing the cabinet department.

The order said the war man power commission had certified that labor was available for the construction work.

LYTTON QUARTER PROFITS 44 PCT. ABOVE YEAR AGO

Net earnings of The Hub, Henry C. Lytton & Co., in the quarter ended March 31 were $81,694, or 27 cents a share, compared with $56,857, or 19 cents a share, a year ago, an increase of about 44 per cent, W. W. Cole, executive vice president, said yesterday.

Sales, including subsidiaries and leased departments, were $3,949,845, compared with $3,362,963.

Stocks Slump; Rail, Aircraft Gains Erased

New York, June 6 (AP)—Stocks declined today, leaders losing fractions to almost 2 points when demand subsided and selected aircrafts, rails, and specialties sank back after early advances. The recently climbing motors were the principal strong section at the close. A rally in the last 10 minutes sent Hudson up 3 points, and Studebaker and Willys-Overland also made gains.

Buyers sought out aviation and carrier equipment issues up to the final hour on the belief that postwar foreign and domestic sales would be brisk to replace war-worn transport systems. But late selling erased most of the gains.

One note of caution arose from the several important international questions remaining unanswered at the San Francisco conference. Another bearish factor was the proposal to change long term capital gains tax provisions.

Of 978 issues tradeu, 280 rose, 492 declined, and 206 were unchanged. The Associated Press 60 stock composite fell 0.3 to 65.9. Transfers aggregated 1,520,000 shares.

BOND PRICES IRREGULAR

New York, June 6 (AP)—The bond market was unsettled today with many cases of obligations of the same company moving in opposite directions. On the average, the rails, foreigns, and low yield issues were lower, industrials a little higher, and utilities stationary.

CHICAGO LIST DECLINES

ARMY CUTS BACK JETTISON TANK, ENGINE OUTPUT

Detroit, Mich., June 6 (AP)—A cutback totaling approximately $16,500,000 in the Ford Motor company's production of aircraft engines and jettison gasoline tanks was announced today by the army air forces.

The company said of the 17,500 employes making engines at the River Rouge plant not more than 500 would be laid off within the next four weeks. Most of the 1,411 employes working on the jettison gasoline tanks would be transferred to other work, it said.

Reduce Rifle Production

Springfield, Mass., June 6 (AP)—Curtailment of M-1 Garand rifle production at Springfield armory to 5,000 a month by July 1, involving a layoff of approximately 4,000 workers, was announced today by Brig. Gen. Norman F. Ramsey. Employes number 8,500. Gen. Ramsey said the plant would get a go-ahead soon on the T-20, an improved fast-firing Garand.

ALDRICH PROPOSES IMMEDIATE WORLD TRADE CONFERENCE

TORONTO, Ont., June 6 (AP)—No time should be lost in calling a world trade conference which would discuss and make recommendations on problems affecting international commerce, Winthrop W. Aldrich, president of the International Chamber of Commerce, said tonight at a meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' association.

Aldrich outlined a four point program which he said was necessary for expanded world trade: 1. Reduction of trade barriers. 2. Elimination of international cartels and international commodity agreements. 3. Constructive lending policies on the part of creditor nations. 4. Stabilization of foreign exchanges.

"Never in our generation will the world have a better opportunity to rid itself of trade barriers than in the period which we are entering of reconversion from war to peace," Aldrich said.

PREDICTS WIDE DEMAND, FIRM REALTY PRICES

Harold A. Moore, vice president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, last night predicted a broad demand and firm prices in real estate the remainder of 1945 unless affected by adverse governmental action. He spoke before the Chicago Real Estate board.

The present market is exceptionally strong, he said, despite uncertainty over governmental fiscal and other policies affecting values and the recurring statements by some government agencies that real estate prices are getting too high.

"Such events would have seriously rocked a weak market," he said, "and while there has been some flattening out in the price curve in the last 30 days, there are few signs that either the volume of transactions or the general price trend has turned downward."

Court Rejects U. S. Seizure of Oil Plant

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP)—President Truman today ordered government seizure of two oil plants experiencing labor disputes and was promptly challenged by court action in one of them.

The plants were those of the Humble Oil and Refining company at Ingleside, Tex., and the Pure Oil company at Dawes, W. Va. The President instructed Secretary of the Interior Ickes to take over the plants to insure their continued operation for war purposes.

Humble company officials, asserting they did not understand the seizure because there had been no stoppage of production, obtained from Federal District Judge T. M. Kennerly in Galveston, Tex., a temporary injunction against the Presidential order. A hearing was set for Monday in Houston.

Posts Seizure Notices

S. E. Hill of the petroleum administration for war already had served company officials with notice of the Presidential action and posted notices that the plant was under government supervision. He remained in charge tonight, pending service of the court order.

The seizure of both plants was recommended by Economic Stabilizer Davis, who said both disputes stemmed from refusal of the companies to carry out war labor board directives. He said a strike has been on at the Cabin Creek field, Dawes, W. Va., since May 14, and a strike vote taken at the Humble plant.

The Humble company has carried to the United States Supreme court its dispute with the union on the issue of maintenance of membership. The federal District court at Dallas granted Humble an injunction against enforcement of a WLB directive upholding the union's demand, but a Circuit Court of Appeals decision later set it aside. The Supreme court has not yet acted on the request for a review.

Higgins Strike Deadlocked

New Orleans, La., June 6 (AP)—Both union officials and management today said negotiations had bogged down in attempts to end a walkout of 5,000 AFL members at Higgins Industries, Inc. They awaited the next move by the war labor board.

Production of invasion craft has been crippled since Monday at three of the Higgins plants, when the men refused to go to work because of a WLB order upholding cancelation of their contract by Higgins, effective June 29.

No meetings have been scheduled since the AFL in mass meeting late yesterday defied a WLB directive to return to work.

PAN AMERICAN VOTES 25 CENTS ON NEW STOCK

Directors of Pan American Airways corporation yesterday authorized an initial dividend of 25 cents a share on the new $2.50 par value capital stock created in a recent 2 for 1 split. Dividends of $1 a share were paid in December of the last four years on the old stock.

The current dividend was ordered to permit payment before the company offers stockholders the right to purchase at market prices one share of new capital stock for each two held on or before June 30. Each share of new stock will carry a warrant entitling the purchaser to buy one additional share at $18 after June 30.

WORLD MONEY BILL WINS TEST VOTE IN HOUSE

Expect Adoption by Large Majority

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP)—The Bretton Woods agreements, described by two Presidents as a keystone in the economic foundation for world peace, won a 120 to 18 test vote in the house today, presaging overwhelming passage tomorrow.

The agreements propose to establish, with 44 or more nations cooperating, a 9 billion 100 million dollar world bank for reconstruction and development loans and an 8 billion 800 million fund for international currency stabilization.

Move to Strike Out Fund

The test came on a motion by Rep. Sumner [R., Ill.] to strike from the Bretton Woods ratification measure all reference to the establishment of the monetary fund, which she said "is a swindle and a fraud" that would "finance currency depreciation and debt repudiation."

Chairman Spence [D., Ky.] of the banking committee told the house, "If you strike out the fund you strike out the very basis of this legislation. If you strike out the fund it would be necessary to hold another world conference. This amendment would scuttle the whole thing."

Rep. Wolcott [R., Mich.], senior Republican on the banking committee, asked the house to vote down Miss Sumner's amendment. This was done, and the house arranged to vote tomorrow on final disposition of the bill. The United States is first of the 44 nations to act on the ratification legislation.

Praised by F.D.R., Truman

In a message to congress on Feb. 12, the late President Roosevelt said Bretton Woods is "the cornerstone for international economic coöperation." In a letter read to the house yesterday President Truman said the monetary plan is paramount "in establishment of a sound economic foundation for lasting peace."

A small Republican bloc, led by Miss Sumner and Representatives Smith of Ohio and Buffett of Nebraska, battled the legislation thru two days of debate leading up to the test vote.

Smith said the proposal is for "the biggest swindle ever attempted in the field of money and finance—a scheme to share the wealth with other countries, especially England."

Senate Votes OPA Extension, Delays Action on Price Policy

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 6—The senate tentatively agreed today to continue the office of price administration for another year, but postponed action on amendments to require the OPA to fix prices on a unit cost basis rather than holding them at 1942 levels on goods made in the reconversion period.

In the face of increasing sentiment to force revision of OPA pricing formulas, party leaders today sent telegrams and cables to absent Democratic senators, many on special missions to Europe, to hurry back to vote on the OPA legislation.

Debate on the resolution of Sen. Wagner [D., N. Y.] to extend the price control act and OPA without change, opened this afternoon. Wagner led off with the charge that the pricing amendments would be impossible to administer and would result in "spiraling inflation."

OPA Held Forcing Losses

Sen. Taft [R., O.], sponsor of one of the amendments and co-author of a blistering committee minority report, retorted that the OPA policy of holding reconversion prices at 1942 levels was equivalent to telling some manufacturers they would have to produce goods at a loss or go out of business.

After three hours of debate, the senate passed the banking committee amendment to provide a one year extension from June 30, instead of the 18 months originally proposed. The vote was forced by Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky.] to delay consideration of controversial proposals after Taft announced he was going to call up his amendment.

Wagner said congress in passing the original price control law in 1942 and in extending it had been determined to "hold the line" against inflation. He deplored the "seductive appeals" for relaxation of price controls.

Would Provide 1941 Margins

Taft's amendment would direct OPA to allow a margin over cost equal to that of 1941 on all commodities. A similar proposal, but applying largely to live stock and farm products, was made by Sen. Thomas [D., Okla.].

"I believe price control is necessary," said Taft, "but we must encourage the production of civilian goods and the expansion of business." He termed OPA policies arbitrary and unjust and its price squeeze theory a fetish that can continue only at the cost of business and employment.

Thomas said his amendment was required because OPA had "disregarded, ignored, and failed to observe" the intent of congress and had been upheld by the Supreme court.

Sen. Moore [R., Okla.] branded OPA a "burocratic tyrant" which should be abolished.

SCHRAM ASSAILS TAX EXEMPTION ACCORDED FOREIGN SPECULATION

Philadelphia, Pa., June 6 [Special]—Emil Schram, president of the New York Stock exchange, today attacked foreign operators for taking advantage of the exemptions accorded them by the capital gains tax. He spoke at a luncheon of the Philadelphia Bond club.

Schram said it was common knowledge that nonresidents are operating in American markets on a large scale, and he saw no reason why they should not be subject to the heavy taxes applying to residents on realization of short term profits.

He criticized other changes in the law proposed in various quarters, such as a longer holding period and a higher rate.

"Any more drastic interference with the transfer of capital assets would check the flow of venture capital, put a brake on the operation of job creating processes, and result eventually in a frozen economy," he warned. "Instead of restraining prices, the proposed changes would cause further advances by increasing the number of unwilling sellers of securities."

SEARS, ROEBUCK SALES DIP UNDER YEAR AGO IN MAY

Sears, Roebuck & Co. yesterday reported May sales of $77,459,811, or 5.3 per cent below a year ago when the total was $81,810,333. Sales for the four months ended with May were $316,005,247, or 6.8 per cent higher than the $296,007,928 total in the corresponding period last year.

May sales of Walgreen company were $9,315,349, a decline of 2.8 per cent from the $9,579,795 a year ago. Sales for the first five months this year were $46,203,173, compared with $47,637,732 in the corresponding period of 1944, down 3 per cent.

Retail sales of Jewel Tea company in the four weeks ended May 19 were $4,617,908, compared with $4,380,205 for parallel weeks in 1944, an increase of 5.4 per cent. For the first 20 weeks sales totaled $22,860,092, compared with $20,773,039 a year ago, up 10 per cent.

WAR CONSUMER GOODS SURPLUS TERMED MINOR

Gillette Concerned on Heavy Items

Surplus war goods will not cause much concern to manufacturers of consumer goods, but will be a problem to other producers, especially in the heavy machinery industry, Guy M. Gillette, retiring chairman of the surplus property board, said yesterday.

Guy M. Gillette

Surpluses which would affect the makers of consumer goods will be absorbed largely by priority purchasers under the surplus property act before the public has an opportunity to buy, he told a Chicago Association of Commerce luncheon in the Hotel Sherman.

Would Dump Excess in Atlantic

Heavy goods have been turned out in such quantities, however, that some of these producers are asking the board to dump the excess in the Atlantic ocean.

Gillette, formerly a United States senator from Iowa, termed the outlook for consumer goods producers more favorable because the act provides that federal agencies, states, local governments, veterans, farmers, and small business men will have a priority or preference in the purchase of goods which affect the consumer goods market. State and local governments which have priorities number 285,000.

Gillette departed from his prepared text to discuss the plight of the heavy machinery producers. He said their representatives told him output of these goods in the last two years had exceeded production of the preceding 25 years and that factories would have to close if the board put such surpluses on the market.

"Unbelievable Waste—Necessary"

He described the task of the board as "enormous and complex," and said the understanding and cooperation of industry was needed to prevent a "disruption of the American economy."

Much of the investment in war goods will not be recaptured because the government paid "exorbitant prices" and procurement was accompanied by "unbelievable

WHEAT FUTURES DIP AGAIN ON HEDGING SALES

Rye, Corn Sag; Barley Up, Oats Mixed

Wheat futures again were lower on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday, presumably the result of pressure by Chicago traders and southwest interests who hedged to provide insurance against a rise or fall in prices. Northwest mills bought the September delivery.

Wheat closed ⅝ to 1¼ cents a bushel lower, corn unchanged to ⅝ lower, oats ⅝ lower to ¼ higher, rye ⅝ to ¾ lower, and barley ⅝ to 1½ higher.

Rail Cars Unavailable

Export interests and Chicago traders sold wheat futures. Increased offerings of cash wheat in southwest markets were reported with 45 cars of new grain received overnight in Enid, Okla. Futures received some support on reports that the southwest is having difficulty getting cars to move grain, some of which was being piled on the ground.

Figures released by the Chicago quartermaster office showed the army in May purchased approximately 3 million barrels of flour, a record for any month. The army this week is buying everything the mills will offer. It is expected that June purchases will equal or exceed the May total.

Corn Penalty "Disappointing"

The 1¼ cents a bushel penalty for traders who defaulted May [1945] corn contracts was disappointing to some who expected a larger penalty, but no heavy selling resulted. Barley set seasonal peaks in the September and December deliveries.

Renewed weakness in Winnipeg rye disturbed the Chicago market and rye closed lower.

CATTLE AND HOG RECEIPTS RISE; SOME PRICES DIP

Cattle and hog receipts in the Chicago stock yards yesterday again were well above the average of recent weeks. Cattlemen unloaded 13,500 head, the biggest Wednesday volume since March 14. The three-day cattle supply of 42,600 was the biggest since mid-March.

Buyers gained the advantage in some clases of cattle and managed to lower prices as much as 25 cents on most steers selling under $17.25 a hundred pounds. Two steers sold at the $18 ceiling. Heifers sold steady to 25 cents lower and beef cows weak to 25 cents lower.

Farmers shipped in 11,000 hogs, including directs to packers. It was the largest Wednesday total in four weeks. Prices were steady.

Chicago Area Milk Prices to Farmers Dip in May

Prices to farmers for milk delivered in the Chicago marketing area during May have been set 3.3 cents lower than in April for classes 1, 2, and 3, and were unchanged for class 4, H. H. Erdmann, acting federal administrator announced yesterday. May prices per 100 pounds: class 1, $3.281 [7.06 cents a quart]; class 2, $2.781; class 3, $2.581, and class 4, $2.492.

McCORD CORPORATION

Please summarize recent developments relating to the McCord corporation, formerly McCord Radiator and Manufacturing company. What is its dividend record?—F. C.

McCord's sales for the fiscal year ended last August amounted to $27,519,000, compared with $6,646,000 in the 1939 calendar year. Sixty per cent of the 1944 production consisted of war work.

Net income in the 1944 fiscal period attained a peak of $608,192, equal to $1.93 a share on the common [formerly class B] stock, giving effect to a recapitalization plan declared effective last January. Before the war McCord's earnings were unstable, with five years during the 1930s showing net losses. Net income in 1943 was $485,255; in 1942, $434,695; in 1939, $63,036. In normal times, automotive radiators accounted for about half of sales, which included other automobile parts and evaporators and radiation surfaces for refrigerators and air conditioners.

Under the recapitalization, which eliminated the class A stock, there will be outstanding 37,947 shares of $2.50 cumulative preferred stock, 12,069 funding shares, and 266,054 common shares. An initial quarterly dividend was paid on the new preferred in March. No dividend is paid on the common, and the last payment on the former class B shares was in 1930.

The funding stock is not entitled to dividends, but carries an annual sinking fund equal to 20 per cent of net earnings and its redemption price advances $1 a share each year. It is convertible into common, share for share. An issue of $1,015,500 debentures matures Feb. 1, 1948.

Power Output Increases 1.3 Pct. Above Year Ago

Chicago area electricity output of the Commonwealth Edison group of companies, excluding sales to other electric utilities, increased 1.3 per cent to 179,851,000 kilowatt hours last week from 177,602,000 a year ago.

CONSUMER ITEM SURPLUSES HELD MINOR PROBLEM

waste—most of it necessary," he added.

Surpluses resulting directly from V-E day will not be shown in the nation's markets for two to three months because the army has not completed checking all inventories to determine "what is surplus to its needs in the Pacific."

"That sizable undertaking will not be completed for a number of weeks," said Gillette. "After the inventory check has been finished and declarations made to the disposal agencies, more time will elapse while the property is being inspected, appraised, and stored. Then a large part of it must be held for 30 days to give priority holders a chance to exercise their rights."

Sales Increase in April

Gillette disclosed that $44,212,000 worth of surplus was disposed of thru regular trade channels in April, an increase of about 5 million dollars over March. As of April 30 inventories totaled a little less than 1½ billion dollars, included 987 million dollars of "war weary" airplanes, many of which it may be most economical to scrap.

"The vast majority of these 23,271 surplus aircraft are in the heavier class," he said. "These are planes that nobody would want to operate or could afford to operate even if given permission to put them into service."

GRAPE GROWER SAYS PRICE WAS LOWER TO A. & P.

Danville, Ill., June 6 (AP)—C. W. Putnam, Hammondsport, N. Y., grape grower and processor, testified today in the government's anti-trust suit against the New York Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company that he had sold grape juice to A. & P. for lower prices than to his other customers.

Defense attorneys, however, said the differences in prices were brought about because Putnam processed grape juice for A. & P. under the A. & P. label, whereas his other customers bought his product under his own label.

On cross-examination, Putnam said he had sold grape juice exclusively to A. & P. since 1941, when the chain was buying 98 per cent of his output. He replied in the affirmative when asked if he thought A. & P. had "dealt fairly" with him.

Corn Allotment for July Whisky Equals January's

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP)—Enough corn will be available to produce approximately 42 million proof gallons of bourbon whisky in July, the WPB indicated today when it announced distillers may use the same amount of corn in their July holiday from making industrial alcohol as was used in January.

EASTERN PAPER FIRM INDICTED IN CEILING CASE

Philadelphia, Pa., June 6 (AP)—The federal government today accused the Continental Paper company, New Jersey, and 10 individuals with delivering paperboard to a black market purchaser at a time when they were refusing to fill war department orders for paperboard needed for manufacture and packaging of ammunition at Picatinny arsenal, Dover, N. J.

The charges were made in one of four indictments returned by a federal grand jury. Thomas J. Clary, assistant United States attorney, said the charges followed a six months' investigation in which OPA officials participated.

Continental Paper and four of its executives, two Philadelphia junk dealers, and the heads of four paper firms were indicted on charges of selling 1,500 tons of paperboard at $13 to $50 a ton more than ceiling prices. The first indictment charged conspiracy to violate the price control act and described the inability of the arsenal to get the needed paperboard.

NEWSPAPER ADS 71 PCT. BY LOCAL FIRMS DURING '44

New York, June 6 (AP)—Of 645 million dollars spent for newspaper advertising in 1944, national advertisers spent 187 million, or 29 per cent, Dr. L. D. H. Weld, director of research of McCann-Erickson, Inc., said today. The other 71 per cent was local advertising.

He said the proportions were nearly reversed in radio advertising, with national advertisers spending 300 million, or 75 per cent, and local 100 million. Weld estimated the expenditures for direct mail advertising at 200 million national and 100 million local.

Outdoor advertising expenditures were 46 million national and 24 million local. The totals for all media were given as 1 billion 407 million, or 62 per cent, national and 863 million, or 38 per cent, local.

SENATE PASSES INTERIOR DEPT. FUNDS MEASURE

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP)—The senate passed today a $140,392,432 interior department appropriations bill, 25 per cent more than the house approved, after adopting a warmly debated amendment on public power sales policy. The house must concur in senate revisions.

The power amendment, which some senators said establishes a national public power policy, appropriates $215,300 for the reclamation bureau to plan transmission lines and a steam power plant for the Central valley project in California. Cost when completed would be 75 million dollars. An alternative would be sale of the power at the dam to a private distributor.
